CONDEMNATION OF COMMISSIONERS

FRATERNAL CONGRESS CENSURES ACTIVITIES AGAINST FRATERNAL ORDERS.

"FINDS NO WARRANT IN LAWS"

Says Procedures if Kept Up Will Destroy Fraternal Insurance.

New York, Nov. 22.—Condemnation of activities of state insurance commissioners in the internal affairs of fraternal insurance orders was expressed in resolutions adopted here today by the executive board of the National Fraternal Congress.

The resolution resulted from reports of the officials of the Independent Order of Foresters of Wisconsin that the insurance commissioner of Wisconsin had demanded a change in plans for a special assessment of $5,000 members, which the order's constitution does not call for. The resolutions assert that such a policy "finds no warrant in the laws of any state and if successfully pursued will be destructive to the fraternal insurance system."

CHARGE OF MUTINY

CARLOS PISON AND CLAUDIUS VERMOS TAKEN TO MOBILE.

Alleged Stokers Rebelled Against Authority During Ship's Passage.

Mobile, Nov. 22.—Carlos Pison and Claudius Vermos, stokers on the Austrian steamer Boehmer, from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, were brought to Mobile in irons on the vessel's arrival last night and are awaiting the coming of the Austrian consul from New Orleans, pending trial for alleged mutiny. It is charged by Captain Caproni, master of the Boehmer, that the stokers rebelled against authority and attempted to incite to mutiny others of the crew who were under armed surveillance during the greater part of the passage from Rio de Janeiro.

Arrests Are Made in Ammunition Theft Cases at Douglas

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 22.—As a result of the recent theft of 2,200 rounds of ammunition from Troop L, Ninth U. S. Cavalry (negro) six arrests were made, and it was said that thirty more were in prospect.

Three soldiers and three Mexicans were arrested charged with grand larceny and conspiracy to smuggle munitions of war from the United States into Mexico. The soldiers, Sergeant Sheppard and Privates George Washington and Wm. Johnson, also were charged with having sold ammunition, an offense carrying a heavy penalty. The Mexicans taken into custody all drive automobiles which ply between Douglas and Agua Prieta, Sonora.

Wanamaker Before Attorney General

Washington, Nov. 22.—John Wanamaker of Philadelphia, one of the best known merchants in the country, appeared today before Attorney General McReynolds at the department of justice to tell what he knows of the alleged failure of his Philadelphia house to pay the full duties on thousands of dollars' worth of goods imported during a period covering many years. Mr. Wanamaker appeared with his attorney, Henry A. Wise, former U. S. district attorney at New York.

A previous case against the Wanamaker firm was settled in the closing days of the last administration by the payment of $100,000 acknowledged by officials who were familiar with its ramifications, possibly to be twice the amount of duty that should have been collected. Since the Wilson administration came into power, Henry Arnold, special assistant to the attorney general, has developed a new line of evidence. Mr. McReynolds decided to grant a hearing before he took any further steps in the matter. The department had no comment to make tonight on the case, but a decision as to whether it shall be pressed will be arrived at soon.

Miners May Close.

Columet, Mich., Nov. 22.—Unless there is a substantial increase soon in the number of men returning to work, several mines in the north end of the district will close for the winter, the managements announced today.

Believe to Have Discovered Code of the Wire Tappers

New York, Nov. 22.—What is believed to have been a secret code employed by wire tappers in their extensive swindling operations, as confessed to by men under arrest here, was solved today at the office of District Attorney Whitman. As a result the prosecutor hopes to place before the grand jury evidence to substantiate the confessions, which set forth that several high police officials have assessed the wire tappers for several years in return for protection. ### HUERTA'S ELECTION ORDERS

Facsimile of Instructions Sent Out by Provisional President Received in New York.

New York, Nov. 22.—The facsimile of printed instructions which purport to be those issued by General Huerta in preparation for the recent presidential election in Mexico has been received here. A translation of the documents is interesting as showing some of the precautions taken by President Huerta to keep himself in power.

The instructions apply particularly to the state of Puebla and read in part as follows:

"1. If any of the municipal presidents are in league with any of the revolutionary parties they must be removed from office secretly so that there may be entire co-operation between the municipal presidents and the jefe politico.

"2. It is especially advisable that the men appointed to supervise the polling shall be trustworthy persons, who shall unhesitatingly obey any orders given to them.

"3. If there is still time orders are to be given that the booths intended to receive the votes of persons living on ranches shall not be installed in the town, but in the country, so that the voters may not be molested by the principal aimed at being to open elections in at least one-third of the polling booths in the country. The booths are to be installed in your districts.

"4. Blank ballots will be used in the polling booths, which shall be established so that the absolute majority of votes cast shall give the following result:

"President, General Victoriano Huerta.
"Vice President, General Aurelio Blum.

In spite of the fact that Article 31 prescribes that the returns be sent directly to the chamber of deputies, the supervisors must be instructed to turn them over to the jefe politico, who will examine them and if he finds that they are in accord with these instructions he will return them to the supervisor with instructions to send them to the chamber of deputies. If the chief jefe finds that more than one-third of the polling booths have been used he will omit the forwarding of sufficient number of returns so that the chamber of deputies shall not receive returns from more than one-third.

"5. Complete liberty must be granted to citizens and political parties in all booths where votes are to be permitted to be cast so that they may formulate protests of any description so long as the protests are against violation of the law by partisans of the candidates in the electoral contest, but in no case must such protest be allowed to interfere with the object set forth in part 4 of these instructions.

"6. If the examination by the jefe politico reveals that the returns do not correspond with these instructions they will make whatever arrangements may be necessary so that the returns shall correspond entirely with the said instructions."

Refugees at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Nov. 22.—A party of French and other foreign residents of Santa Rosalia, Mex., fleeing from an expected capture of the town by constitutionalists, reached this city today, headed by Dr. H. Rebus. They were several women in the party and Dr. Rebus said about 1,500 French women had been taken aboard foreign merchantmen plying in the harbor on the occasion of the last constitutionalist attack, October 25.

Fifty refugees, Dr. Rebus said, succeeded in driving back the attacking party, after a sharp fight in which two men were killed and several wounded. The foreign residents, however, felt that this protection was insufficient, said Dr. Rebus, and all were planning to leave soon.

Four French citizens, he said, were taken prisoner by the insurgents and beaten almost to death. The hatred for the French in Santa Rosalia, he said, was due to a large French mining company operating near the city giving food and water to federal troops during the siege of Guaymas.

draft trials lead to police headquarters itself, according to information given to Mr. Whitman, who expects the indictments next week.

In his investigation that has been in progress since the slaying of Herman Rosenthal, gambler, by gunmen, Mr. Whitman has been puzzled frequently by mysterious messages found to have been exchanged among wire tappers. Heretofore unexplained messages are believed to indicate that the suspected police officials were allied with the wire tappers.

INTEREST NOW IN NAVAL SITUATION

IS REALIZED THAT PROBABLY WILL BE NO DEVELOPMENTS IN DIPLOMACY.

POWERS ARE IN HARMONY

Information That Britain Is to Send Ships Creates No Disappointment.

Washington, Nov. 22.—With the full realization that there probably can be no immediate developments in a diplomatic sense pending a clearing of the tangle in which the Mexican congress has involved itself, interest is now centered in the naval situation on the gulf coast. The approach of two British cruisers was communicated to the state department through the British embassy without eliciting any expressions of disapproval is taken as another evidence that the United States and Great Britain are acting in perfect harmony as to naval forces to protect foreign interests. It is pointed out in naval circles that with German and French warships in the same waters there could be no objection to the presence of British ships.

Unofficial advices from government agents in the sections of Mexico where constitutionalists are operating, suggests a revival of a plan to seek recognition from the United States of a facto government claiming jurisdiction by right of possession of the establishment of a capital and an organized administration in all that part of Mexico north of a line drawn about due west from Tuxpan or Tampico.

So far, however, the local constitutionalist representatives here are unwilling to admit that General Carranza would be satisfied with anything less than a conquest of the whole of Mexico and the elimination of General Huerta.

TROOP TRAINS ARE BLOWN UP

Federals En Route from Chihuahua to Juarez Suffer Great Losses.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 22.—Two federal troop trains en route from Chihuahua to Juarez were blown up at Rancheria, near the border of Chihuahua, this afternoon by dynamite mines placed along the railroad track by the rebels. This was the statement given out tonight by General Francisco Villa, who has returned to Juarez from El Paso, where his troops are awaiting the federal approach. He said there were 1,500 federals on the train destroyed and that the loss of life was enormous. The rebels asserted that they captured one of the trains.

Villa returned to Juarez, fearing that federals had sent a flanking column to Guadalupe, a border town east of Juarez, with the intention of sending the force to Juarez to attack the town. Scouting parties were dispatched from Juarez this afternoon to watch for the approach of the federal troops, which are reported to have gone to Guadalupe.

Declare U. S. Will Recognize Huerta

Mexico City, Nov. 22.—The Mexican morning newspapers under government domination, published on their front pages today front articles recognizing the alleged intention of the United States government to recognize Provisional President Huerta in the near future.

El Independiente had a seven column headline reading:

"Huerta will be recognized by the American government. The special envoy of President Wilson will be able to prove amply that he is reigning in the camp of the rebels of the north."

El Diario similarly displayed an item stating that Secretary of State Bryan already had signed a communication recognizing Huerta. The same newspaper quotes Querido, Mexican foreign minister, as saying he has no "official knowledge" of the fact, but that from private sources he has received very optimistic news and has hopes of an early adjustment of the difficulties between Mexico and the United States.

El Independiente, at great length, says the failure of the conference between Wm. Byrd Hale and Carranza, the constitutionalist leader, was due to the conviction of President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan that the rebel chief could not give assurances for the safety of the lives and property of foreigners. The newspaper continues:

"President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan, after listening attentively to the report of their envoy, decided that Provisional President Huerta was the only man capable of dominating the situation."

The same newspaper assures its readers that an official announcement of the recognition of Provisional President Huerta is expected within a few days.

The foundation for the optimism of the Mexican press appears to be certain cablegrams received here by foreign business men, describing the horror felt by President Wilson at the killing of federal prisoners when the rebels took Juarez. These cables were at first erroneously translated as referring to the killing of American army men there.

El Imparcial displayed the story yesterday and it was copied by the afternoon papers. It caused an unmistakable atmosphere of optimism in the national palaces where the news appears to be fully credited.

Mexico, Nov. 22.—Max Synderhauf, a student at the institute here, died today from wounds received in a student duel.

General Pancho Villa, Rebel Army Leader, and Custom House He Seized in His Capture of Juarez from Huerta Troops

Gen. Pancho Villa's capture of the city of Juarez, Mexico, near El Paso, Texas, and of the custom house there, was the most severe blow Dictator Huerta has sustained since he took over the Mexican government in March. The line is the northern terminus of the

GARMENT WORKERS IN RIOTS

Several Participants in Philadelphia Trouble Are Injured—Attack Police.

Philadelphia, Nov. 22.—There was another outbreak here today among garment workers who have been on strike for several months and before the trouble was over several participants were beaten and eight persons, including police, were injured. The trouble started when a squad of policemen escorted four workers from a factory. Strikers and sympathizers tried to reach the workers and a fight started in which fists were freely used with the police reserve policemen with the free use of their clubs soon brought the situation under control. No one was seriously hurt.

Attend Funeral of A Faithful Negro

Washington, Nov. 22.—Five members of the United States supreme court, including Chief Justice White, crowded into a humble little home in Washington today to attend the funeral of Archie Lewis, the negro messenger who had taken care of their robes ever since they were elevated to the bench. Lewis was serving the court when three of them, Justices Day, Vande-venter and Lamar were born, and before Justice White and Justice Holmes had started to school.

The Weather

I TOLD PERRY HE COULDN'T GET A VERY GOOD FOOT-BALL FOR SIX CENTS. THERE!!

Unsettled weather and colder is the prediction of Dr. I. Block, local volunteer observer, for today. He based the prediction upon meteorological observations taken yesterday showing a bank of high pressure moving in this direction, carrying clear, cold air. Dr. Block said that general conditions indicated the probable arrival today of a mild norther, one of no intensity.

Local Temperatures.
State of thermometer and barometer yesterday, as recorded by Dr. Block: Maximum 80½, minimum 71½, barometer 30.10, humidity 86. Total wind passage for the twenty-four hours ended at 7 p. m. 161 miles, the highest velocity being 14 miles an hour, between 9 and 10 o'clock a. m.

Washington Forecast.
Washington, Nov. 22.—Forecast: Waco and vicinity—Fair Sunday, except showers in northeast portion; somewhat colder; Monday, fair; moderate east to north winds on the coast.

West Texas—Fair Sunday and Monday.

HILL CO. ROADS WIN

JUSTICE PRECINCT NO. 1, INCLUDING HILLSBORO, VOTES FOR $250,000 BONDS.

County Seat Is All Excitement—Country Boxes Go Against, but Majority Is 3 to 1.

Hillsboro, Nov. 22. Justice precinct No. 1, comprising that territory surrounding Hillsboro and stretching in each direction from the city an average of seven miles, today by the conclusive vote of three to one when only a two-thirds majority was necessary, voted to issue $250,000 of bonds for the construction of good roads.

The official figures are: For the bond, 908, against, 325. This result came in spite of the fact that each of the four all country boxes registered a majority against the bond issue, the Hillsboro boxes, comprising Hillsboro city and the territory immediately contiguous, more than making up the deficiency.

Tonight this city is showing more enthusiasm over the result than has been shown after any election in the history of the county. The new automobile fire wagon has been given a fair try out, while the blast of whistles and cheers of the hundreds who thronged the square was probably heard for miles around. The damage to hats alone was considerable, a conservative estimate at this hour placing the loss at $50. The result came as a complete surprise to even the most optimistic advocates of the bond issue.

Several years ago the county as a whole defeated an issue of bonds. This time the fight against it was strong, and five minutes before the close of the polls, because of the uncertainty as to the size of the pro vote in the Hillsboro boxes, those best acquainted with the situation believed the result decidedly in doubt. A total of 1,234 votes out of a possible 1,600 were cast. While the work of local enthusiasts was mainly responsible for the success of the bond issue, the movement for good roads in this county had its inception when Pathfinder Ferguson, after traveling 90,000 miles in his automobile, without ever having gotten into a mud hole from which he was unable to extricate his machine, gave up the attempt near Abbeville, this county, admitting himself beaten by Hill county's black, waxy land.

The vote by boxes was as follows: Hillsboro—1, 44, for, 38 against; 2, 143 for, 57 against; 3, 382 for, 68 against; 4, 239 for, 40 against. Woodbury—20 for, 28 against. Lovelock—17 for, 19 against. Vaughan—25 for, 27 against. Peoria—38 for, 40 against. Totals, 908 for, 325 against.

New Ray Dangerous Says Prof. Berthelot

Paris, Nov. 22.—Prof. Daniel Berthelot, president of the International Society of Electricians, submitted tonight to the Society of Civil Engineers all of his recent researches into the ultra-violet rays from mercury vapor lamps. He characterized them as more dangerous than any other known rays, declaring they caused ophthalmia and ultimately blindness, burned the skin and produced effects similar to sunstroke.

In some of their effects, he said, however, they were benevolent as they killed many types of microbes in a few seconds exposure and made drinking water absolutely sterile. President Berthelot acted as chairman of the meeting.

French Writer Dead.
Paris, Nov. 22.—Edouard Lockroy, one of the best known French statesmen and writers, died today of heart failure, aged 74.

M. Lockroy had been minister of commerce, public instruction and marine. His writings on marine subjects have been widely read. He was a devotee for many years.

Thus the insurgents will come into funds by the capture of the custom house, for they will collect the duties on all imports through it.

Further than that, the city is the largest that has fallen into the hands of the constitutionalists since they began their campaign.

PENSIONS FOR BRICKLAYERS

International Union Will Inaugurate Disability and Old Age Fund.

Indianapolis, Nov. 22.—An old age pension and disability fund will be inaugurated by the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union of America in 1914. The plan has just been voted on by members of the union and Secretary Wm. Dolson today began mailing from the union headquarters here circulars to the local unions announcing the vote.

The fund will be maintained by weekly assessments of 25 cents on each member of the organization. Each member entitled to draw on the fund will draw $5 a week, the payments to be made monthly.

Pensions will be allowed any member who has reached the age of 60 years and has been in good standing in the union for twenty years, if he is unable to obtain sustaining employment, and to any member who has been in good standing for ten years and has become incapacitated for work by accident or ill health, not brought on by his own improper conduct. The widow of a beneficiary also may obtain a pension if she is without the means of support.

Ballington Booth and His Brother Are to Meet Once More

Washington, Nov. 22.—General Ballington Booth, commander in chief of the Volunteers of America, and his brother, General Bramwell Booth, commander in chief of the Salvation Army, will have their long deferred reunion on Monday, it was announced by the volunteers here tonight. A letter sent a week ago by General Bramwell Booth, now in this city on his tour of the country, to General Ballington Booth, seems to have gone astray, otherwise an earlier meeting probably would have been arranged, it was said. The brothers separated seventeen years ago when Ballington Booth organized a separate body.

Electrocution Is Legal But Judge Sentences to Hang

Nashville, Nov. 22.—Although Tennessee now has a law upon its statute books enacted by the last legislature providing for electrocution for capital offenses, Judge Richardson at Murfreesboro today sentenced W. F. Cook, convicted wife murderer, to be hanged. Cook is also under indictment for the murder of Lucy Stanford, his wife's niece, the double crime being an especially brutal one. The case will probably be appealed.

Baptists Approve Wilson Policy.

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 22.—Approval of the policy of President Wilson with reference to the Mexican situation was expressed in resolutions adopted here today by the Baptist general association of Virginia. The association also expressed its belief that the future policy of the administration will be along Christian lines. Prayer was offered for the divine guidance of President Wilson and his cabinet.

Officers Seek Salt Lake City Bandit Ralph Lopez

Salt Lake City, Nov. 22.—Thirty police officers searched today for Ralph Lopez, the Mexican bandit who yesterday shot from ambush and killed three deputy sheriffs, but up to a late hour had not come in contact with him.

This afternoon he was seen by a posse of citizens from Mercury, crossing the mountain divide into that mining camp. He retraced his steps on seeking the police and is hiding in the fastnesses of the mountains. He is surrounded on every side and it is said by Sheriff Smith of Salt Lake City that he cannot hold out longer than tomorrow.

MORE TROOPS ARE SENT TO BORDER

OFFICIALS SAY IS BUT TO ENFORCE NEUTRALITY LAWS.

INCREASE IS FULL REGIMENT

Garrison Takes Action Upon Learning Federals Are Approaching Juarez.

Juarez, Nov. 23.—(Sunday)—General Francisco Villa is preparing early this morning to evacuate Juarez, from all indications. It is expected this morning there will not be a trace of a rebel soldier in the city. At 2 o'clock this morning his men were entraining quietly, only a few at a time, on trains in the Mexican Northwestern railway yards, and this led to the belief that the rebel chieftain was fleeing towards Casas Grandes.

A rumor given credence by both constitutionalists and United States army officers in El Paso is that federal forces were marching on Juarez from Guadalupe, 33 miles east of Juarez, and United States border patrols reported that firing was going on several miles south of the river in the vicinity of Guadalupe.

Those well informed on Mexican matters here this morning are convinced that the largest part of the federal column advancing from Chihuahua is entering the vicinity of Juarez. They are fully expected to occupy Juarez today or tomorrow morning at the latest.

War strategists in the United States army circles here now believe Villa has drawn the federals from Juarez and that he is going to hurry to the state capital and take advantage of the small garrison remaining.

Reinforcement of the American troops on the Mexican frontier was a development today relating to the Mexican problem, but this movement of troops was declared to be not at all alarming by official statements issued in explanation. It was said at the war department that one of two infantry regiments will be ordered immediately to Fort Bliss, near El Paso, for the purpose of freeing one of the cavalry regiments now stationed at the fort for active duty along the international line in the execution of the neutrality laws.

The choice will fall upon the sixteenth infantry, now at the Presidio, San Francisco, or the Twentieth infantry, stationed at Fort Douglas, near Salt Lake City, Utah.

To serve as a garrison and to defend the city of El Paso from any possible attack from the south of the line, the police of the city in case of rioting, it was said that the infantry organization would be as serviceable as the mounted soldiers. On the other hand not being as mobile the infantry could scarcely fill the place of cavalry in the border patrol.

The net result of the order is to increase by a full regiment the force of American troops available to maintain order along the border. That their services may be needed for this purpose was asserted by members of the Texas congressional delegation and Secretary Garrison yielded to their appeals when he learned through press dispatches that the federal leaders were again approaching Juarez, opposite El Paso and that the rebel general, Villa, who only recently had captured that town, had gone forth to meet the federals in battle.

Reports of threatened disorders near Laredo, far to the east of El Paso, also reached the war department, but General Bliss, who transmitted them, at the same time informed the Washington officials that he had dispatched another squadron of the third cavalry near Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, to reinforce the squadron already there.

With the feeling of apprehension as to the safety of the oil tanks near Tuxpan alarmed by pleas from rebel leaders that there would be no violation of property rights there, navy officials were considerably relieved today. It was expected that one of the two British armored cruisers from Barbados, which had been in an appearance at Tampico almost immediately and apparently it was felt safe to withdraw the battleship New Hampshire from Tuxpan, particularly as the battleship Louisiana remains in that neighborhood to look after foreign interests.

Strike Fails to Materialize in the Electrical Union

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Reports that the 12,000 union men and women in the General Electric Works would walk out at 9 o'clock this morning unless two discharged leaders were reinstated, proved untrue. Representatives of the union were in conference with James A. Smith, general superintendent during the morning, and there was hope that an amicable agreement would be reached.

IN LETTER TO BAPTIST CONVENTION AT DALLAS MAKES MAGNIFICENT OFFER.

To Apply to Additional Dining Room and Other Features of the Sanitarium.

Dallas, Nov. 22.—The feature of today's meeting of the Baptist general convention was the magnificent offer of Col. C. C. Slaughter of Dallas in regard to the securing of collections for the erection of new buildings to be added to the establishment of the Baptist Memorial sanitarium of Dallas.

Col. Slaughter's offer was couched in the form of a letter, saying that he would add two dollars to every three dollars secured for this work, up to $200,000 on his part, provided that all of it would be used in the erection of a free clinic building, an additional dining room and a home for the nurses of the sanitarium. This is only to apply, however, to all funds secured outside of the free received from patients at the sanitarium.

Sanitarium Work Reports.
A report of the work of the Baptist sanitarium at Houston was read by J. L. Gross, president of the institution, and a report on the work and needs of the Dallas sanitarium was rendered by Dr. George W. Truett, secretary of the local institution.

These two reports were followed by a report of the Baptist educational work in Texas, read by Rev. J. A. Barton of Waco, secretary of the board of education.

Opening of Convention.
The convention was brought to order by R. A. Ingram, vice president, presiding in the absence of Dr. Buckner, and the devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. M. E. Weaver, Rev. R. D. Wilson then held the convention prayer. This was followed by a solo, rendered by Mrs. Anna Ellis Dexter of San Marcos.

A report of the committee on the order of business was then read by E. M. Francis, and a response to the telegram of sympathy sent to Rev. R. Williamson, corresponding secretary of the board of foreign missions, who is ill at his home in Richmond, Va., was read to the convention. Another telegram of sympathy was ordered sent to Dr. B. H. Carroll, president of the Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary, who is ill at his home in Fort Worth.

The report of the work of the Baptist sanitarium at Houston was then read by Dr. Gross, who made a very good comparison of the growth of the work during its existence of six years. In the first year of its life 232 patients were treated, and in the last year, ending August 31, 1,123 patients were cared for. The finances of the institution were also in a very good state, according to a report, making about $500 per month clear.

Another good item of the work of the Houston establishment is the fact that it has been self-supporting all its life excepting in the first four months. The report also showed that the two sanitariums of the state, at Dallas and Houston, gave over $50,000 worth of free charity treatment during the last year.

Dr. Truett's Report.
"Our institution," said Dr. Truett, in speaking of the local sanitarium, "has had such a tremendous success that it is rather embarrassing, in more ways than one. Four thousand, two hundred and eighty-four patients were treated there last year, showing an increase over the year before of 1,436. Two thousand, six hundred and eighty-five of these were surgical cases and 1,599 were for medical treatment.

There was little done at the afternoon session. Various reports were heard, then at night the Baptist Young People's union held a meeting and heard the annual report for this organization. A report of the board of directors of the Baptist convention reported at this meeting, following which came the report on foreign missions.

The convention will close its work, possibly by Monday at noon. Abilene will be the next meeting place.

Impure Blood

Is unhealthy blood—blood that is not only laden with poisonous and effete matters, but also deficient in red and white corpuscles. The medicine to take for it is HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

Impure blood shows itself in pimples, boils, and other eruptions, eczema and salt rheum, psoriasis, catarrh, rheumatism, nervousness, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, and general debility; it exposes you to the danger of contracting infectious and contagious diseases—the grip, typhoid fever, diphtheria, consumption.

Thousands testify that Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies, enriches and revitalizes the blood. If you need a good blood medicine get Hood's Sarsaparilla, and get it today.

Testimonial Dinner to Dr. McMaster

Philadelphia, Nov. 22.—A testimonial dinner was given tonight to Dr. John Bach McMaster, the historian, in commemoration of the completion of the historical work on which he has labored for thirty years. Soldiers, scholars and men of letters attended the dinner. Dr. Weir Mitchell presided.

Tributes were paid to Dr. McMaster in letters from President Wilson, former Presidents Taft and Roosevelt, Guglielmo Ferrero, the Italian historian; Lyman Abbott, Joseph G. Cannon, Joseph H. Coates, Charles W. Eliot, Secretary of War Garrison, W. D. Howells, Walter H. Page, ambassador to Great Britain; President H. B. of Princeton university, and President Hadley of Yale.

National Grange Delegates Leave.

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 22.—Delegates to the twenty-seventh annual convention of the National Grange left this city for their homes tonight. The next convention will be held in Delaware, probably at Wilmington.

A letter was read from J. P. Tully, secretary to President Wilson, thanking the Grange in behalf of the president for its commendation of his policy with reference to the Mexican situation.

The Perfumes of Persia

In the world of the ancients only kings and princes might use rare odors on their garments.

As gifts, they ranked with gold and jewels.

From the rose gardens of Persia, where the nightingale sang, came the most famous of ancient perfumes—attar of roses.

This perfume was almost priceless.

The culture of other flowers for the distilled essence followed. Our stock of perfumes and toilet waters rivals the stores of ancient kings.

Choose among them.

MAY COST MRS. PETER C. BOSTON OF PARIS, TEX., TO LEARN.

Sues Railroad, Gets Judgment, but Has Names Crossed and May Lose.

Washington, Nov. 22.—It may cost Mrs. Peter C. Boston of Paris, Tex., $5,000 to learn "what's in a name."

She sued the Paris and Great Northern railroad for the death of her husband, killed in a railroad accident in 1909, and recovered a verdict of $5,000. The suit was brought in her own name as permitted by the Texas employers' liability law, but not as administrator of her husband's estate, as required by the federal employers' liability law. The railroad has brought the case to the supreme court on the contention that the Texas law was repealed in effect by the passage of the federal act and that Mrs. Boston brought her suit under the wrong name.

The court will consider the case immediately after Thanksgiving.

ARMIES DRAW CLOSE TOGETHER

Villa's Men Will Meet Force of Six Thousand Federals Today Near Juarez.

El Paso, Nov. 22.—The main body of General Francisco Villa's forces which left Juarez early this morning to meet a federal force, reported to number about 5,000 men, advancing from Juarez to meet a battle at Villa's rebels, is reported tonight to be about forty miles south of the border, but so far the impending battle between the two forces has not been started.

At rebel headquarters in Juarez it was reported tonight that a few shots were exchanged between the advance guards of the two armies late this afternoon, but both sides retired, awaiting the bringing up of the main bodies of troops.

General Francisco Villa is tonight in Juarez. He said that the main battle will not begin until either tomorrow morning or the day following, as both armies are taking positions between the stations of Los Medanos and Samalayuca. He intends to return to the front tomorrow in order to direct his operations in the battle which is expected to occur soon.

Tell Oil Interests Not to Pay.

Vera Cruz, Nov. 22.—Nouveau Clarence A. Miller of Tampico reports in a wireless dispatch from the United States battleship Nebraska, that he has sent a special messenger to General Candido Aguila, the rebel commander, with a letter from Captain Spencer S. Wood, commander of the Nebraska, giving a warning against the destruction of foreign property. He also advised the oil companies that they must remain neutral and must not pay war taxes.

500 Troops for Orizaba.

Vera Cruz, Nov. 22.—Five hundred Mexican troops left this city by train tonight for Orizaba, 70 miles southwest of Vera Cruz, where the insurgents are becoming active.

The Mexican gunboats Zaragoza and Vera Cruz and the transport Progress left this port during the night with troops and supplies for Tuxpan and Tampico. There are now no Mexican war vessels here.

Orozco Moves Toward Juarez.

Mexico City, Nov. 22.—General Orozco, in command of 3,000 federal troops, is moving from Chihuahua to meet the rebels, now held by the rebels. With him are his old lieutenants, Generals Salazar, Caraveo and Orphinel, of the regular army.

This announcement was made today by the war department, which also reported that 1,200 followers of Zapata were killed in a battle today in the state of Morelos.

Ramon Prieto Leaves Mexico.

Havana, Nov. 22.—Ramon Prieto, a former member of the Mexican legislature of the state of Vera Cruz, sailed for New York today aboard the steamer Saratoga. Prieto was taken from the steamer Morro Castle at Vera Cruz last month while he was trying to leave Mexico and he intends to lay a complaint against the captain of the Morro Castle when he reaches New York.

Burnside Returns to Capital.

Mexico City, Nov. 22.—Capt. W. A. Burnside, military attaché of the American embassy, who accompanied John Lind to Vera Cruz, returned to his post here tonight.

NOTED FIGURE IN JAPAN.

Prince Keiki Tokugawa Last Link Between Old and New.

New York, Nov. 22.—The death of Prince Keiki Tokugawa, announced in a brief cablegram from Tokyo today, severs a connecting link between the old and new Japan. None of the contemporaries of the pre-Meiji era of the days of the Shogunate enjoyed such distinction and nobility as Prince Keiki, "last of the Shoguns."

In these latter days of the era of enlightenment in Japan it is doubtful if the average foreign visitor or even resident was aware of the unobtrusive existence of a man who, barely fifty years ago, was the de facto ruler of Japan.

In contrast with the unassailable dignity with which he sat as the lord of lords in the federal days—when it was a capital crime for ordinary folk to look the Shogun in the face—and when he could scarcely stir a step without the observance of a high-bound code of solemn ceremonial—the Shogun in his modern role of prince adopted such democratic simplicity that he rode about the streets of Tokyo almost unnoticed on a bicycle.

As Shogun or the hereditary commander-in-chief of the army, he wore the odd dress of the Samurai with wing-like projections over the shoulder and with two swords, one long and the other short. Amid twentieth-century subjects, living as a somewhat retiring old man, he discarded all the pomp and even on state occasions appeared in an ordinary frock coat.

He held his exalted office as Shogun for only ten months in the year 1867-68. During the Shogunate preceding him Japan had enjoyed an unbroken interval of peace and tranquility for nearly three centuries. It was at the time of his coming to power that Japan found herself subjected to pressure from without which threatened to force her to renounce her time-honored policy of entire isolation. The Tokugawa Shogunate had to yield

Special Thanksgiving Sale This Week

¶ The extraordinary low prices we quote on Men's and Boys' Fine Suits and Overcoats could not be possible if we had not secured the merchandise for much less than the regular wholesale prices. The drought in Oklahoma and other states caused merchants to cancel their orders after the goods had been made up. The manufacturers were glad to sell these goods to us at a reduction from regular wholesale prices of from 25 to 33 per cent. This is why we can sell Men's and Boys' Fine Suits and Overcoats at the prices named below—to the foreign demand and the Kanagawa treaty was first signed with the plenipotentiary of the United States as the sequel to the visit of Commodore Perry with his "black ships." Up to that time the emperor of Japan was little more than a pawn in the dangerous game played between Yeddo (not Tokyo) and Kyoto as the rival centers of the Japanese government.

In 1868 the imperial authority reasserted itself with an edict from Emperor Mutsuhito for the abolition of the Shogunate and the restoration of the emperor's rule. The emperor's son, Prince Keiki continued the struggle and internal strife of almost endless duration threatened to exhaust the state and expose it as an easy prey to foreign oppression and restored the power of government to the imperial throne. He led a life of seclusion for many years, but in 1898 he was invited by the emperor to take up his residence in Tokyo and the title of prince was conferred upon him.

The Japan Times, in describing the incident of his appearance as a guest at a garden party by Count Okuma in 1907, declared that the prince stood as an emblem of the Japanese genius of civilization, remarking that the changes that had been effected by a "revolution without madness" since the days of the Shogunate.

Spongors Strike Settled.

New York, Nov. 22.—The strike of the 400 members of the cloth spongors and examiners' union, which has been in progress for several days, was settled today at a conference between representatives of the union and leading employers. The strike had threatened to tie up most of the city's garment industry since the examiners and spongors had to inspect and sprinkle all cloth before it could be made up.

Both parties agreed to submit the question of open or closed shops in the sponging branch of the industry to arbitration. All other demands of the union are granted.

Girl Beats Way on Freight Dressed in Clothing of a Boy

Des Moines, Nov. 22.—Miss Elsie Melba Day, who for a time was thought to have been murdered somewhere between South Bend, Wash., and Aurora, Ill., but who was found today in Des Moines, admitted tonight that she and her brother, Alfred Love, had beaten their way from Spokane to Des Moines in a box car.

Their story explains the finding of a blood-stained woman's garment, a text book and revolver in the car of lumber from South Bend, Wash., when it was unloaded at Aurora, Ill. The text book found in the car was one which they forgot to pack with their other belongings.

Elsie Day traveled the whole distance in her brother's clothes. They left Spokane October 17 and arrived here eleven days later. The young man and young woman were adopted by different families in childhood.

New Arrivals in Many Lines

The Beautiful Third Floor presents an ever-changing panorama of latest fashions in feminine apparel. Among the new features that especially merit your attention just now are Ladies' Misses' and Children's Coats, Beautiful Furs of every description. A splendid assortment of Skirts, Dainty Negligees of Crepe de Chine.

The Wonderful Fairyland of Toydom

Our Toy Department, formerly located on the second floor, has this year been established on the new fourth floor. This change has been necessitated by the constant growth of our business in other departments. The new Toy Department is a veritable fairyland, where childhood's dearest fancies are realized in the seemingly endless Santa Claus Land that has been prepared here to delight the eyes of the little folks and big folks as well.

There are Dolls galore—Farmer Dolls, Soldier Dolls, Clown Dolls, Baby Dolls and Grown-up Dolls; pretty Dolls and ugly Dolls; Bisque Dolls, Rag Dolls, Kid Dolls, Rubber Dolls, Celluloid Dolls; Dolls that walk and Dolls that talk; Dolls of all nationalities from the Indian warrior on dappled pony to the cute little Jap, who actually hails from the empire of Nippon. Whether you want a Doll for 10c or $15.00, you will find it here.

And there are Doll Buggies, Doll Shoes, Doll Stockings, Doll Heads and Doll Wigs. And for both Dolls and little folks there are buggies, carts, coaches, wagons and automobiles of every size, and at any price you wish to pay, from 25c to $20.00. And Doll Houses—houses for big dolls and houses for little dolls; houses for rich-dolls and houses for poor dolls; when Santa Claus goes house hunting, he'd better come here.

This wonderful Christmas display includes every kind of instrument—musical or "noisical"—pianos, drums, violins, guitars, banjos, cornets, bugles, trombones, horns, zithers, accordions, harps, humming-tops, orchestras, talking machines, xylophones and musical dolls. The prices are 50c to $17.50.

Childhood's Christmas is not complete without at least a few of the Toys that run and jump. No mechanical Toy is lacking in our Toy Department this year; you will find here Toys that run and Toys that walk, and Toys that jump; trains, automobiles, merry-go-rounds, aeroplanes, wind-mills, steam engines, fire engines, magic lanterns, jockeys, acrobats and mechanical dogs, cats, horses, rabbits, mules and bears. Prices are 5c to $8.50.

Lack of space forbids further description, but you'll find in this wonderful fairyland of Toydom every species of fruit that grows on a Christmas tree.

DECISIVE CONCESSIONS IN PRICES On All Our Finest Costumes and Evening Wraps

Tomorrow we put into effect a most sweeping price-reduction on all our exquisite Costumes and Evening Wraps, including those that remain from our exhibit at the Cotton Palace. All those who have examined these beautiful creations know that we are strictly correct when we state that the original prices were at least one-third less than is usually charged for such garments; the great reduction which we now announce is therefore all the more striking. The beauty and variety of these creations is beyond description; come see them for yourself this week, and you will realize the magnitude of this offer.

TORY IS MISTRESS OF THE ROBES

Liberal Government Compelled to Confer Appointment on Political Opponent Because Must Go to Duchess and There are None of That Party

London, Nov. 22.—The present Liberal government has been compelled to confer the appointment of mistress of the robes to the queen, in former years considered highly political, on a political opponent in the person of the Duchess of Devonshire.

By precedent this post must go to a duchess, but as there are no Liberal duchesses or duchesses, it has of necessity for years fallen to those of the present mistress of the robes, although coming from an old Liberal family, which left the party over Gladstone's home rule policy and nearly came back to it when the Unionists adopted Joseph Chamberlain's policy of tariff reform, is one of the stalwarts of the present opposition. However, the Liberals have nothing to fear in these days of constitutional monarchs.

In the old days, when queens really ruled, and even in the early days of Victoria's reign, the mistress of the robes was an important personage, and it was considered necessary that she should be of the same political party as the government of the day, so that she might bring the right kind of influence to bear on the sovereign, now, however, her chief duty is to stand beside the queen at state functions and control the maids of honor.

Another tory duchess, Her Grace of Portland, holds the position of mistress of the robes to Queen-Mother Alexandra, but her position is, of course, even less important than that of the Duchess of Devonshire's. Her place in the political world, however, is just as great, if not greater. At the duke's town house in Grosvenor Square, and at Welbeck Abbey, his magnificent country seat, the duchess gives entertainments of the greatest magnificence, and many of the official Unionist receptions are given by her. These latter are somewhat democratic, but on other occasions only the most exclusive gain admittance.

British Postal Strike Threatened.
A threat by the British postal employees, numbering nearly 166,000, to strike at Christmas unless their grievances were settled was the first task that Herbert Samuel, postmaster-general, had to tackle on his return from a visit to the United States and Canada. This threat has been hanging over the postoffice service for a long while now, but it is only just taking practical form.

Last year Mr. Samuel appointed a committee to consider the complaints of the postoffice workers, but the report did not satisfy the employees, either in its recommendations as to conditions or wages.

Conferences and meetings have been held without result and now the Postmen's Federation, which represents all the postal trade unions, has sent a letter to Mr. Samuel, appointing him to receive a deputation to discuss the whole subject of the committee report. On the result of that interview will be decided future action by the federation.

There are fifteen chief unions of postal workers, with a membership of 57,200. Should they decide upon a strike not only the postal service, but the telephone and telegraph systems of the country would be affected, as all are under government control.

Eugenics At Copenhagen.

Copenhagen, Nov. 22.—Eugenics has been taken up as a study by a government commission composed of prominent jurists representing Denmark, Norway and Sweden with the object of introducing a mutual law regulating marriages and family rights. The Scandinavian countries are thus following the example of several American states in taking up the question of restricting the marriages of those who are physically or morally defective.

The commission, however, has not gone so far as was desired by the Danes, namely, demanding that people intending to marry in all cases should give certificates to the effect that they were not suffering from any disease of such a kind that marriage ought not to be entered into.

Sweden would not go so far, its representatives claiming that this would be too great a personal and economical demand to make; and it was argued that it would tend to increase the already existing reluctance to enter into matrimony.

The commission thereupon agreed to demand that all insane and mentally defective persons, as well as those suffering from certain sexual diseases and epilepsy may not marry unless the other party has been notified of the condition existing.

No Intoxicants In Iceland.
Copenhagen, Nov. 22.—The law prohibiting the importation of intoxicating liquors into Iceland which has been in effect since January 1, 1912, has been so strictly applied that not a drop of alcohol has been brought into the country since then unless by smugglers and none has been produced there.

The law permits the selling of liquors already in stock until January 1, 1913, but on that date no more sales of strong drink will be allowed.

The price of the spirits still on sale has increased enormously and it is not now possible to obtain drinkable beer.

The total abstinence movement has made great strides in the island, in every district of which are lodges consisting of hundreds of members. In most cases hotels do not possess licenses for the sale of alcohol and in Reykjavik, the capital, strong drink can be bought only in one hotel.

There are still many opponents of prohibition and these work energetically against the application of the law arguing that it means the restriction of personal liberty and that the treasury cannot dispense with the revenue on spirits. The prohibitionists hope to be able to bring about some modifications of the law.

For Art's Sake.

The little art student set up her easel before Muncie's "Girl with a Parrot" in the Metropolitan—her adored and worked away industriously in absorbed quiet. Presently two young girls, about high school age, entered the gallery, gazing.

"Oh, there's a stude!" said One. They drew near. The artist was busy with the head, which inclines slightly to the left.

"Gee!" whispered Two, "ain't she giddy thing?"

"See the bold, Madge," giggled One. "Ain't that a pitcher for a boodwar, though?"

"Say, Madge," shrilled Two, "the stude might sell that pitcher if she could make the bold talk."

Through all of this and more, the copyist worked on. The annex had kept behind her, and she had not imagined that she was aware of their presence.

Suddenly she turned, faced them, and dropped her brush. Smilingly she began to spell words on her fingers in the deaf mute language.

"Gee, Madge," exclaimed One, in an awed whisper, "the stude's deaf. Come on!"

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1913 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent, simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today. Mark H. Jackson, No. 61 Gurney Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y.

PRETTIEST IN SOUTH

OAKWOOD WILL LEAD BURIAL PARKS IN BEAUTY OF LANDSCAPE.

Architect Pike So Declares—Waco Chosen Among Many Cities as Southern Headquarters.

The annex to Oakwood cemetery, which has been laid out on the tract adjoining the old cemetery, will make Oakwood when the improvements are completed the "prettiest burial park in the entire south."

Raymond L. Pike, landscape architect, so declares in a letter just received from him by W. M. Foster of the Waco Cemetery association, which with whom which Mr. Pike is associated is now arranging to open an office in Waco. It will be the southern office of Clark & Pike. Mr. Pike says Waco was selected only after a careful search had been made for the most advantageous locality, different cities between Birmingham, Ala., and El Paso, Texas, being considered before a choice was made.

Text of the Letter.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 20, 1913.

"Mr. W. M. Foster,

"Waco Cemetery Association,

"Dear Sir:—On my return I find that last week's blizzard has wrought considerable havoc here. Overhead wires are torn and down and many of our beautiful trees damaged.

"I desire to express my appreciation of the many courtesies extended to me by yourself and the other Wacoans with whom I have been associated for the past several months.

"The people of your city will certainly be proud of Oakwood annex as planned by our firm and which is now laid out on the property adjoining the old cemetery; and, from my personal observation, I believe it will be the prettiest burial park in the south. The plan followed is similar to the plan of Lake View cemetery here in Cleveland, which, as you well know, is one of the show places of our city.

"The winding roads of Oakwood annex, well paved and drained and flanked by trees and shrubbery, will easily remind anyone of our Cleveland cemetery. I think that with the aid of the waterworks system you have installed, the grounds of Oakwood annex will present a beautiful sight. Your force was putting up the steel picket fence when I left and that alone will add greatly to the attractiveness of your park and I presume that by now the majority of your roads are well gravelled.

"As you know, it is our firm's intention to install an office in the south and we have decided to locate this office in Waco. Mr. Clark and I made a careful search for a suitable locality from Birmingham, Alabama, to El Paso, Texas, but could find no point more attractive for the location of our southern branch than your city. The location of landscape architect is peculiar in that it requires that one see ahead of what is actually completed in any locality and our firm desires to be one with the citizenship of Waco, for we can see that with the natural advantages of your city and with the indomitable energy of your citizens, Waco is destined to be, within a few years, the queen city of Texas.

"With regards, I am,

"RAYMOND L. PIKE.

ALLISON MAYFIELD ANNOUNCES

Member of State Railroad Commission Wants Appointment to Interstate Commerce Commission.

Austin, Nov. 22.—Chairman Allison Mayfield of the state railroad commission, is lined up for appointment to the interstate commerce commission, according to telegrams that have been received here from his friends in Washington, who are advocating the appointment of the Texas man to succeed John H. Marble, deceased.

Recently Congressman Smith of the Panhandle region announced for the position, but failed of appointment and since that time has announced his candidacy for re-election to the congress. Mr. Mayfield is not making an active fight. His friends are conducting his campaign.

HAS RIGHT TO ITS EARNINGS

Attorney for All the Railroads of Texas
Defends the Needs of the Companies.

To The Morning News:

Austin, Tex., November 21, 1913.
In a statement given out by Hon. Wm. D. Williams, railroad commissioner of Texas, he propounds the following pertinent questions:

"Is there any moral right on the part of one who puts money into the building of a railroad to get back anything more than the amount he reasonably invested with a fair profit added?"

I beg enough of your valuable space to answer his question, not because it is difficult or has not already been answered by the courts, but because not to answer the same, might be taken by some people as an insinuation that a greater return than that indicated by Judge Williams is claimed or expected.

Making specific answer to Judge Williams' question, I would say no. There is neither a moral or legal right to collect back more than the amount invested and a fair profit added, and what is more, a greater amount will not be collected.

The truth is, that the supreme court of the United States, as late as this year, in the Minnesota and other rate cases, re-affirmed the rule theretofore established, fixing the basis for rate-making. That rule is, that the owners of a railroad are entitled to earn enough to pay all legitimate operating expenses, and in addition thereto, a fair return on the value of the property then being used for the benefit of the public.

I do not know whether the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad company paid too much or too little for the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexican Railway company. If it paid too much, it made a bad bargain for its stockholders. If the present owners paid more than the reasonable value of the railroad, they have no right to claim, or expect what the law says they shall have, that is, a fair return on the value of the property devoted to public use.

Value by Commission.
According to the twenty-first annual report of the railroad commission of Texas, the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexican Railway company was on September 25, 1912, valued by the commission, at $12,183,226.43, or $26,172.49 per mile. This road was built under the present Texas stock and bond law. This valuation was not based upon the value of the property, but was based upon the value made by the railroad commission and its expert engineer.

Locally and morally, therefore, the Brownsville road is entitled to earn, in addition to its legitimate operating expenses, a fair return on the above value. At 6 per cent that would amount to $730,993.58.

For the year ending June 30, 1913, the Brownsville road earned an operating revenue $2,936,691.75. For the same period the operating expenses, which do not include taxes, rents, hire of equipment, etc., were $2,342,659.57. Its taxes, rents of joint facilities and hire of equipment amounted to $363,316.75, which, with operating expenses subtracted from its operating revenue, left $224,715.43. This calculation does not take into consideration the interest on bonds or any other debts. The road, therefore, after paying all its legitimate expenses, taxes, etc., earned a little less than 2 per cent on the value of its property, as ascertained by the railroad commission. And, as before stated, that value was fixed by the commission, regardless of the profits or losses of the promoters, and it represents the real value of the road as it existed on September 25, 1912. It is still there, and the interests of its patrons as best it can.

Road Was a Developer.
The building of the Brownsville road opened up what is known as the Brownsville country, at present one of the many garden spots in this grand commonwealth. There the cabbage, strawberry and citrus fruits have replaced the mesquite and cactus. Lands which before the advent of this railroad were worth from $5 to $10 per acre, are now worth from $75 to $150 per acre. If this, or some other railroad had not built into that country, lands would still be of low value, and the immense shipments of fruit and vegetables that now go to swell the wealth and commerce of this state would never have been in existence, because no matter how fertile the soil or favorable the climate, fruit and vegetables cannot be profitably raised and marketed without railroads and refrigerator cars. They cannot be sent to market by wagon.

Before the advent of the Brownsville road, a merchant living one hundred miles from a railroad paid, I suppose, something like 50 cents per hundred pounds for having his flour hauled from the railroad to his store. The railroad now hauls it for 15 cents per hundred pounds. And I submit that the same merchant could better afford to pay the railroad 25 cents per hundred pounds than to pay 50 cents per hundred pounds by wagon. He not only would save 25 cents per hundred pounds by having the railroad built, but the value of his property, his business, and his personal conveniences are immensely increased. I have the greatest respect and highest personal regard for Judge Williams and the other members of the railroad commission. They occupy a delicate position, as well as a difficult and responsible one. I believe a full knowledge on the part of the public of all the facts and circumstances affecting the operation of railroads will materially lessen, instead of increase their difficulties, and I further believe that the commissioners will agree with me in that assertion.

Respectfully,
HIRAM GLASS.

PULLMAN PORTERS NOT RICH

Organize and Issue One Address to Patrons of the Company.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Pullman car porters are tired of "riding camp stools," they say in a card to the American people, announcing the organization of the Federation of Pullman Porters of America, with headquarters at the Manhattan building, this city. They seek emancipation from their present condition.

"A Pullman porter," they say in their bill of grievances, "receives but $27.50 a month as salary. If he gets any more it is on account of the passengers' liberality, which brings up the question, 'Why should the passenger be liberal?'"

"Not only does the porter receive a small salary, but he is charged with all linen shortages, which often amount to a considerable sum. Inasmuch as there are about 12,000 Pullman porters in service this makes a very neat sum at the end of the year."

The bluecoat bosses of the palace cars also are on the carpet for a new deal, and they have organized themselves into the Federation of Pullman Conductors of America. Sleep, gentle sleep, does not visit the Pullman conductor and porters as long and as often as they would like, for they say in their joint manifesto:

"The conductor is allowed to sleep under favorable conditions, from 3 a. m. until 7 a. m., and when things are not favorable he does not get that much. If caught dozing when on duty he gets the penalty, as the company employs a number of high-salaried spotters as well as service inspectors, who are out to see that nothing is neglected. The porters are supposed to ride a camp stool—the 'pony' they call it—in most cases all night, at the end of the aisle, often getting no other rest for the entire day or night."

The Pullman conductors say they start at $70 and never get more than $95 a month. "It taking ten years to reach this state of opulence." The men say they want more wages and better working conditions.

PER ACRE PROFIT

TEXAS INDUSTRIAL CONGRESS IS TO MAKE AWARDS IN DECEMBER.

SPEAKERS FOR CONVENTION

Charles B. Austin of University to Make Principal Talk—Ousley
Also to Speak.

Dallas, Nov. 22.—The fifth annual convention of the Texas Industrial congress, to be held in Dallas December 13, will include a discussion of the marketing of farm products as one of its principal features. Prof. Charles B. Austin, of the Extension Department of the University of Texas, who is an authority on the subject, will address the convention on "The Marketing of Agricultural Products," and Clarence Ousley of Fort Worth will discuss "The Elimination of Waste in Marketing."

Mr. Ousley spoke on this subject before the Southern Commercial congress at Mobile this fall. The prizes offered by the congress, and to be distributed at this convention, are not for the largest production per acre, as is generally supposed, but for the largest net profit per acre. The net profit in farming is based upon three things—production at lower cost, lessening the transportation charge through better roads, and better marketing. The interest of the congress in the marketing question therefore at once becomes plain. The competitive feature of the work of the congress necessarily requires that every contestant's yields and the items of expense going into the production of them must be credited and charged at the same rate. Competitive crop marketing is not practicable, and the question cannot be gotten at otherwise than in the thorough and authoritative discussion provided in the program. The topic is timely, since better marketing for the farmer is being made a part of the legislative and administrative program of the federal government.

With his highly individualized methods, the farmer is unable to make an artificial price for his products, or even to take advantage of scarcity in the markets within his reach. The inability gives rise to a great difference in the price received by the farmer and that paid by the consumer, part going into losses in the case of cotton, part being the cost of transportation, handling, etc., and part the middleman's profit. About the only thing the farmer can do to the law of supply and demand under the present system of trade is to increase the demand, so far as he is concerned, by placing a better, more desirable product on the market, and if the product is damaged by improper handling, the loss stops short of him. What the farmer should do, what the middleman should do, how the principle of co-operation will help, and the function of the proposed federal marketing bureau, are all questions which those who wish to be well informed will desire to hear Professor Austin discuss, especially as they are phases of a problem that is a matter of dollars and cents to every person in this state. Professor Austin's work in collecting statistics to be used in connection with the marketing legislation now being initiated by Congressman Hutton Summers adds a peculiar interest to the address.

Some Subjects for Discussion.
The importance of the question of elimination of waste in marketing, cutting out the losses from preventable causes, will be realized when it is understood that the loss in this way in marketing cotton alone is $70,000,000, more or less, every year. Carelessness in picking, the post played by fingers, stains and tangles; poor work at the gin; exposure to the weather; the tare, and the many other factors which unite to take this stupendous sum from the pockets of the American cotton-growers, and what to do about it all, will form a part of Mr. Ousley's address, since cotton is only one of the crops where losses occur. Mr. Ousley spent a part of the year in Europe getting at the agricultural problem from a new angle, and his conclusions are formed after opportunities for study that few of the people who will hear him have had.

HOW THANKSGIVING DAY WAS FIRST DESIGNATED

Governor Bradford of the Plymouth Colony Originated the Custom in 1621.

PRESIDENT WASHINGTON FOLLOWS

Lincoln Selected Last Thursday in November and Since Then All Presidents Have Named That Day. How It Is Observed in United States.

Following the civil custom established in the "colonies" in 1621, which has since become a civil and religious observance, being designated by the chief magistrate of the union and the chief magistrate of each of the civil divisions of the union, and recognized by the various Christian denominations, Thursday, November 27, the day being the Thursday next following to-day, there will be a general observance of Thanksgiving Day in all parts of the United States of America, in the largest cities, and in the hamlets, towns, villages and settlements.

He is poor indeed who has no one thing to be thankful for.

That village, that city and that state is desolate and bereft which has nothing for which to be thankful. Tribulation may have come to people, yet they may be thankful for their recovery from the sorrow and the pain and disaster may have come upon a community, yet in its rebuilding and recovery there is much to be thankful for.

The president of the United States designates the day, and while it is a civil declaration that he proclaims, he expresses a fervor of religious observance in his direction to the people over whom he is chief magistrate, to give their thanks to the All Wise, All Powerful and All Seeing Ruler of the Universe, through whose goodness, benefits have come to individuals, families and communities, and following this the governor of this state, has said in proclamation:

"There should be and always is, a season of joy and thanksgiving. Most every human, during the course of life, experiences the agreeable sunshine of ease and abundance; it is equally true that most of us, at some period, meet with calamity and disappointment.

"We are now blessed with plenty—the giver of all good gifts has been kind to the people of Texas. While we are blessed with plenty, and are returning our thanks therefor, let us not forget the importance of presidential living—let us not be wasteful, and spend our bounty in riotous living, but conserve our surplus so that we may live freely if it need be to those less fortunate than ourselves.

"Now, therefore, in harmony with the proclamation of the president of the United States of America, and in accordance with custom, I, O. B. Colquhoun, governor of Texas, do hereby designate and proclaim Thursday, November 27, 1913, as a day of thanksgiving, singing and prayer to the God of all nations for His goodness and loving kindness to the people of our great commonwealth, and the due observance of same is requested in all places of public worship."

Origin of the Day.

Thus it will be seen that the day of thanksgiving, established civilly, and continued by civil authority, recognizes also that through the medium of the places of public worship, that the thanks are to be conveyed, making general the holiday and thanksgiving day that is established.

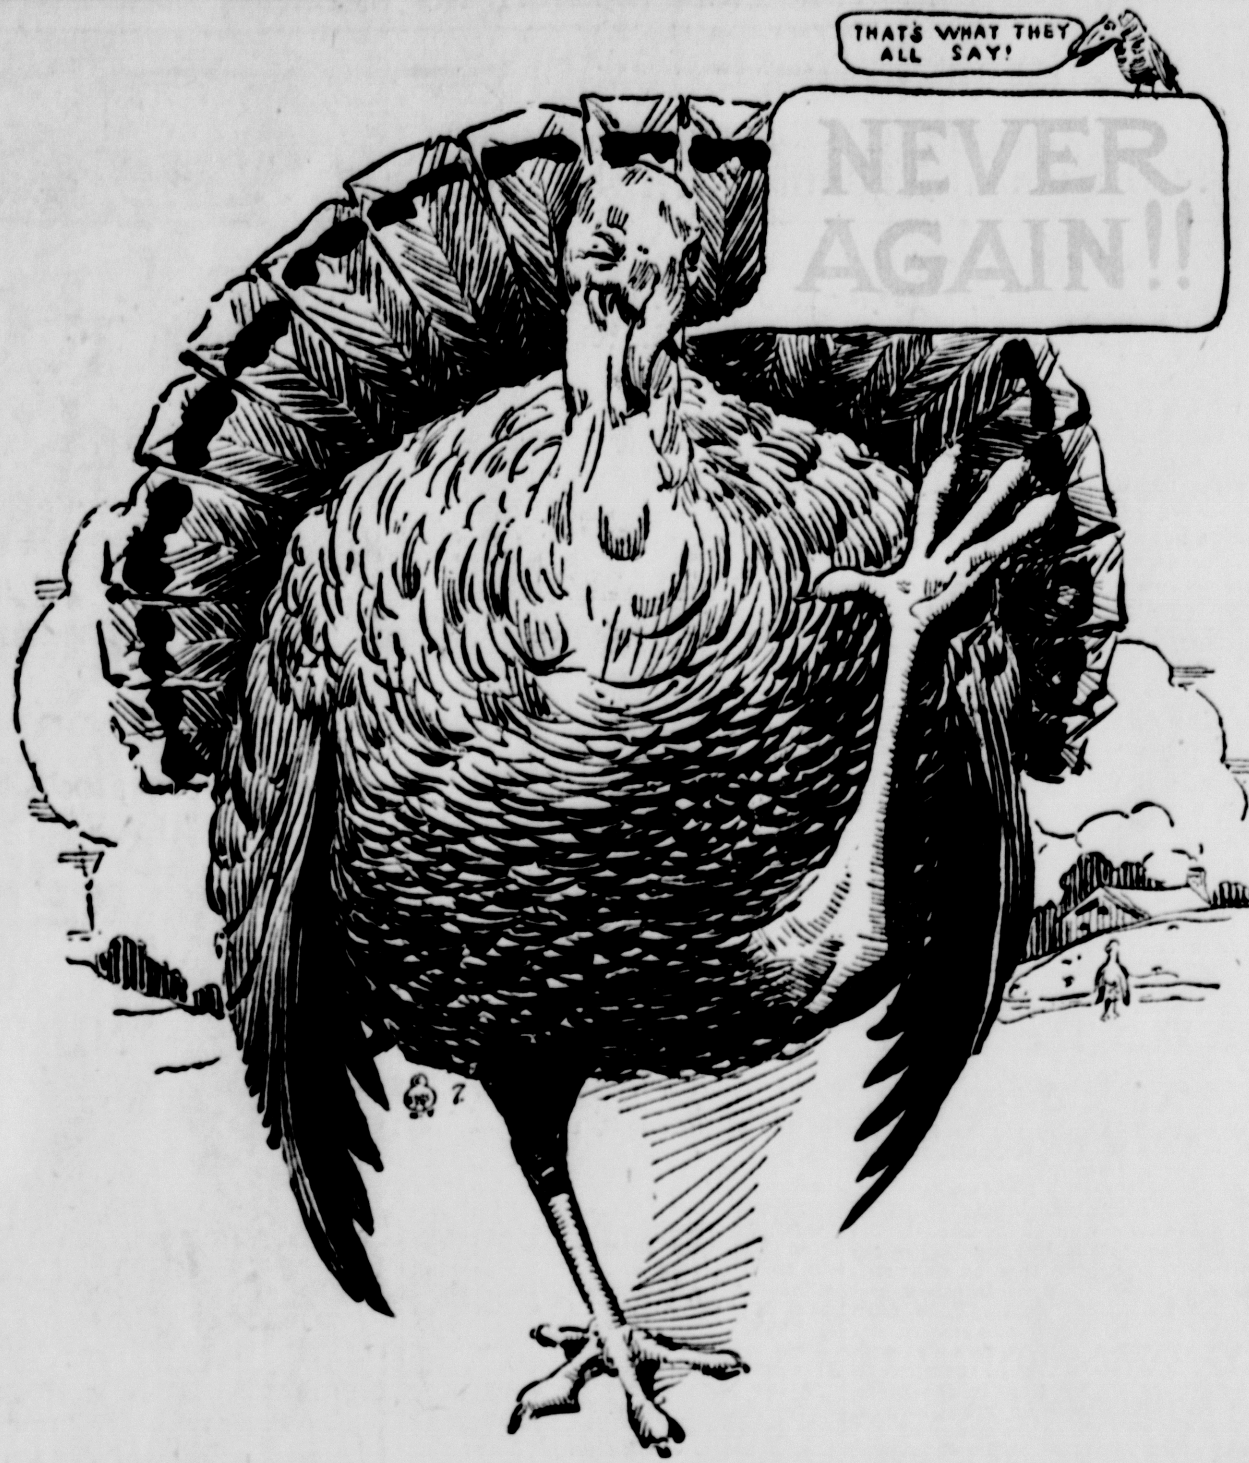

The Thanksgiving custom originated in 1621 when Governor Bradford of the Plymouth colony appointed a day for public praise and prayer after the first harvest, and the practice spread throughout the New England colonies. The first national observance was when President Washington, at the request of the congress, recommended Thursday, November 26, 1789, to the people of the United States, as a "day of public thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed and acknowledged with grateful hearts the many signal favors of Almighty God." The proclamation exhorted the people to "beseech Him to pardon our national and other transgressions, to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue, and to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as He alone knows to be the best."

In 1847 Thanksgiving Day was first officially recognized in New York state and by 1853 its observance had spread to twenty-eight states and territories.

Washington issued a second Thanksgiving proclamation, naming Thursday, February 19, 1795, as a day of public thanksgiving and prayer. The occasion this time was the putting down of the whisky riots in western Pennsylvania. One of the things the first president enjoined the people to ask of God was to "preserve us from the ravages of property and from hazarding the advantages we enjoy by delusive pursuits."

There is no record of any other thanksgiving proclamations by Washington or any of his successors up to the time of Madison. The occasion then was the signing of the treaty of Ghent after the war of 1812. Thursday, January 12, 1815, was the day set aside for the "humble adoration of the great sovereign of the universe." In another part of this same proclamation the deity is spoken of as "the

DINNERS FOR THANKSGIVING

In getting menus for Thanksgiving dinners The Morning News turned to James W. Yonts, steward of the Husco County club. Mr. Yonts is one of the most experienced caterers in Texas. Presiding over the culinary department of one of the most exclusive clubs in the south, where quality counts, he is in touch at all times with the best to be had. He has suggested two Thanksgiving dinners. These menus will be a bit expensive for small families, but there is enough in each for the family of five or six to select the turkey and certain features, and thus make the dinner conform with the covers to be laid. Any cook book will show how to prepare each dish. Here are his two suggestions:

Turkey With Oysters.

Caviar Canape.
Bouillon, en Tasse. Cheese Sticks.
Celery Hearts. Salted Pecans.
Ripe Olives.
Broiled Trout, Parsley, Butter Sauce.
Iced Cucumbers. Potatoes Reitz.
Roast Turkey, Oyster Dressing.
Creamed Potatoes.
Cauliflower, Hollandaise.
Cranberry Ice.
Grape Fruit Salad, French Dressing.
Neapolitan Ice Cream.
Pumpkin Pie. Angel Food Cake.
Pumpkin Pie. Cherry Pie.
Neufchatel Cheese. Wafers.
Mixed Nuts. Assorted Fruits.
Small Coffee.

Turkey With Chestnuts.

Oysters on Half Shell.
Cream of Asparagus, Whipped Cream.
Hearts of Celery.
Salted Nuts.
Queen Olives.
Larded Sweetbreads.
Mushroom Sauce.
Roast Turkey, Chestnut Dressing.
Cranberry Sauce.
Grilled Yams. Steamed Rice.
Waldorf Salad.
English Plum Pudding.
Hard and Brandy Sauce.
Hot Mince Pie, Lemon Meringue Pie.
Camembert Cheese. Toasted Bents.
Mixed Nuts. Assorted Fruits.
Small Coffee.

The TURKEY—King of the Thanksgiving Feast

How This Toothsome Bird Came To Be the Ruler of the Great American Holiday—Its Habits and An Epicure's Recipe for Its Cooking.

CUSTOM prescribes that the date of Thanksgiving shall be the last Thursday in November and that a special Proclamation setting apart this day of thanksgiving be made by the President of the United States. This act of the Chief Magistrate, however, does not make it a legal holiday in the Commonwealth as that is regulated by the laws of each state. The President merely recommends "that the people, ceasing from their ordinary occupations, observe the day with proper ceremony." But Thanksgiving Day is older than our Republic, far away back in 1621 Governor Bradford, the first Governor of Massachusetts, Colonies set apart a day of prayer and rejoicing. This was proclaimed to express gratitude for the plentiful harvest of that year. Even in the days of the Puritans when long, dull sermons were the leading events of a feast day the prospect of a good dinner on Thanksgiving after the service had been concluded helped many to endure the tediousness of the ceremony.

Turkey at First Thanksgiving.

Remembering this fact, Governor Bradford sent four men in search of game to be used on this occasion. After a few days hunting these men returned to Plymouth fairly loaded down with game which consisted principally of wild turkeys. Thus early in the history of the day our friend, the turkey, came upon the scene, and from that time until the present the flesh of this toothsome bird has graced the American table on Thanksgiving Day.

A hundred years ago the religious character of the old Yankee Thanksgiving was a curious contradiction. The pious people always felt that something awful was going to happen, for the religion of that day seems to have been based more on fear than love. On holidays they went about with faces which matched the sermons preached by the elders—terribly solemn, yet on Thanksgiving Day they were told to rejoice and give thanks even though the Pilgrims yawned the day before and after.

Facts About the Big Bird.

The turkey—the ruler of this day of praise for so many years, is rather an interesting fowl, and certain species of it are really beautiful. It is the largest of the tribe of Gallinaceous birds which includes hens and partridges, and although it is a native of North America it made its appearance in the barnyards of Europe in the beginning of the sixteenth century. The turkey is perhaps the most curious as well as the largest inhabitant of the barnyard. On close examination of the head it will be found to be bald or bare, the neck wattled, and the bill of the male surmounted with a conical fleshy caruncle—sometimes erect, sometimes elongated and pendulous. There is a curious tuft of long hair at the base of the neck of the male which hangs down on his breast. The tail is broad and rounded, and is spread out as the big bird struts around with pride dragging his wings on the ground at the same time making a loud, peculiar noise known as the gobble. Hence, in many instances, he becomes known as a turkey gobble, and the housewife will frequently give her order for "a young gobble," which is merely a young male turkey. The female or hen turkey is quiet and gives herself none of the airs of the male bird, as she neither struts or gobbles.

The management and feeding of turkeys differs little from that of the ordinary barnyard fowl, except the young ones are exceedingly delicate during the first few weeks of their lives and are almost sure to die if they are allowed to run through wet grass. If they live two months the farmer has little difficulty in rearing the flock. Many poultry men devote their entire time to raising turkeys, and by special care and such food as grain, bran and boiled potatoes turkeys have been known to attain a weight of from forty to fifty pounds and yet lose nothing of their tenderness. Last year the turkey which graced the White House table on Thanksgiving Day tipped the scales at forty-four pounds. The meat of this huge bird is said to have been of an especially fine flavor and very tender—the result of careful feeding.

Plumage Useful.

The plumage of the bronze turkey is prized by feather manufacturers, and many of the so-called imported fancy feathers are made from the bronze breast and wings of the Thanksgiving King. As the great day draws near the farmers make extensive preparations to supply the dealers with choice birds. Hundreds of turkeys are engaged far in advance and in some cases the American housewives have even gone to the farms weeks before to select a particular fowl. This turkey is then put on a special diet to be fattened for the feast day. Others prefer to allow their poultry dealers to do the selecting. Millions of turkeys are sold in the United States at the Thanksgiving season, for even the prisons and the workhouses are given turkey dinners on the day of rejoicing and prayer.

The cost of turkeys is watched by the housewife with almost as much interest as the speculator displays in watching the stock market. The price of the bird varies with the weather, and should the day before Thanks-

How to Select and Cook a Turkey.

Every housewife has her own particular recipe for preparing turkey, and whether it is boiled or baked or stuffed with chestnuts, as is the favorite style in New England, or whether the oyster stuffing so popular in Maryland and Virginia is used, or whether the plain bread, butter and herb dressing of the West is served, the turkey is supreme on this special day. A well-known epicure gives out the following in reference to the selection of the Thanksgiving turkey: "Select one that is fat, full grown but not old. When the bird is young the skin is thin and tender, the legs smooth, the bones yielding to the pressure of the finger. A turkey should be killed and dressed at least eight hours before cooking. When you are ready to roast the turkey wash it thoroughly, dry, and stuff with stale bread mixed with salt, pepper and butter. Roast slowly from two to three hours, according to the size of the bird. Baste the giblets in water until quite tender, chop fine and stir in the gravy with a dash of browned flour. When ready for serving garnish with parsley and send the toothsome bird to the table steaming hot, and you have a dish fit for the gods. Of course, any kind of stuffing may be used, but the simple bread dressing is relished by everybody."

Wild Turkeys.

The wild turkeys used at the earlier Thanksgiving feasts were even larger than the domesticated birds of today, and from the numbers which were reported to have been shot for the feasts they must have been numerous during the days of the Colonists. As civilization advanced the wild turkeys became rare even in the eastern part of the Mississippi Valley, where at one time they were so plentiful that gunners came in from the hunt literally loaded down with these birds. The wild turkey is not found west of the Rocky Mountains, but it lives as far South as Panama, and also in the woods of the West Indies. In the latter place, owing to the warm climate, they frequently hatch out three broods annually. They are very quarrelsome and during the mating season the male birds engage in savage fights among themselves. They make their nests on the ground in secluded spots in the forests and hatch out from fifteen to twenty young birds at a time. The mother cares for the young and as far as possible keeps them away from the old male birds, who frequently kill their offspring if not closely watched. During ing the summer the wild turkey seeks high ground, but in the winter the gunners always find them in the valleys where numbers of them go in flocks, but they hide in the thicket and are by no means easy prey.

Favorite Game Bird.

During the early part of the eighteenth century the park at Richmond, near London, was stocked with wild turkeys until finally the flock numbered about two thousand. Alterations between the gamekeepers and poachers became so frequent over these birds that the authorities finally decided to destroy the entire flock and since that time there have been few wild turkeys found on the English shooting preserves, although they are one of the favorite game birds of the American gunner and are nearly always found on our game preserves. The chief food of the wild species is grain, seeds, fruits, insects and young frogs. The flesh of this type of turkey is highly relished, many persons preferring it to that of the domesticated bird. Various recipes are given for its cooking, but the most popular one seems to be the old New England style by which plenty of onions are used in the dressing and a single onion baked in the pan with the bird. While the turkey is always associated with the Thanksgiving dinner and generally graces the table of the American family on that occasion, yet whether it be turkey wild or tame or something else in lieu thereof, the spirit of the day is not forgotten, and we all join in giving thanks for the many good things which Nature and Nature's God have bestowed upon us during the past year.

Thanksgiving Sermonette

By Davis W. Clark.

The story of those shepherd sheiks, the patriarchs, has unfailing charm. All have felt the fascination of the Scripture narrative. One characteristic of that truly simple life was the habit of considering God as the immediate Author of prosperity. If their flocks multiplied, it was God who had given increase. If there was pasture, it was God who had caused the grass to grow. If rain filled the pits, it was God who had given water. Each good was ascribed to God. They were correspondingly thankful and dependent. . . . Certain circumstances of patriarchal life were favorable to this habit. For example, in those early days and in localities where the necessities of their herds led them, they were brought into contact with nature in its primeval form. Such contact is favorable to devotion. The American Indian, in solitude of forest, in shadow of canyon, or spray of cataract, was sensitive to the immanence of the "Great Spirit." So the patriarch, as he pitched his tent on the plain, under starry canopy, was filled with thoughts of God, different only in that they were more distinct. He had no ghostly concept. His idea of Deity was that of Father and Friend. . . . The migratory life also contributed to the spirit of dependence. These shepherds relied upon the spontaneous production of the earth. God must guide to pasture and water. So immanent was God to the patriarchal mind that it was as if God spoke in very articulate words, and his communications were transmitted orally from generation to generation. . . . These were the conditions which contributed to the grateful and trustful spirit of the patriarch. He considered God as the direct Author of his good. He was happily ignorant of second causes. "It is God who hath done it. Praise His name!" was his devout exclamation. In sacrifice and oblation he further showed his thankfulness.

Current life is in violent contrast to patriarchal life. This is not an age of sparse population, leaving vast areas of solitude. The shepherd's tent has given place to the permanent dwelling, the roving tribe to the settled community. Contact with primeval nature is rare. On every continent of earth statistics prove urban population gaining upon rural—1920 A. D. will show fifty per centum (plus) of the people of the United States in cities. Again, in the settled life the equal and universal application of law is more apparent. Success seems resultant upon obedience to law. Under these changed conditions the age is materialistic and self-reliant. The patriarchal spirit of dependence upon God, the habit of tracing prosperity to him as the source, is in danger of being obliterated. . . . One of the surprises of the Bible is the deliberation with which it ignores second causes. It uniformly ascribes things to God as their immediate Author. "God created" is the initial declaration. No allusion is made to the primordial forces which co-operated in the building of the world. God causes the familiar phenomena of nature. He makes rain, gives dew, sends frost, hail, and snow. He sets his bow in the cloud. He causes change of season. In the sphere of human affairs also the Bible represents God's influence as direct. He exalts one, abases another, overrules human designs, restrains wrath, delivers from affliction, sends changes of fortune. . . . Though the Bible thus ignores second causes, it does not deny them. Many of them are incidentally referred to and figuratively described. Yet as a rule it must be conceded that the Bible ignores second causes and ascribes things to God as Author and Source. And the Bible is right! For example, we have in common speech personified the human hand. You say a man is a "good hand" at such and such a thing. But the hand is nothing if there be not a will and a mind back of it to direct it. In the final analysis it is not the hand that does anything, but the living spirit back of and through the hand. Now, second causes and natural laws are God's hands. They would be nothing if His will and spirit were not in them. Natural law is God's way of doing things. Is it universal? It should be, for he is everywhere. Is it unalterable? It must needs be, for he is without variableness. To stop with law and at-

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms of diseases are given and the answers should apply to any case of similar nature. Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Building, College-Elwood streets, Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

kidney trouble. My skin is pimply and oily.

Answer: Three grain sulphur tablets (not sulphur tablets) is the best known remedy for the blood. They are made from sulphur, cream of tartar and herb medicines which act directly on the blood, purifying it, thus causing the pimples to disappear and the skin to become fresh and healthy looking. These sulphur tablets can be bought at any drug store. They also will relieve your kidney trouble and indigestion.

"Mrs. O." writes: "The best remedy for bed-wetting in children is to give them 10 to 15 drops in water before meals of the following: Tincture cubebis, 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatica, 2 drams; and comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz."

"Audrey" writes: "For the past year, I have suffered greatly with catarrh. It has affected my blood, stomach and bowels to such an extent that I suffer constantly. Can you tell me a cure?" Answer: I heartily recommend the use of antiseptic vilane powder for the relief of catarrh. First ask your druggist for a 2 oz. package of vilane powder, then thoroughly cleanse the nostrils with the following wash: One-half teaspoonful of the powder to a pint of warm water. Use this several times a day by snuffing the water from the palm of the hand through the nostrils; after which make a bath by mixing a teaspoonful of vilane powder with one ounce of lard or vaseline and apply to the nostrils daily. Internal treatment for the stomach, bowels, and blood should be used. Syrup sarsaparilla (comp. 1 oz., comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz., fluid ext. buchu, 1 oz.). Mix and shake well and take a teaspoonful four times a day.

"Sorrowful May" says: "My scalp is covered with dandruff, my hair is oily and straggling. Please help me so that I may look like other girls." Answer: You can very easily "look like other girls" if you will get at the drug store a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow mayonaisse and use it regularly according to the directions given. It will stop your dandruff and make your hair soft and fluffy and make it grow. This treatment differs from all others and I have actually seen the most wonderful transformations when people have used this only two or three times.

"Ann" writes: "Could you prescribe something to increase my weight? I am tall and thin to such an embarrassing degree that I am frequently subjected to slighting remarks." Answer: Hypo-Nutrene tablets have been prescribed with great success as indicated by gratifying letters from hundreds of girls who suffer as you do. These tablets can be purchased in sealed packages from any well-stocked drug store and full directions are given inside. These should be taken regularly for three months, and you will be surprised to note the color in your cheeks and lips and your weight should increase from 15 to 30 pounds.

"Unhappy May" writes: "I suffer constantly with headaches, indigestion and

THOUSANDS OF DRESSED TURKEYS FOR EASTERN THANKSGIVING DINNERS

Waco Sends the Birds Out By the Car Load—Engaged in the Industry Today Are 100 Men—Must Dress Them to Suit the Market

Do the people of Waco realize that for the Thanksgiving season there have been shipped out of this city, in car loads, dressed turkeys to the extent of 200,000 pounds.

It is not generally known that Waco is the market for the Thanksgiving turkeys for the tables of the people in the far eastern cities and towns. While Thanksgiving originated in New England, and was for many years observed in that part of the Union before the custom came south, yet it is to the south that the people must turn for their Thanksgiving birds. It is a big industry of Waco, and while there is more activity in it during the fall months than at any other time of the year, there is more or less being done all during the twelve months. Waco is the big shipping point for turkeys.

At the plant of the Big Four Ice and Cold Storage company, turkeys are received "on the hoof," as they say in buying live cattle; they are caged until driven into the killing pen, they go then to the pickers and the men who dress them, and then to the cold storage rooms to be prepared for shipment. The handling of these birds for Thanksgiving markets closed during the past week. The last car went out Wednesday, and by this time it is very near the point of distribution to the consumers who little realize how far the bird has traveled before it reaches the Thanksgiving oven.

There are 100 men engaged in the turkey industry in Waco today, and during the last few weeks there were more at work. The Big Four plant has been receiving them every day and up to the close of the Thanksgiving shipment they received about 12,000 head of turkeys from all parts of Central Texas. The total shipments to the markets of the east for Thanksgiving amounted to more than 200,000 pounds. A car of turkeys will average about 25,000 pounds weight.

It is because of the growth of the turkey business along with other cold storage propositions that the Big Four contemplates increasing its cold storage capacity. The company now has about seven cold storage rooms, and in many of these turkeys are now being put away, ready for the packers who are to put them in condition for shipping to the big markets as the turkey at Thanksgiving is a necessary article of the market supply.

Waco dressed turkeys go all over the states in the east; they are high-class birds, and they command the highest prices in the market. The "old Tom turkeys" which are shipped out of here go into the cold storage rooms in the east and are held for next summer when they are sold to the various hotels at the summer resorts. They are large in size, and make good "slicing" for serving at a hotel.

There are many stories of Thanksgiving Day, approved recipes for dishes to be served at Thanksgiving, and there are menus which have been awarded prizes in competitions of which will be useful in the home in preparation for Thanksgiving dinners.

Miss McCauley has arranged the books so that teachers of the schools may send their pupils to the library to study the facts about Thanksgiving that they must know to be informed as to one of the nation's great days.

SHOOT SEARCHLIGHTS.

Gun Fires Rays of Light Instead of Bullets.

The advantage often gained in war by night attacks upon the enemy's trenches now seems to be offset by some momentary invention of gun which project searchlights instead of bullets. These illuminating grenades, fired into the air above where the assaulting party is supposed to be approaching under cover of the darkness, remain for some moments suspended by opening parachute attachments, and during that period each throws a cone of bright light upon the earth below.

The approaching enemy is thus plainly revealed while the force to be shot is completely invisible and can stop the contemplated attack with deadly marksmanship. These illuminating grenades weigh only fourteen ounces, and can be attached to the muzzle of the ordinary service rifle, projecting it into the air the butt of the rifle is placed on the ground. There is a firing rod, weighing an additional four and one-half ounces, which releases the parachute and ignites the illuminating substance—calcium carbide.

Of course, only a small number of rifles have to be detailed for this service, and even these are immediately ready for offensive use as soon as the grenades have revealed the enemy. It will be seen that the use of this device not only renders the night attack futile—when there is sufficient warning—but actually transfers the usual advantage to the force which is the object of the attack.

The principle of an illuminating projectile was first applied to cannon on German warships, with the parachute feature omitted—the object being a floating light. On striking the water, being lighter than that element, it soon came to the surface—but not until water had been automatically admitted, producing acetylene gas, burning with an illumination equal to that of 3,000 candles.

Army experts consider the rifle searchlight grenade the most useful adaptation of the principle. Its general adoption would bring about a general revision of tactics for operations at night. Such military operations have long been in favor to serve various purposes, for example, to steal a march on an enemy and outmaneuver him; to avoid the unfavorable observation of his aerial scouts, planning at lofty altitudes, securely immune from the fire of terrestrial marksmen; to traverse ground which offers no cover from the view and fire of the enemy in daylight; to carry on an attack commenced before dark and convert it into a successful fight to a finish during the intervening period before the following dawn reveals one's dispositions, and, more important than all, to take the enemy by surprise, and thus enhance the chances of success tenfold.

An assault may be actually delivered during darkness but the hazards of such a proceeding are so great that unless the conditions of a fight with the enemy have already proved adverse over the same ground in daylight, or are almost certain to be so, it is usually better to accept the proposition of success by the enemy's fire.

AS TO THANKSGIVING

MANY BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY WHICH WILL BE INTERESTING.

Miss McCauley Has Arranged a List So That All Who Call May Find Them Readily.

There is a great deal of interesting literature at the Waco Public Library on Thanksgiving Day, and Miss Pauline McCauley, the librarian, has arranged the book list so that they are all available for those who want to read of the day, its observance and stories that are seasonable.

Among the books that have been posted by Miss McCauley are the following:

American Girl's Handy Book, by Beard.
Calendar Stories, by Boyle.
Storyed Holidays, by Brooks.
Book of Days, by Chambers.
Book of Fables for all Seasons, by Dawson.
Special Days in School, by Gowdy.
Book of Little Plays, by Harper.
Home Occupations for Girls and Boys, by Johnston.
How to Celebrate Thanksgiving, by Kellogg.
Book of Indoor and Outdoor Games, by Kingsland.
Merrington Holiday Plays, Our Holidays.
Young People's Speaker, by Rest.
Holiday Selections, by Rice.
Thanksgiving Celebrations, by Schell.
Thoughts for the Occasion.
Origin, Celebration and Significance of Thanksgiving, by Schaffer.
John Winthrop and the Puritans, by Foote.
Story of the Thirteen Colonies, by Gueber.
Origin of Thanksgiving, by DeCosta.
Colonial Meeting House, Thanksgiving Days, by Singleton.
Miles Standish and the Pilgrims, by Foote.
Old Times in the Colonies, by Coffin.
Holidays and Festivals, by Earle.
Some Thanksgiving Day Fancies.
In addition to the books given above there are bound magazines in which the needy and homeless at Yuletide would begin soon after Thanksgiving day.

"We will put the pots out on the street corners and in other public places December 7," he said. "We are confident that the people of Waco will be generous with their contributions and that the pots will be kept boiling merrily through the campaign."

We Warn Against Imposters.
"We desire to have it known, too, that there will be no solicitors besides myself and J. E. McGowan authorized to collect money or anything else for Salvation army uses this year. Last year we discovered that several imposters representing themselves as solicitors for the army collected funds from citizens of Waco. The money was pocketed by the crooks and we were advised of the fraud too late to identify and prosecute them. Any person soliciting money or articles of clothing from door to door except Mr. McGowan and myself may be set down as an imposter."

Of the more than 87,000,000 gallons of alcohol made in France last year more than 42,000,000 gallons were used in beverages.

tributed success to it is a species of refined idolatry. It is worship of creature, not Creator. . . . Again, to change the figure, second causes are God's paymasters.

In a well regulated establishment a date is designated as pay-day. Employee steps to cashier's desk and receives his envelope. Is there any confusion? Does he not know that the money comes from his employer—that the cashier is only an intermediary? So the farmer sows his seed. Through second causes, viz., germinating power of the grain, fruitifying power of soil and sun, he gets his increase. He ought to know that it is not by natural laws, but God through them, that he gets his harvest. The same is true in every line of business and every human pursuit. Success comes in our obedience to law, but God is none the less the Author of it. The patriarchs were right, therefore, when they traced temporal prosperity directly to God, thanked Him as the Author of their good and expressed their dependence upon him. What this age needs is a revival of the spirit of the patriarchs. The current materialistic spirit needs to feel that God is near and is a Rewarder. With this sense of the immanence of God, a National Thanksgiving Day has use and advantage.

WILL NOT HAVE A DINNER

The Salvation Army is to Defer Its Service for the Poor Until Christmas.

There will be no Thanksgiving dinners for the poor given by the Salvation army in Waco this year.

"The annual Thanksgiving dinner will be provided in the larger cities as usual," said Capt. E. D. Elkins, in charge of the local barracks, "but we have decided that it is inexpedient to attempt it here. The reason is that we make the Christmas dinner the big festival occasion of the year, and the two festivals, Thanksgiving and Christmas, are too close together to make both the success we would have them. The people respond more liberally to the Christmas appeal in cities the size of Waco, we have discovered, if no campaign is conducted for Thanksgiving day."

Capt. Elkins announced that the Christmas campaign for funds to cheer which may be expected in a struggle for supremacy under normal conditions by day, trusting to gun and rifle for decision, than to endeavor to gain the point by the bayonet, the grenade, and hand-to-hand fighting, the only method which can be relied upon in a nocturnal melee. In cases where the night assault is considered imperative everything is done to avoid alarming the enemy until the attack can close with him. Rifles are not loaded, though magazines are charged and cut-offs closed, the troops are given strict orders not to fire without a distinct order, bayonets alone to be used until daylight makes it possible to aim with effect; absolute silence to be maintained until the moment of assault, the advance to be carried out quietly and without rattling of accoutrements. No smoking is permitted, no matches to be struck.

Nearly all of these advantages of night movements and attacks seem to be destroyed by merely successful experiments with the rifle grenade searchlight, for it will be assumed by the commanders of the opposing forces that each is provided with this new method of turning the tables on a sleepless enemy.

Night attacks have always been distinguished by their nerve-racking effect upon the attackers. It can be imagined how much more nerve-racking the use of every such business as on pints and needles all the time. They are like the old shell-back.

"An old shellback sat on a windswept ocean pier carving toy ships with a jackknife, and about the edge of the pier played half a dozen urchins. The water was deep and turbu-

"What did you do that for?" a bystander asked the old shellback.

"Wall, cap'n," he replied, "it ain't that I care a tinkers darn whether they fall in or whether they don't. What I can't stand is the gosh-hanged uncertainty."

LESS SUFFERING AMONG THE POOR

WIND IS TEMPERED FOR THE SHORN LAMBS THIS THANKS-GIVING.

FEWER IN ACTUAL DISTRESS

Mild Weather Has Made Less Work
retary Lambdin Talks.

Although there will be from 250 to 300 names on the list of poor needing the assistance which Secretary William Lambdin will prepare in the Thanksgiving distribution, the poor in the city this winter are suffering less than in several years.

Secretary Lambdin states that this is in a measure due to the mildness of the present winter. Many are subsisting without help this year who would have been in desperate straits a year ago had they not received donations of coal, food and clothing.

Better Immigration.
However, the number of those "on the ragged edge" has been cut down for other reasons, says the secretary, who attributes it chiefly to the policy pursued for the past several years by the Waco charitable organizations. The organizations have been discouraging all immigration from the country where families are not in good circumstances and have done as much as possible to get farm work for those who were already in town.

Cites an Example.
The most difficult task set before him, according to Secretary Lambdin, is that of combating the idea that anyone can find work in the city, no matter whom. Only yesterday the secretary was approached by a man from Miami county who came here at considerable expense with his wife and children, taking his last nickel to buy breakfast on arrival here. He had passed through cotton fields all along his route here, where work was freely offered, but had continued on looking for something "softer." The secretary convinced him that his best policy was to return to the country.

New Cases Coming In.
By efforts in this direction, as well as by more direct means of relieving suffering, the poorer element of the city are being continually diminished, but new cases come in from the outside, and usually keep the comparative total about the same. This is the first time for several years that the authorities have been able to proclaim a decrease.

(London Chronicle.)
For exquisite handwriting few persons have ever excelled that prince of forgers, James Townsend Seward, alias "Jim the Penman," whose deeds were the sensation of 1857. His forged checks and bills of exchange were so cleverly executed and so numerous that they were beginning to affect the security of the entire mercantile community. Lawyers were favorite victims, a copy of their signatures being obtained by one of his confederates employing them to recover fictitious debts. "Jim the Penman" was at last captured through treachery, tried and transported for life to Australia.

Thanksgiving Thoughts by Preachers of Waco

MAN IS DEPENDENT.
By Rev. J. J. Creed, Pastor Elm Street Methodist.

When we inquire for the origin of the Thanksgiving celebration, we find that the institution in all its essential features was observed by the Jews as the Feast of the Tabernacles, which was one of their three great feasts. It occurred at the end of their harvest and was the occasion when they assembled under the boughs of trees or in booths rudely constructed of brush and for seven days worshiped God in sacrifices of thanksgiving and praise. The Jews seem first of all people to recognize that their agricultural products among other things are the direct gifts of God.

The church in some form, has kept up this feast all along. The German Protestants have a feast which they call Harvest Home, which answers pretty well to our Thanksgiving. In this feast they come together bringing their viands and have a general thanksgiving to the great source of all these blessings.

But so far as our American Thanksgiving is concerned, it began with the settlement of the Pilgrim fathers in New England in 1621. Not only at their landing the preceding autumn, 1620, had they been prompt to return thanks to God for a successful voyage, but also upon gathering their first harvest they proclaimed a general thanksgiving for the blessings received. This custom was kept up with more or less irregularity by both the Plymouth and the Massachusetts Bay colonies and finally spread to other settlements.

In the days of the revolution, there were frequent thanksgiving occasions for victories gained and for what seemed to them providential guidance. Also during the civil war, Mr. Lincoln called for several thanksgivings, and ever since 1863, each president has by special proclamation set apart the last Thursday in each November as a national holiday for public thanksgiving.

The intention is that all regular labor shall cease and the churches throughout the land generally hold some kind of religious service on that day.

The question may very naturally arise, what is the occasion for placing such emphasis upon this matter of giving thanks? And the answer I would suggest, is two-fold. It is found first in the fact of man's absolute dependence upon God; and second in the fact of God's infinite supply of all our needs.

Man Is Dependent.
That man is an exceedingly dependent creature is a very patent truth to every sane person. He starts on this journey of life, with his very existence handed him as a gracious gift. So to begin with his stock in trade is not his own. His very life bud is the unselfish presentation of a benign creator. As long as this fact remains and is recognized by man it alone is sufficient to forever preclude from him a spirit of arrogance and independence. If he were a self-existent being, then he might boast of himself as being somewhat, but since he must have been given the merest beginning of his existence, he is immediately by virtue of that fact put under lasting obligation to the giver of life. But, having been put into possession of this wonderful treasure we call life, his independence is far from being established. Put into possession of the machine think you that he can operate it? Nay, verily, no more than an untutored savage from the forests could operate the most complicated modern steam engine. In either case, self-destruction would certainly result.

The most helpless of created beings is said to be a human being in the infantile state. If left to itself it must surely die. The ox when given life, bounds off to the water brook and drinks of its refreshing waters for drink and thereby begins the work of self-nurture immediately. The colt will run a swiftest race on the third day of its existence and very early begin nibbling at sustenance in a strikingly independent fashion but not so with man. He is the pitiable victim of gross helplessness and instead of going after his food must needs have it brought to him. Start him fairly well on the journey of life, say one, three or a half dozen years, and you would think he could make it alone. But alas! you must early discover that he is utterly dependent. For instead of acquiring ability to stand alone he becomes a prey to what seems to be even greater difficulties as he proceeds.

So in every department of life the individual must depend upon God and a Godly environment for his life and progress. If man undertakes to measure his resources physically, he becomes so insignificant that he is made to cry out to the source of all power for help. If he would boast of bodily strength, the horse can beat him, ten to one. If he desires to put in motion a freight car he is put to the inconvenience of depending upon the power of steam. An engine will do more in a day than he could in a year. As a rule, if he would transfer himself across the city, it is such slow progress walking that he commits himself to the carriage of electricity and advertises again his dependence upon external powers.

Mentality Is God's Gift.
If we change the point of view, and look into man's mental possessions, his case is no better. Everything he has is on the debit side of the ledger. His mental life no less than his physical life is a gracious gift from God. All the knowledge that we possess from the most limited to the most learned has been gathered from abroad. We did not produce it. Helpless and the merest blank were we to begin with intellectually, but somebody came to our rescue and all the many blessings of mental life became ours.

If you look at man from the moral point of view, he is still a dependent creature. He is not a very moral creature by nature. He is rather the opposite. He is inclined toward evil. Whatever his attainments may be morally, for them he is indebted to grace. And for all the boasting of moral men about their morality, to their individual nature is not to be given the credit for their moral virtues. The credit is due to some extraneous influence. It all finally reverts back to God.

When you come to view him socially, man presents no better front for independence. How could he be a social creature in and of himself alone? In the very nature of the case, he is dependent upon some one with whom to associate, for the development of social qualities. "As iron sharpeneth iron, so doth the countenance of a man his friend." It requires the social environment to develop the real man. A hermit is not a normal man. He is a most abnormal character. So remember you are socially entirely dependent.

Well, then, if man is so very dependent a creature, there must be some provision for supplying all his many needs. And so there is. A gracious providence has made abundant provision, on the condition of man's humble submission to God's ruling, to supply all his deficiencies. "My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory, by Christ Jesus."

While we are weak and frail in these bodies, God has all power in Heaven and on earth and he has wonderfully helped us in the matter of health and strength this year. I doubt if we appreciate health as we ought. Some who have been sick and may be near to death's door possibly may, in some parts of the world people have died by the thousands with plagues and pestilence and famine; but very few of our people have died. Several millions of our fellows in the orient are said to die annually from hunger; while we have bread enough and to spare. Shall we not be devoutly thankful for these temporal blessings? Many this very moment are doubtless shivering from the blighting cold, but we have raiment sufficient. Thanks be unto His name. While it may not have been a year of so great abundance, as formally, yet we have made enough for necessities and we should be thankful for the harvest that the Lord has given us. There are very few destitute people in our city, perhaps a smaller percentage than in other cities of equal population. We scarcely know how well off we are in this rich, big, land belt.

God Meets Necessities.
God has also met our mental necessities. That you have a mind and are able to think is no small blessing. The superintendent of one of the asylums for the insane of Texas reported that during a recent year they had enrolled over two thousand patients. We ought to be thankful that we are not imbecile, and that our state is so well prepared to care for those who are. On the other hand our schools have enjoyed great prosperity. The public schools are growing better all the time. No child in this country need go without an education in the common school branches at least. And going beyond this, we have sufficient academies, colleges and universities to provide facilities for all who wish to take higher education. It was not always so. Many of our fathers were compelled to make the race of life without an education. The world is full of good books and the mind of the young need no longer go hungry for wholesome literature.

In the next place, it is with deep gratitude that we should approach the thought that God has allowed us to live in a community of people of whom it may at least be said that their morals are good. We perhaps have no desperadoes among us, and I hope it is true that there are no exceedingly wicked persons in our midst. It is an incalculable blessing for to be fortified with an army of good neighbors and good associates for ourselves and our children. This, I thank God, we have in Waco. One extremely evil person in a community is a great menace to the morals of all the people. Socially we are also a very greatly blessed people. Of course I understand that most of us know very little of what goes for society in the great cities and yet this is, I think, a case where ignorance is bliss. We have literary clubs, fraternities in abundance, and perhaps best of all the social functions of our churches, in addition to the social pleasures around the family altar. All these meetings furnish opportunities for the formation of friendships that will last through eternity. Let us think more of our friends. God sent them and they are blessings that will merit our devout thanksgiving on this occasion. And now in conclusion, I think the best of all is that God has been with us another year. His stately blessings have been in our midst. Almost every hamlet in the land has a church; every community a school house, and every neighborhood scores of homes with peace and plenty. In these three institutions the church, the school and the home, God delights to dwell. The God of our fathers is with us yet. All in all, it has been a great year, and in view of all this, let us thank God and take courage. A genuine thanks-

ITS UNDERLYING PRINCIPLE.

By Rev. W. P. Witsell,
Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church.
One of the most important things about any event or occasion is its underlying principle. What then is the basic idea of a national Thanksgiving day? As an aid to arrive at the answer to that question we ask, first, for what are we to render thanks? We might reasonably reply, for our harvests, our progress, prosperity and peace and for all other blessings of this life and the assurance of the more abundant life to come. We ask again, to whom are we bidden to give thanks? To ourselves, saying within our hearts that our power, the might of our hands and the wisdom of our minds have gotten us our wealth and all good things? Indeed no! We are bidden to give thanks unto God, the giver of every good and perfect gift, and that, too, not with the lips alone, but from the very ground of the heart.

These, then, are the basic thoughts of this great national feast day—God recognized as the center and source of all things good for men, man's dependence upon God and his real, high manliness rightly and truly manifesting itself in a gratitude so sincere as to seek expression in worship, service and generosity toward God and man. The Thanksgiving proclamations of the presidents of this republic from Washington to Wilson have contained these fundamental truths, thus officially declaring this nation to be God-fearing and God-honoring people. Our fathers were in dead earnest in enunciating such thoughts. Are we, their children, being true to them and their principles and the noble truths underlying the setting apart of this day, when we use it only as an occasion for eating, drinking and sporting without ever going up to God's temple to render him praise or even in heart or home reverently thanking him for all the benefits which he has so graciously bestowed upon us?

WHY GIVE THANKS.

By F. N. Talvin,
Pastor of Central Christian Church.
The basis of all gratitude is a lively sense of benefits received. What the world needs today is more of the spirit of appreciation. The American people have abundant grounds for thanksgiving.

FRANCE IS INDIGNANT

TRADE JOURNALS SAY TARIFF
DEMANDS OF UNITED STATES AN INSULT.

Would Allow Examination of Importers' Books by American Authorities.

Paris, Nov. 22.—A storm of indignation has been raised by the demand, under Paragraph U of the new tariff bill, that treasury agents of the United States be allowed to examine the books of French importers. Thus far the foreign office has refused to the United States this privilege. Other objections to the new American tariff seem susceptible of adjustment, but it is said that on this point the French government will not yield.

The French trade journals declare that the demand is an insult. It assumes, they say, that the French exporters are committing frauds. That a foreign government should ask for its representatives the right to enter French business houses and demand to see the books, assuming that the firm has committed perjury in declaring invoices before an American consular officer is abhorrent to French ideas.

In this connection the French press recalls the Linoiges affair of 1911. At that time the United States treasury department sent three agents to inquire into the cost of producing porcelain. The American commission was properly introduced to the French minister of commerce, at whose request the Linoiges manufacturers opened their books to the investigators. Afterward the foreign office complained to the United States government that the treasury agents had violated the agreement that the information thus obtained was to be held in strict confidence.

Should a tariff war result from this situation, it is pointed out that the French people would be the losers. Three-quarters of the imports from America are raw materials, cotton, copper, petroleum, tobacco and hides, which France must have, while the exports to America are almost altogether articles of taste and luxury which the Americans may do without or for which they can obtain substitutes from other European countries.

For "Greater Paris."

M. Delanney, prefect of the Seine, has submitted to the Paris municipal council a scheme for the creation of a "Greater Paris." The magnitude of Mr. Delanney's proposal may be judged from the fact that Paris as he has planned it will be more than six times as large as the present city. The scheme includes a number of novelties notably that no house should be higher than the breadth of the street in front, or the court yard behind it. The plan provides for the widening of 225 miles of existing roads and the creation of fifty miles of new ones. The new Paris will extend some four miles in all directions beyond its present boundaries. The present ring of fortifications, which encircles the city, is to be demolished and the greater part of the land thus vacated turned into public gardens. In addition to these it is proposed to create two immense new parks on the north and south sides of Paris, totaling some 840 acres. A number of plots of land also would be cleared of buildings and turned into public gardens. Paris is at present the worst provided of all great cities in respect to parks and open spaces, and is the most overcrowded of modern capitals. It is inhabited by 148 persons to the acre, compared with only 64 in London.

Socialism and Race Suicide.

Socialism syndicalism and strikes directly affect the national birth rate, according to M. Jacques Bertillon. Before the Academy of Moral and Political sciences, M. Bertillon held that the state of the birth rate in numerous districts of France is almost the inverse ratio of the prevalence of socialist beliefs in those districts.

One of the most striking instances in the day proclaimed for the purpose. In 1862 President Lincoln made his first proclamation, naming the last Thursday in November, the same day was named by President Johnson in 1867 and by President Grant in 1870. Since then there has been no change in the day proclaimed for the purpose. In Waco, Thanksgiving Day is generally observed by business houses being closed and services in the various churches. No arrangement has yet been made for a Union service this year, and the several churches will have the services.

Cubist Art.

M. Pablo Picasso, the eminent Post-Impressionist painter, who remained in the south of France, has now arrived at a point where the cubist artist's material has become inadequate as a medium for expressing his aesthetic emotions. The last work of art which he sent to the Paris dealer has a first claim on all the great cubist's production, which is a board on which he had stuck a newspaper clipping, two buttons and a piece of red glass. The dealer apparently did not appreciate the mysterious rhythm of M. Picasso's latest achievement, and—much to the artist's indignation—returned his work to him.

Models for Wedding Gifts.

An interesting custom has been introduced at the house of a recent Parisian society—dining gifts of too bulky a nature to be displayed on the tables at the reception are represented among the other presents by reproductions in miniature. Thus, at a prominent wedding the other day, a tiny automobile, a model of the villa to scale and a delicate model of a grand piano were set out with the names of the givers attached to them, to bear witness to the original presents, which could not be shown.

Paris' Daily Tips.

A painstaking statistician has estimated that tips of one kind and another paid daily in Paris to waiters, janitors, cabmen and the thousand and one others whose income is largely derived from this source, amount to $41,500, or nearly two cents per head of population. In the provinces, however, it is calculated that this expenditure amounts to only about half a cent per person per day. The grand total of all the tips given in France is placed at $64,420.00 a year.

Tango in France.

The tango is causing some discussion in official circles in France. The winter season is at hand and no proclamation has been made thus far about the admissibility of the Tango at official and diplomatic functions. Considerable pressure has been brought to bear in official quarters at the Elysee, the senate, the ministry of foreign affairs and at various embassies by enthusiastic tangoists, but so far the only response has been "we

Waco, Texas,

Dear Sir:

We beg to call your attention to the enclosed advertisement appearing in both our morning and afternoon papers, claiming the Blue Ribbon was given "for the Best Coffee and Display at the Cotton Palace by Judges of Good Coffee."

This statement we claim is unfair to all other brands of Coffee exhibited on the grounds, as we understand the awards in this instance were given on display only, the same as we were given the Blue Ribbon on best display of groceries, no expert test having been made by the Judges at any time of any food product shown. If such test was made, may we ask at what time and by whom made?

Thanking you in advance for an early reply,

Very truly yours,

Attention Mr. Gohagan.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your letter of November 20th regarding a blue ribbon awarded to the Coffee exhibit, beg to advise that the ribbon was not given on the quality of the goods, but for the display only. The judges did not make any test on the quality of the goods displayed in any of the booths, and therefore could render no judgment on same. Messrs. Gentlemen:

Agreeable to your request, the undersigned wish to state that we were the judges at the recent Texas Cotton Palace, and by instructions from the management we passed on the booths of the different articles represented at the Cotton Palace and awarded the premiums on the appearance of the booths, and not on the quality of the goods exhibited.

beneficent parent of the human race."

There were a few other subsequent presidential proclamations appointing thanksgiving days on great and special occasions, but it was Abraham Lincoln who made our present national Thanksgiving day a fixture by issuing annual proclamations.

In 1862 President Lincoln made his first proclamation, naming the last Thursday in November, the same day was named by President Johnson in 1867 and by President Grant in 1870. Since then there has been no change in the day proclaimed for the purpose. In Waco, Thanksgiving Day is generally observed by business houses being closed and services in the various churches. No arrangement has yet been made for a Union service this year, and the several churches will have the services.

Preparing Proclamations.

It is a mistake to suppose that the annual Thanksgiving proclamation of the president of the United States is always written or dictated by the president. As a matter of fact about all the president has to do with it is to sign his name to it. The actual composition of the Thanksgiving proclamation is the work of a specialist in the state department at Washington. He reviews the year after year, to express practically the same sentiments in an entirely new way or at least without repeating verbatim anything that had been said in previous Thanksgiving proclamations. And, as may be readily understood, this task is becoming more difficult with each successive annual call for a day of rejoicing and thanksgiving.

The first Thanksgiving proclamation ever issued by a president of the United States was signed more than 116 years ago by George Washington and the original document is preserved in the library of the state department. The first draft of the proclamation started off: "In the calendar which afflict so many of the nations." But Attorney General Edward Randolph did not approve of such a gloomy beginning for a Thanksgiving message, so he changed it to "When we review the calamities which afflict to many other nations, the present conditions of the United States offers much matter of consolation and satisfaction."

Even this sentence was changed, rewritten, corrected, revised, modified and altered several times by various members of the cabinet, to whom it was submitted, but it was finally allowed to stand as shown in the original proclamation.

Any one who desires to see all the Thanksgiving proclamations issued by presidents of the United States will find them preserved in red leather volumes in the state department. While George Washington originated the custom, many of his immediate successors did not follow his example, and it was not until Abraham Lincoln became president that the annual Thanksgiving as a November holiday became a regular institution in the United States.

Canadian Thanksgiving Day.

Thanksgiving day is peculiarly an American institution, but the Canadians have taken up the custom. With them the date is usually the last Monday of October, possibly because their winter comes earlier than with us. They place the festival on Monday, instead of Thursday, on the theory that a day taken out of the middle of the week breaks up the week; also that it does not allow time to travel to family reunions. This year the Canadian Thanksgiving day fell upon Monday, October 28.

The Jewish Thanksgiving.

The day in the Jewish calendar that mostly corresponds with our American Thanksgiving is that of Purim, which is in commemoration of the saving of the Jews from Persia from Haman, mentioned in the book of Esther. The festival falls on the 14th of the Jewish month of Adar. This usually places it in March, but on account of the extra month thrown into Jewish leap years the dates varies. Purim is a day of thanksgiving with the Hebrews. It is a day of great general rejoicing and religious observance. It is also the occasion for family reunions and for giving presents to relatives and friends.

The bird of Thanksgiving day is more of a national bird than the lordly eagle. The eagle is to be found a native of Europe and Asia as well as America, but the turkey is all our own. He was not known until a full century after Columbus. He was first seen in the Carolinas, and when specimens were carried over to Europe they were hailed as "the most beautiful present made by the new world to the old." It is a curious fact, however, that considerable error prevailed as to the true source of the fowl. Dr. Samuel Johnson gravely defined the turkey as a "large domestic fowl, supposed to be brought from Turkey." Europeans had peacocks, venison steaks and even canary birds' tongues, but what were any of these as compared with the American turkey?

Collected.

Little Lucy had been dutifully entertaining the visitor until mamma came down. The visitor's conversation had been mainly confined to an extended series of questions, and Lucy's to an equal number of short answers. "Where were you born, Lucy?" the good lady asked. "In New York." "What part? Tell me." Lucy thought a minute over the riddle of existence before she answered this. Then she answered: "I think that all of me was born in New York."

TOO INDEFINITE FOR DR. BLOCK

WHEN DEAD MAN RESIGNS HE MAY SUCCEED HIM.

GRIM HUMOR IN THE SITUATION

Example of Confusion To Be Found in Official Records of Some Departments of Government.

Another of those amusing discoveries in connection with official records of the various departments of the United States government kept at Washington has been quite inadvertently turned up by Dr. I. Block, the local volunteer weather observer, whose forecasts appear daily in the Waco Morning News.

The humorous disclosure comes in the form of a very dignified letter written to the Waco weather man by W. E. Williams, assistant chief of the United States weather bureau, in which Dr. Block is advised that when E. H. Hall, formerly attached to the service in the capacity of co-operative observer at Waco, resigns the bureau will be pleased to consider an application from the weather man of The Morning News for appointment as his successor.

The grim humor of the situation lies in the fact that E. H. Hall has been dead since August 15, 1913.

How the Title Came.

The correspondence that unfolded the situation began when Dr. Block received from the chief of the weather service, some weeks ago, a lot of official literature for distribution at the weather exhibit of the Morning News at the Texas Cotton Palace. The material was received in a sealed package addressed to "Dr. I. Block, co-operative United States weather observer." Desiring to learn whether the bureau wished him to use this title, Dr. Block wrote to the weather bureau chief, making a direct inquiry.

Assistant Chief's Reply.

A week later he received the following: "Mr. I. Block, Waco, Tex.: "Sir—Referring to your letter of the 11th instant, I will state that addressing official correspondence to you as a co-operative observer of the weather bureau by this office was an oversight, as you have not been so designated.

"We appreciate the character of the work you have been carrying on and should be pleased to assist you as we have done in the past, but we must decline to allow you the privilege of using the title 'official weather observer' on your stationery, or otherwise.

"If at any time the present co-operative observer at Waco, Mr. E. H. Hall, decides to give up the work we should be pleased to consider your appointment as co-operative observer in his stead, provided you are willing to perform the service required by such co-operation."

"Very respectfully,
(Signed) "W. E. WILLIAMS,
"Assistant Chief of Bureau."

Dr. Block's Reply.

When the Waco weather man recovered from the first shock the communication gave him, he sat down and indited the following reply:

"Waco, Tex., November 22, 1913.
"Chief of the United States Weather Bureau, Washington, D. C.:
"Dear Sir—Your letter of the 17th instant, signed by Mr. W. E. Williams, received, and I wish to state that I did not care for the title 'Official Weather Observer,' but I would be proud of a title of some kind and would guard it with honest, conscientious efforts.

"Knowing the restrictions that were placed upon Mr. E. H. Hall as official observer, in regards to giving out data, I did not make application for this place when Mr. Hall died, on August 15, 1913. You state, 'If at any time the present co-operative observer at Waco, Mr. E. H. Hall, decides to give up the work,' etc., etc. I knew Mr. Hall in his life among men, and he certainly was a nice man, one of Nature's noblemen, and from my knowledge of him and his character, I now believe him to be resting in the bosom of his Father in Heaven. Therefore, in his present environment could be of any service to the dwellers on this mundane sphere, I cannot see.

"I wish in this letter to thank the United States weather bureau for their kindness, consideration and courtesy extended to me.

"Very respectfully,
(Signed) "I. BLOCK."

GETS 688 STOLEN HORSES.

Remarkable Record Made by Western Association as Thief Catcher.

(Guthrie (Okla.) Dispatch to New York Sun.)

The Oklahoma Anti-Horse Thief Association, which has just closed its annual state convention at Blackwell, has during the past thirteen years of its existence recovered 688 stolen horses, with a total value of $78,200.

This is in accordance with the report made by James H. Kirkwood, of Guthrie, who has been president of the association almost all the time since its organization in this state.

Kirkwood announced that other property recovered by the association reached the total of $119,568. The number of horses stolen from members of the organization during the thirteen years has been 419, and 327 of these were recovered, and, in addition, 251 horses were returned to owners who were not members.

During the same period, Mr. Kirkwood said, the number of horse thieves captured has reached 374, of whom 241 were sent to the penitentiary to serve sentences and 112 to jail. Kirkwood personally has recovered during the time 16 head of horses and 68 head of cattle. He caused the arrest of twelve men and was instrumental in sending nine of them to the penitentiary.

Missouri and Oklahoma are now on an equal footing as to the number of horses stolen, the ratio in both states being four horses stolen in each 1000.

Before the anti-horse thief association was organized the theft of horses was a very common occurrence, but the number of stolen animals now grows less year by year. Pennsylvania has the lowest record of any state in the union, with only one horse stolen in every 1500.

Baritone Soloist Discovers at Rehearsal That His Throat Is Affected. Gossip of Classroom.

In the latest compilation of statistics upon the attendance at Baylor University it is shown that a total of 1531 students have matriculated during the past twelve months, including the summer quarter and the medical college at Dallas, a gain of 91 over the record of the year before. This information was contained in the annual report of President Brooks made to the Baptist general convention of Texas at Dallas yesterday.

401 Reside in Waco. A little more than one-fourth of this number, or 401, reside in Waco, and 1457 of them come from Texas. McLennan county, outside of Waco, contributed 92 pupils, while the territory embraced within a radius of 50 miles from Waco sent a total of 612 pupils to the university. The territory within 100 miles of Waco sent 905 pupils.

From Cities and Counties. Geographical distribution of the attendance from counties in Texas has been as many as eight pupils shows the following results: Bell, 38; Bosque, 22; Brazos, 14; Brown, 8; Burleson, 10; Collin, 27; Cooke, 5; Coryell, 21; Dallas, 27; Denton, 7; Eastland, 10; Ellis, 18; Erath, 5; Falls, 27; Grimes, 8; Hale, 9; Hamilton, 22; Harris, 11; Hill, 49; Houston, 5; Hunt, 14; Jefferson, 8; Johnson, 50; Jones, 8; Limestone, 15; Llano, 8; Madison, 13; Milam, 16; Navarro, 41; Palo Pinto, 7; Parker, 7; Tarrant, 16; Taylor, 8; Van Zandt, 8; Wilbarger, 6; Williamson, 10; and Wise, 27.

Concert Is Postponed. Due to an affection of Harry Spanell's throat, the faculty concert that was due to have been given at Baylor University next Tuesday night, November 25, has been indefinitely postponed. Mr. Spanell was due to appear on the program as a baritone soloist and did not realize until a rehearsal yesterday that his throat would not permit him to carry out his part. He has been forbidden by his physician to sing until he has completely recovered, and for that reason Prof. Hoffman, dean of the music faculty, announces an indefinite postponement of the recital.

Baylor Diplomat Promoted. Interest in Baylor circles was general in the announcement from Washington that John A. Ray, Baylor, 1898, and for several years instructor in modern languages there, but more recently a member of the United States consular service, had been promoted from the post at Maracaibo, Venezuela, to Sheffield, England. Mr. Ray entered the consular service soon after leaving Baylor and his rapid promotion is very gratifying to his many friends here and throughout the state. He was one of the youngest and most brilliant members of his class. His home is at Whitewright, where his parents still reside.

Thanksgiving Observance. There will be no formal observance of Thanksgiving at Baylor further than that the university will take a holiday, attend the football game in the afternoon, with a reception to the students in Burleson hall Thursday night. These are annual functions, however, and the celebration will assume no more than ordinary proportions. Due to the fact that school work will be resumed Friday, few of the students will go home.

At Baptist Convention. President Brooks, Prof. J. L. Kesler, Prof. J. B. Tidwell, Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. T. H. Claypool are among the Baylor representatives who are attending the sessions of the Baptist general convention in Dallas.

Navrathl and His Orchestra. Prof. Anton Navrathl, director of the symphony orchestra at Baylor, took his orchestra to chapel one morning during the past week and entertained the faculty and students with a number of selections. The organization shows considerable proficiency and will give some public recitals after the holidays.

Thanksgiving Tea. The annual Thanksgiving Tea for the benefit of The Home will be held at Te Home, 1711 South Tenth street, Monday afternoon, November 24, from 3 to 6 o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend. No invitations are being issued except through the press. Your contribution, however small, will help bring shelter and comfort to the friendless old women and your presence will bring cheer to their hearts.

Touch of Modern Fiction. (Cleveland Plain Dealer.) Gwendolen Fudge looked out across the lawn that undulated to the cracked concrete 20 feet away and her gaze grew troubled.

A one-cylinder outing car uttered a tubercular cough as it painfully negotiated the nearest corner, a newspaper carrier sat on his wages, laboriously carrying a monkey face on a horse chestnut, a bibulous man halted a prim maiden lady to ask the shortest way out of the dry district.

It was all dull, gray, tiresome. "Why doesn't he come?" murmured Gwendolen Fudge.

She had been married a year, a short, happy year. She thought of it now as she waited in the doorway for the man who was not her husband.

And the grass continued to undulate, and the pavement continued to crack, and the bibulous man caught at the fire hydrant as it came round and sat upon it to hold it down.

"Why doesn't he come?" whispered Gwendolen Fudge.

He had promised over the phone to be a gentleman. Puh, a man's honor! And it was now half past 4.

"This is maddening," said Gwendolen with a despairing gesture. "Men are all alike."

She had met this man but once. He looked truthful. They always do.

And then, as she leaned forward, a light wagon rattled around the corner, a man leaped from it and ran up the winding walk.

"At last!" cried Gwendolen, and met him with outstretched arms.

"From Greening's grocery," he said and handed her a package.

She was giving a little dinner that evening and needed the extra pound of butter.

LACKIE'S PROPOSITION

TO REPLACE SEWER DESTROYED BY 12-TON STEAM ROLLER FRIDAY.

Texas Bitulithic Manager Asks That the City Reinforce the Sewer With Railroad Iron.

"If the city will reinforce the storm sewer with railroad iron, as it should have been reinforced in the first place, I will replace the sewer that was destroyed when the steam roller went to the bottom of it," said T. W. Lackie, the manager of the Texas Bitulithic company, yesterday to Assistant City Engineer Jahn, after the steam roller had been lifted from the hole in the ground.

It was quite a bit of engineering work to get the steam roller out of the ditch. Friday night Mr. Lackie worked with a full crew of men until 1 o'clock, taking off one of the big wheels so as to get it out of the way, and to lessen the weight of the twelve-ton machine.

Moisted by Derrick. Yesterday morning a derrick was built above the roller, and tackle from a Yale block was attached to the lower and heavier side, and the machine was lifted to a level for the fire box. Then tackle was hooked to the rear end of the roller, so that when the blocks lifted, it would throw the machine forward and out of the hole.

Another steam roller with 125 pounds of steam and a forty horse power capacity, was hooked to the front end. As the blocks lifted, the steam roller pulled, and at 12:25 o'clock the big machine was eased out of its hole, and was right side up.

Originally a Brick Sewer. The sewer which was damaged is several years old and was originally constructed of brick. Ten days before the accident occurred there was a cement section, reinforced with steel rods, put in at the alley between Washington and Columbus, on Eighteenth street. Mr. Lackie thinks the reinforcement should have been heavier than the steel rods used. He does not consider that the sewer is the loss of his company, but rather that he will replace the sewer at once if the city will furnish the railroad iron as support.

The Treasure Wilson Saved. A fire broke out one day in Francis Wilson's dressing room at the theatre where he was playing, says the Washington Star.

He had some of his books around him, and in an agony of despair asked himself:

"Which shall I save?" He glanced at his precious Chaucer, at some Shakespearean volumes, when—

"Come, Mr. Wilson," broke in at the door from a fireman, "you have not a moment to lose."

"Yes, yes, coming," replied Wilson. Absently.

"Come, Wilson," cried his manager; "come, get out!"

"All right, all right," said Wilson, and, grabbing some clothes in one hand, he snatched with the other the nearest volume, and ran to the street. There he looked at the huge volume in his arms. It was the city directory.

Her Questions. (From London Answers.) Miss Muffitt had recently joined the "Band of Sisters for Befriending Burglars" and was being shown over a prison for the first time.

One prisoner, evidently a man of education, interested her more than the others. He rose and bowed to her when she entered his cell, apologizing for the poorness of his apartment.

Miss Muffitt could not help wondering how this refined man came within the clutches of the law. In fact, as she was leaving his cell, she said:

"May I ask why you are in this distressing place?"

"Madame," he replied, "I am here for robbery at a seaside hotel."

"How very interesting!" said Miss Muffitt. "Were you—er—the proprietor?"

At the Theatres.

At the Auditorium: Monday night, "Soul Kiss." Tuesday night, "Julius Caesar."
At the Crystal, "Arizona," a play.

The plot of the "Soul Kiss," which with attractions at the Auditorium Monday night, concerns a French sculptor who has a burning desire to locate a rather odd kiss, and one that comes from the soul. In his search for the maid who possesses this rare kiss, he is assisted by J. Lucifer Mephisto, a thoroughly up-to-date devil, who has $1,000,000 to do the work. This Satan, as portrayed by Thomas S. Van, is a grumpy Mephisto, not at all Sardanio, but an entirely new type of devil, not at all suggestive of the many varieties already dished up to the theatrical palate during the last decade.

In order to aid his friends in the search for "The Soul Kiss," he summons from Hades a number of well known and notable ladies, Carme, Marguerite, Cleopatra and a Gibeon "Bathing," all of whom are kissed by the sculptor and repudiated as lacking the rare quality for which he searches. Finally, he abandons the advice of J. Lucifer and, upon meeting "Coppelia" finds his fate, and at the same moment discovers "The Soul Kiss"—the kiss that rises from the heart to the lips.

Incident to the sculptor's meeting with these various ladies, are many witty lines, catchy songs and tuneful melodies. The most popular dance, divertissements of Orpheus, Hesperia, and the "Hunt Dance," "Sir Roger de Coverly," "The Soul Kiss" and "The Money Ballet," in which she is assisted by a coterie of clever dancers. The whole is enhanced by being given the most sumptuous new scenic and costume spectacle, and from this dazzling background of light and color, stands out like some rare and brilliant jewel, what dances into the hearts of her audiences, which creates a lasting memory.

Faversham's "Julius Caesar."

The all-star spectacular production of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" is that which William Faversham will present at the Auditorium theater for one night, Tuesday, November 25.

A dearest Mr. Faversham has succeeded in humanizing and modernizing the immortal drama of Caesarian politics and strife. His presentation is intended primarily to suit the Catholic taste of the ordinary intelligent quick-witted theatergoer intent upon an evening of stimulating entertainment.

Mr. Faversham has succeeded admirably in attaining his purpose, first this all-star cast headed by Constance Collier and R. D. MacLean, in all, fully 150 persons take part in the production.

A Shakespearean presentation approached from such a viewpoint is decidedly novel. To say that Mr. Faversham has brought "Julius Caesar" "up-to-date," so to speak, does not mean that he has discarded time-honored traditions. It does mean that he has endeavored to bring a new and quickened the appeal of a stirring Shakespearean drama by presenting it in such a clear, vital, intelligent manner that its appeal is instant to every type of theatergoer.

Perhaps an idea of the briskness that characterizes the presentation may be gleaned from the statement that the longest wait between acts is five minutes. Truly this is an innovation in Shakespearean productions, which for generations have been notoriously "druggy" as regards enactments.

The settings were all designed by the late Sir Alma Tadema, the most famous painter of Roman subjects that the modern world has produced. The settings furthermore were all painted from the Tadema designs in the London atelier of Joseph Barker, who also painted the "Kismet" scenery.

In his selection of color schemes Tadema has emphasized the Oriental influences that were making themselves felt in Rome at the time of Caesar. In both the architecture and the street life.

Mr. Faversham's own conception of Anthony has not only marked a signal advance in his own artistic growth but has also been subject to this modernizing influence.

"ARIZONA" AT THE CRYSTAL.

Thomas's Great Play, Revived by the Movies, in Waco This Week.

Frequent repetition of the prophecy of an eminent educator, ventured a decade ago, that the "movies" soon would be the chief factor in providing the great mass of the people of every civilized land with amusement that is educating and uplifting, is still indulged in, but it is no longer necessary. The motion picture long has arrived and has received the O. K. of America's leading critics as an educator of as high class as it is popular as an amusement. The screen in the low-priced amusement house now does all classes of people a distinct service as the complement of the stage in the

CURRENCY TO SENATE

BILL WITH AMENDMENTS PROPOSED BY DIVIDED COMMITTEE BEFORE BODY.

Measure as Passed By House Is Made "Unfinished Business" of Upper Body.

Washington, Nov. 22.—The administration currency bill with the amendments proposed by the divided senate banking and currency committee was laid before the senate today and the debate will begin Monday. The two factions of the committee, headed by Senator Owen and Senator Hitchcock, filed their divergent views on the administration measure and the bill as passed by the house was made the "unfinished business" of the senate.

Senator Owen will fire the opening gun in the debate for the administration forces. His speech probably will occupy the entire day. On Tuesday Senator Hitchcock will head the attack on the administration's proposals in a speech setting forth the position of his faction of the committee from Monday until the end of the special session, a week off. Senators will make set speeches discussing the currency reform problem.

Although the administration finally has succeeded in getting the currency bill before the senate, other obstacles which threaten to delay the measure are apparent. On December 1 the senate will set aside the currency bill and by agreement take up the bill giving San Francisco the right to secure a water supply from the Hetch Hetchy valley. The measure will be disposed of by December 6, but on December 8 the senate will take up a bill giving the president authority to build a government railroad in Alaska. This may set aside the currency bill.

Senate leaders were not inclined to predict when the currency bill might be finally acted upon, but it was declared certain that its consideration would run well into next year, probably up to about the first of February.

"THE DELINQUENT BOY."

Subject of Address to Be Made By G. T. Kenney.

G. T. Kenney, superintendent of the Seabrook school for boys, the institution which Harris county has provided for its delinquent lads, will be in Waco next Sunday and will speak Sunday morning at the Central Presbyterian church on "The Delinquent Boy."

At 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon he will attend a round table conference at the Y. M. C. A., where he will seek to answer any question which may be propounded to him by those who are interested in the boy problem.

Best Trained "Boy Worker."

Mr. Kenney is probably the best informed and best trained boy worker in Texas, having had ten years experience as state probation officer and assistant state superintendent of the State Training School at Red Wing, Minn., one of the best institutions of its kind in this country. For the past three years he has been at Seabrook and has been up the only institution of its kind in this state. He knows the boy thoroughly, is in thorough sympathy with him and has sent word that he will be at the service of the Waco people interested in boys on the occasion of his visit here next Sunday.

To Be Entertained.

Arrangements are being made to give him proper entertainment while here and all persons who are interested in the boy problem, especially the delinquent boy, are cordially invited to hear him next Sunday morning and attend the round table conference in the afternoon.

Sidewalks at Copperas Cove.

Copperas Cove, Tex., Nov. 22.—People from all walks of life, business men, lawyers, preachers and women participated in a two days' sidewalk building campaign here during the present week in which they succeeded in building over a mile of permanent sidewalks. All volunteered their services and gave their labor without charge for the common good. Farmers living near town became enthused and hauled gravel in their wagons for the workers to use. A number of school girls not to be outdone in patriotic endeavor, pitched in and helped unload the wagons. The results of the campaign are plainly apparent in the long stretches of good sidewalks that now exist where none were in evidence before.

Houston Would Hold Election.

Houston, Nov. 22.—Mayor Campbell this afternoon told the advocates of the abolition of the segregated district that the city now had the referendum in its charter and they could petition for an election and that, pending such action, he did not feel the council should repeal existing ordinances. The election will be asked for, it is said.

BOYCOTTS EGG DEALERS.

Chicago Clean Food Club Wants Prices Reduced.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—In an effort to reduce the price of eggs from 47c to 32c a dozen, members of the Chicago Clean Food club today began a two weeks' boycott of egg dealers.

Last year, when the prices of eggs soared, we had an egg sale," said Mrs. Carolina Bley, president of the club. "This year we cannot do it because the wholesaler is at fault and not the retailer."

A. and M. Football Mop.

College Station, Nov. 22.—Fair maids from all sections of the state will gather at the A. and M. college on Thanksgiving day for the annual Thanksgiving ball, given by the cadet corps of the college in honor of the football team. Cadet committees have been at work for several weeks preparing for this ball, and practically all of the upper classmen will have a "friend" from back home present at the ball.

WILL TEST THE ALLISON LAW

Section of Statute Relative to Sending Advertising Matter into Dry Territory Questioned.

Austin, Nov. 22.—Since the Allison liquor law became effective the attorney general's department has received numerous inquiries regarding certain sections. Two tests, it is known, will be made of various sections. Those embracing the interstate shipment of liquor when shipped for personal use and the other relative to the sending of letters and circulars into dry territory.

As announced formerly the question of whether the law is operative with reference to the shipments of liquor for personal use will be thrashed out in the courts. The quickest means for a court decision is via the mandamus route and it is most likely that mandamus proceedings will be instituted against some railroad or common carrier to compel them to receive liquor consigned into dry territory for "personal use."

The section of the law with reference to the sending of letters and circulars into dry territory for soliciting purposes also has been brought up for a decision. The mail cannot be stopped and the senders from outside the state cannot be punished, therefore, the only test remaining is the liability of a state resident using this method of soliciting by mail to punishment under the act.

Turkeys Shipped From Temple.

Temple, Nov. 22.—Receipts of turkeys are unusually large and brisk this season, being at least one-fourth greater than last year, wagon receipts considered. In spite of the increased supply the price remains stationary around 12 cents for undressed birds. A local firm is shipping a refrigerated express carload of dressed birds daily to the eastern markets, the principal shipping points being Boston, Philadelphia, New York and Chicago.

Car in Demand.

Temple, Nov. 22.—A freight car arriving over the Santa Fe railroad today containing canned goods for a local wholesale grocery firm billed from San Francisco, was no sooner unloaded than it was again pressed in service and filled with a shipment of household effects destined to Fort Lauderdale, Fla. C. Kuschke, who has resided in Bell county for almost a life time, being the emigrant. The car will thus break cargo but one time in its trip across a continent.

CASTLE HEIGHTS

Come Out Sunday To Make Selection

Salesmen on the grounds all day Sunday to show the property. Remember, there are only 97 lots in Castle Heights, it takes 97 people to buy every lot in the entire addition. Call us today over old phone 746, new 1883 and let us show you Castle Heights. To reach Castle Heights go straight out on Austin or Franklin streets, you can't miss it.

West End Values Advancing Rapidly

No other section of Waco shows such a steady advance in values as does the West End Section. Lots that sold two years ago at $250, sell from $1000.00 to $1250.00; our prices only $250 to $575 each. There are but 97 lots in Castle Heights. We will leave it to you if they will last long at these prices in this high class district.

LOTS $250 to $575—$10 Per Month
CLOSE IN, HIGH ELEVATION, OVERLOOKING WACO

The Logical Home Place

Castle Heights elevated to overlook the entire city is the logical high-class home place of Waco. It occupies the high hill surrounding the Castle and running east to 28th street.

A Close In Addition

Castle Heights is the closest in high-class property now on the market. Just 15 blocks from the business center. Just the right distance to make it a pleasant, permanent neighborhood. A location where your ground will automatically increase in value with the growth of the city. It will be a permanent home place for all time to come.

High Elevation

In purchasing a homesite there is one chief consideration, namely—ELEVATION. It insures health and comfort. Castle Heights is elevated to overlook the entire city; the south breezes strike there first. It places your home above the dirt, dust and grime of the city. It is above the smoke line—up where the air is pure and the sunshine bright. Really for an ideal homesite, elevation is the most important consideration.

LOTS $250.00 TO $575.00

where lots have sold as high as $1,500. It has been practically impossible to buy lots anywhere around the Castle on Austin and Franklin streets—wealthy people bought up all available lots, realizing that it would be only a short time before lots would be bringing from $2,000.00 to $5,000.00 each, being the value of lots on Austin and Franklin streets within a few blocks of Castle Heights. Castle Heights will be the district of high priced homes. The pace has been set by the $10,000 to $60,000 homes already built right alongside of Castle Heights. Alfred Abeel has just completed the Castle at a cost of $60,000. Allen R. Sanford's $40,000 home is about completed, just two blocks from Castle Heights. Prof. Hill's $10,000 home adjoins Castle Heights. J. B. McCauley's $12,500 home is just across Franklin street from Castle Heights. This is the class of homes that are being built in the Castle Heights district.

Easy Terms, 5% Cash $10 Monthly

No Interest or Taxes for Two Years

High Class and Restricted

Restrictions on improvements in a new addition are value insurance. It keeps the addition up to the high standard. Every one buying in Castle Heights has assurance that the improvements to be built next door must conform to the restrictions. Restrictions in Castle Heights are common sense and not prohibitive; they conform to the latest edicts in civic beauty. POSITIVELY no lots will be sold to negroes, and never will be. No saloons, no stores can ever be built in this addition. CASTLE HEIGHTS IS THE DESTINED HIGH CLASS NEIGHBORHOOD OF WACO.

Every Lot Tagged

This permits of a selection of every lot, by everybody, at the same time there is not a person in Waco who will not have the opportunity of making a choice selection. Every lot will be tagged, the tag gives the price and terms. Pull the tag and hand it to any salesman on the ground accompanying with it the first cash payment. Take advantage of the liberal discount and pay more money. GO OUT AND MAKE YOUR SELECTION.

MAYES STATES HIS PLATFORM

EDITOR OF BROWNWOOD BULLETIN ANNOUNCES FOR GOVERNOR OF TEXAS

HE IS A FRIEND TO EDUCATION

Declares Himself a Democrat, a Progressive and a Prohibitionist. Is for Business Methods.

Austin, Nov. 22.—Will H. Mayes, editor of the Brownwood Bulletin and lieutenant governor of Texas, has issued the following address as a candidate for governor:

It is impossible within the limits of what is usually called a "platform" for a candidate to express his views fully on public questions; but, in conformity with usage, I make this brief announcement of principles for which I stand, expecting to follow it up more in detail in my public addresses.

I am a democrat, a progressive, and a prohibitionist; a democrat because I believe not only in the right of the people to rule, but in their capacity to do so; a progressive because, while principles are eternal, new conditions demand new expedients; a prohibitionist because I believe that the suppression of that which tends materially to increase vice, immorality and crime is within the police powers of government.

As a democrat, a progressive and a prohibitionist, I would, as governor, feel any reactionary effort to repeal the wholesome laws already enacted in this state, such as the stock and bond law, taxation of intangible assets, the franchise laws, the inheritance tax, the gross income tax, the anti-free pass law, the bank guaranty law, our insurance laws, our public land laws, laws for the protection of employees, our pure food and public health laws, enactments to safeguard the purity of the ballot box, the direct primary law, our pension provisions, the little boy law, our homestead and property right laws, our wholesome local option laws, and enactments regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors.

Some of these laws need amending, but such amendments should be enacted with a view to strengthening them and carrying into effect the purposes for which they were enacted.

Education.

The peace, the prosperity and the happiness of a people depend largely upon their opportunities for education, and higher education is essential to our continued progress. The public school is the school of the masses and the hope of the state, and I favor making our common schools efficient by an increase in the length of the term, by including in the curriculum instruction in manual training, domestic science and art, and the elementary principles of scientific agriculture, by the payment of adequate salaries to teachers, and by using every effort to place a good common school within easy reach of boys and girls in the humblest homes of the state.

I favor liberal appropriations for the support of the University of Texas, the Agricultural and Mechanical College, the College of Industrial Arts and the State Normal College, such appropriations to be based upon the needs of the different schools and not upon any favoritism.

Elementary Institutions.

It is agreed that it is the duty of the state to make proper provision for the insane, the feeble-minded, the blind and the deaf and dumb. I favor such appropriations for the institutions for the care and training of those unfortunate as will enable the state to properly discharge its duty, safeguarding their health and lives and affording every means for their improvement and education.

Penitentiaries.

As governor I would actively endeavor to have inaugurated a thorough business system of conducting our prisons and penitentiaries and, at the same time, would keep in view the fact that one of the chief objects of punishment should be the reformation of the offender. I believe that our penitentiary system can be made self-sustaining without relaxing humane treatment of prisoners. The state should not endeavor to derive a profit from prison labor, but should be able to make it pay for its care.

Corporations.

Corporations are essential to the fullest development of a country, the conduct of great enterprises, and much of modern business, and should be encouraged, fostered and protected in all of their legitimate functions, and should be treated in our laws with exact fairness and justice. But they are the creatures of the law and should be made to obey the law under which they are created and exist. The enactment of such laws it should be kept in mind that corporations are created for the people, and not the people for the corporations. "A private monopoly is indefensible."

Agriculture and Stock Raising.

Agriculture and stock raising must remain the substantial basis of our material prosperity. I favor such legislation and such appropriations of public funds as will wisely foster these great interests and their kindred branches of industry.

Labor.

That "the laborer is worthy of his hire" is not only the language of Holy Writ, but is the view of every man whose vision is not obscured by selfishness and greed. The laws should grant to labor all of its just demands, and throw about it every reasonable protection.

Judicial Reform.

While we are making some progress in reform in judicial procedure, we are behind the world in our methods. I see no reason why the business of our courts should not be conducted in the same common sense and expeditious way as is other business.

State and Local Self Government.

I believe that laws that concern only a particular county, municipality or community—such as local school and road laws and municipal charters—should be left to the exclusive control of such county, municipality or community. The people of such localities are capable of administering their purely local affairs without the interference or dictation of the legislature. I also favor the adoption of such measures as would enable the people, with wise safeguards, to more directly control the affairs of their state government.

The Liquor Traffic.

I favor constitutional state-wide prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors, and until such prohibition amendment is placed in our constitution, favor prohibition by local option and the strengthening of our local option laws wherever found necessary.

Taxation.

Taxation should be as low as is consistent with efficient and economical government and so adjusted as to work equal justice to all.

Good Roads.

Good public roads are essential both for marketing the products of the country and for the pleasure of the people. While pleased with the progress made in some sections of the state in building good roads, I favor experimenting to a limited extent with the use of state convicts in road building with a view, if found expedient, to the greater use of convict labor on the roads.

I believe that the same strict business method should be applied in every department of the state government that are used in the large business concerns of the country that all financial transactions of the state should be handled through the same channels, and that approved systems of bookkeeping and auditing should be adopted by the state for each department and institution. While I believe that the state should pay adequate remuneration for services rendered, I also believe that adequate service should be demanded of every state employee. As governor I should make it my business to see that every department of our public service be conducted with that same degree of efficiency and economy that characterizes successful business institutions.

Executive Duties.

The constitution clearly defines the duties of the executive, legislative and the judicial branches of the state government and they should each exercise their prescribed functions with due regard to the rights of the others. While freely exercising his prerogative in advising the legislature, the governor should not attempt to dictate its actions. As far as possible he should co-operate with the legislative branches and with the different departments of the state government.

Upon this brief outline of measures favored by me, I respectfully submit my candidacy to the people of Texas.

WILL H. MAYES.

Scott Met Scott.

(From the New York Herald.)

The following Scotch tale is one of President Woodrow Wilson's favorites: A Scotchman was strolling through the market-place in Glasgow one day, and close at his heels followed his faithful collie. Attracted by a fine display of shell and other fish, the Scot stopped to admire, perhaps to purchase. The dog stood by, gently wagging his tail, while his master engaged the fishmonger in conversation. Unfortunately for the beastie its tail dropped for a moment over a big basketful of large live lobsters. Instantly one of the largest lobsters snapped its claws to the tail, and the surprised collie dashed off through the market, yelping with pain, while the lobster hung on grimly, though dashed violently from side to side. The fishmonger, with indignation, then turning to his prospective customer, he bawled: "Mon! mon! Whistle to yer dog; whistle to yer dog!"

"Hoot, mon," returned the other complacently, "whistle to yer lobster!"

An electric fan has been specially designed for drawing outside air into a room in cold weather and passing it around a steam or hot water radiator to be warmed.

TO GIVE A TEA TO BENEFIT HOME

LOCAL CHARITY WHICH OBSERVES THANKSGIVING WEEK EVERY YEAR.

OLD LADIES ARE CARED FOR

Public Is Invited to Attend Affair Monday to See Practical Work of the Home.

Following an annual custom the ladies who are directing the affairs of the Home Association will serve tea at The Home, No. 1711 South Tenth street, Monday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, this being a Thanksgiving feature which has been observed for twenty years.

Mrs. Edward Rotan is president of the association.

The history of the organization shows that in May, 1892, Miss Rotan gathered into her home a few from among the ladies of Waco whom she felt would be interested in a work which lay near to her heart, the establishment of a refuge for those in temporary distress. An organization known as the Home Association was formed and Miss Rotan, now Mrs. Frederick Peterson of New York city, was elected president and Miss Kate Fisher, who has since taken the veil and devotes her life to good works, was the first secretary. Two years later a charter and the right to conduct business as an association was secured.

At first the home consisted of a rented cottage on Franklin street and the work was largely that of caring for babies and children while their mothers worked out. But the work was continually enlarged and feeding the hungry became one of the lines of work. During the first six years of the home's existence, the record shows that 3500 people were ministered unto in some form, some of these received merely a meal or night's lodging, while others were both housed and fed for several months at a time. Often entire families were taken in when they had been unfortunate in the loss of their home by fire, debt, lack of employment, etc. Abandoned children or children whose mothers were ill or unable to care for them have always found a haven in the home until a home of position could be provided.

Boys Its Own Location.

As the work progressed the present location on South Tenth street was obtained and other features added. At present there are several old ladies more than 70 years old in the institution.

But the chief object of this institution has never been lost sight of and at all times the association stands ready to relieve the immediate wants of those who apply or are sent for the impecunious, some are sent to friends, while for others it plays the part of employment bureau.

The Home is now a comfortable two story building, presided over by a kind and efficient matron.

Present Purpose of the Home.

The object of the Home Association is to administer a form of charity which is not rendered by any other organization in the city, and for which there is imperative need.

First: To provide temporary assistance for deserving women and helpless children.

Second: To act as a permanent home for aged women.

The aged, the crippled, the afflicted, the penniless, abandoned children are all received in the Home, given practical assistance, their bodies nourished, souls comforted and sent forth with renewed hope and courage to fight the battles of life.

Plan of Admittance.

A residence of two years in McLennan county is required of an applicant to become a permanent inmate of the Home.

The general character of each applicant must be passed upon by the advisory board before admittance to the Home is given.

Temporary assistance is granted at the discretion of the matron or at the request of any competent authority.

Rules and Regulations.

No person of unsound mind or afflicted with a contagious disease, will be admitted.

All inmates, when able, are expected to contribute to their support.

A general table will be provided for the inmates, at which all who are able will be required to attend.

Inmates and employees are required to observe in a becoming manner the Christian Sabbath.

How the Home Is Supported.

The Home is maintained by voluntary contributions.

The regular payment of any stated amount entitles one to membership in the Home Association.

Benefits, such as teas and theatricals, are held at irregular intervals to supplement the membership fund.

Grateful acknowledgment is hereby made to those who have contributed in any way to the cause of The Home during its twenty years existence.

The building and grounds are free from debt.

Its aim is to render a kind of assistance not given by any other organization in Waco.

It relieves immediate wants of women and children.

It houses the homeless, feeds the hungry and comforts the forsaken until they can care for themselves.

It is a permanent home for old women of McLennan county.

Just about $1000 a year is all that is expended in this useful work.

The invitation to attend the Thanksgiving tea Monday is general to the public, men and women. The ladies who are interested in the work want the people to see just what is being done.

government, he is known everywhere as a true friend of the oppressed and a staunch defender of the principles of democracy.

Col. Trice was born in Georgia. When a boy he went with his parents to Texas, where he attended the public schools, afterwards completing his education at Soule university. He read law in the office of Judge Sanders in Belton, Tex., attended the law school of the University of Virginia, and afterwards took a postgraduate course at Georgetown university at Washington.

After the expiration of his term as prosecutor Col. Trice was employed to try many important cases, and his work in this respect was a series of victories. He was thereafter appointed first assistant attorney general of the administration of Governor Culbertson, during which time he was regarded as the legal adviser of the executive.

While there he handled all of the appeal cases for the state.

Among the noteworthy cases in which he was successful was that in which he argued for the upholding of the Texas anti-trust law.

Col. Trice came to New York City in 1905 and has been practicing law successfully ever since. His offices are at No. 277 Broadway.

Woman's Book 386 Years Old.

(Topeka Capital.)

Among the many relics shown at the Republic county fair one of the most interesting perhaps was a German book of Luther's sermons printed in 1530 and the property of Mrs. C. P. Carstensen of Belleville.

Mathias Still, an old resident of Atchison, is the possessor of four very valuable antique books, the oldest one having been printed 352 years ago in Cologne, Germany, within forty years of the time when the first book was printed from movable type. The oldest book in the possession of Mr. Still is a New Testament and was printed in 1561 by Johann Quentel. Another book, a Bible, was printed in 1607 by Arnold Quentel, a descendant of the foregoing. A third one is the Gospel of John the Apostle, printed in 1587. The fourth is a history of the Roman Empire, printed in 1571 by Zacharius Muenzer, and was translated into the German language from the Latin of Titus Livius.

The books are in a fine state of preservation. They are very heavy and cumbersome. The largest one being twenty-eight inches long, sixteen inches wide, eight inches thick, and weighing about twenty-five pounds. The other books are about the same size and weight. They are printed on a coarse grade of paper, apparently made from wood fibre, and are bound in crude but serviceable sheepskin leather. Hand carved, movable type was used in the printing of these books. They are illustrated with wood cuts, which show the great skill of the wood carvers of that early day.

The many colored prisms that will be used in the novel and striking scheme of night illumination of the Panama-Pacific Exhibit palaces are of fine cut glass, made in Austria by a process not followed elsewhere. The prisms, known as jewels, are patiently tooled by hand in the homes of the artisans.

INDIANS TELL NO TALES.

Never Turn Informer Against the Men

If the jointists and bootleggers of Topeka and other parts of Kansas had only Indians for customers they would be happy and their law-breaking life would be a long round of joy. The Indian who buys a drink of "40-rod" liquor from a Kansas jointist never tells the police who sold the liquor. He will tell any number of his own people, but not a white man will learn who furnished the booze. It is seldom that the government ever is able to bring into court a man or woman for selling liquor to the Indians.

Twelve miles north of Topeka lies the Pottawatomie Indian reservation, all that remains in tribal form of this once powerful people. At one time the Pottawatomies inhabited all of northern Illinois.

There are two railroad stations on the reservation and no train ever comes to Topeka without bringing from one to a dozen Indians. Many of the Indians get drunk every time they

"We have arrested scores of drunken Indians but not once has one of them ever given us the name or the location of the man who sold him the liquor," said J. W. F. Hughes, chief of police of Topeka. "The Indians will usually work on the rock pile rather than tell the name of the man or the place where they got drunk. They generally won't tell why they refuse to give us this information, but the other day an Indian said he was afraid the supply would be shut off. But we never have been able to make an arrest on information obtained from an Indian. A white man who gets drunk usually tells us where he got the bones

"The Topeka police have never had to fight a drunken Indian, as they often have to fight white men. The Indian doesn't mind being 'pinched' or even being put to work on the rock pile for three or four days."

The High Ideals and Standards

Which we established at the beginning of our business—four years ago—are pursued today with the same rigorous zeal.

We are constantly endeavoring to improve them by adopting new ideas, new improved brands and selling at a price commensurate with these standards. It is gratifying in these days of commercial strife, when the trade is being offered all kinds of cheap food products, which the manufacturer must sell at some price, to know that our quality and methods are appreciated by a large and constantly increasing clientele who realize the importance and worth of our trade marks, embraced in Richelieu and Club House brands. The thrifty housewife knows without persuasion that the above brands carry quality, and argument is useless.

Therefore, when you think of those things good to eat, your thoughts are doubtless connected with The Grocery So Different.

Your Thanksgiving Dinner

To be complete must consist of a variety of seasonable and palatable table delicacies, which are not found at ordinary stores.

We cater to the epicurean, the fastidious. Our buyers are continually in search of all that is new in foreign and domestic pure foods and your appetite will be easily appeased if you trade with us. Not only by fast freight, but also by express do we keep abreast of the latest offerings in new table creations.

YOUR THANKSGIVING MENU will consist largely of the following mentioned items, and if you want a high grade and strictly fresh article, then order of us:

TURKEYS—A big lot of the finest grain-fed fowls ever offered on this market. Both dressed and on foot.

CRANBERRIES—Large, fancy, jumbo berries, very select and superior to ordinary varieties.

PLUM PUDDING—Heinz's and Blue Label.

CIDER—Absolutely pure, Old Kentucky brand.

ASSORTED NUTS—Consisting of fresh walnuts, Brazils, almonds, filberts.

PECANS—Another lot of those large fancy, full-meated Concho Pecans.

CHESTNUTS—For your turkey dressing, Italian and domestic.

CELERY—Giant Pascal, the variety with the big hearts.

MINCE MEAT—Heinz's, in bulk by the pound and in glass.

CHEESE—Over twenty-five varieties for your selection. Unusual display.

PUMPKINS—Richelieu and New York State brand.

RAISINS—Imported London layers and in bulk.

FIGS AND DATES—Importations from the Orient, in bulk and baskets.

BRANDY FRUITS—Consisting of Figs, Peaches and Cherries.

IN FRUITS—We have arranged to have on hand a full stock of the very best Fruits produced, among the list being Florida Pineapples, Manderines, Tangerines, Grape Fruit, Bananas, Jonathan and Wine Sap Apples, Florida and Red Ball Oranges, Malaga and Tokay Grapes.

IN VEGETABLES—In addition to our usual offerings, we have ordered an extra lot of fine Celery, Lettuce, Tomatoes and Parsley.

Try Our De Luxe Fruit Cake for Thanksgiving

You will not have to be urged to buy the second time, after you have tasted one of our De Luxe Fruit Cakes, which we believe to be the very best that money can buy.

Nothing but the very best of everything enters into the baking of the original De Luxe Fruit Cake—Sultana Raisins from Smyrna, Greece; Torelli Citron from Sunny Italy; the finest Cherries from Southern France; Pineapple from the Bahama Islands; Selected French Almonds; Malaga Raisins from Spain; Orange and Lemon Peel from the curers in Italy; Delicate Spices from foreign lands; Texas Pecans; best Creamery Butter, Yard Eggs and the very highest class obtainable Winter Wheat Flour.

With the above ingredients and the great care exercised in the making of De Luxe Fruit Cake, it is little wonder they have so very quickly been classed as the very choicest.

Two-Pound Fruit Cakes ..... $1.30

Three-Pound Fruit Cakes ..... $1.95

The public is cordially invited to hear a program given by the pupils of the Baade-Forkel Institute of Music at the Knights of Columbus Hall next Wednesday, November 24, beginning at 8:30 p. m.

CABINET ASSEMBLES.

Carranza's Advisors with One Exception at Magdalena.

Magdalena, Sonora, Mex., Nov. 22.—The arrival today of Ignacio Bonillas, secretary of the interior in Carranza's provisional government, completed, with one exception, the constitutional cabinet present here, Francisco Escudero, who as secretary of foreign relations was Carranza's representative in the recent negotiations with the American government agent, William Hayward Hale, remained in Nogales.

It was said the entire party planned to leave tomorrow for Hermosillo, and after a brief stay at the state capital continue south to engage in the projected campaign in Sinaloa.

Accidentally Kills Sister.

Sherman, Tex., Nov. 22.—While working with a shotgun, Bunyan Morgan today accidentally shot and killed his sister, Jewel, aged 14, at their home at Collierville.

A Smooth, White Skin That Defies Weather

(From The Woman Beautiful.)

During the coming months of biting winds and intense cold, you who would keep your skin smooth, white and velvety, should turn your attention to mercifully remove a chapped, roughened or discolored surface by gradually absorbing the weather-beaten cuticle, the complexion is kept in perfect condition, and even the beauty of expression appears more pronounced. If your skin is blotchy, pimply, freckled, coarse, sallow or over-red, why not shed it? One course of ordinary mercerized wax, to be had at any druggist's, will completely transform the most unsightly complexion in less than a fortnight. Use the wax nightly, like cold cream, washing it off mornings.

If weather, age or poor health has marred your face with wrinkles, here's good news. You can quickly remove every line by using a harmless, refreshing face lotion prepared by dissolving 1 oz. powdered salicylic acid in 4 pt. which has been filtered, smoother skin, the more youthful appearance, even after one application, will astonish you.

Speaking of Doing Your Christmas Shopping Early

We remind you that the best thing to do is to visit the stores and see first what the various merchants have for the holidays, and then it is much easier for you to make your selections.

We invite you to come and see the vast array of beautiful articles that we have provided for the holidays, including a great many articles that have never been shown in Waco before. We could take up all the space in this paper telling you about these beautiful things, but do not believe this is wise, for you will want to see them anyhow. So we advise you to come and look over our stock from A to Z, and you will have accomplished much towards reaching a decision about what to buy, where to buy it and what it will cost you.

We have marked these goods down to prices that are below the regular and you can make your friends happy by the expenditure of a very little money.

SANGER SCHOOL MOTHERS CLUB HAS A CALL MEETING
Mrs. Fred Peck, president, announces a call meeting of the Sanger School Mothers' Club on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

WILLIAM THRASHER HOST AT A HUACO DINNER

This evening William Thrasher is host at dinner in compliment to the Misses Rather of Austin and Eleanor Blair. This will be one of the Sunday night parties out at the Huaco club.

MRS. MATTIE D. WILLIS HAS STUDENT PROGRAM

One of the last happenings of the week found guests with Mrs. Mattie D. Willis to enjoy a piano student program. This came on Saturday afternoon.

NOTICE FROM HUACO CLUB IS SENT ON SATURDAY

L. F. Cowan, chairman of the house committee for the Huaco club, has sent cards to members announcing that the first Friday of December will find a resumption of the weekly dances at the club.

MORROW STREET SOCIETY HAS WEEK OF PRAYER

Beginning with Monday afternoon the annual week of prayer will be observed by the Morrow Street Missionary Society. Every afternoon except Thursday, beginning at 3 o'clock, a program will be followed at the Morrow street church.

THE EMERSON CLUB RESUMES WITH MRS. E. E. FITZHUGH

After adjournment for the Cotton Palace season the Emerson club is now ready to resume regular bi-weekly meetings. The first comes with Mrs. E. E. Fitzhugh in her newly remodeled home on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

CIRCLE NUMBER THREE WITH MRS. W. N. LAZENBY

On Wednesday afternoon, Circle Number Three, in the parlors of Mrs. W. N. Lazenby, 1821 Sanger, after three o'clock, will be at home to all friends, especially members of the Central Presbyterian church. This will be a silver tea in recognition of Thanksgiving tide.

CHURCH PARLORS TO OPEN FOR THANKSGIVING AT HOME

Among the many observances of the Thanksgiving will come one of a purely social nature among the members of the First Presbyterian church. On Wednesday evening the women of the church will be at home in their parlors. This is altogether a social reception, and every member of the congregation is cordially invited.

MISS STELLA LACY HOSTESS FOR THE MISSES RATHER

In the visit of the Misses Rather to Waco, Miss Stella Lacy is giving a former schoolmate at Gunston Hall, Washington City. In recognition of this former pleasant association, Miss Lacy was Saturday hostess at luncheon for the Misses Rather, together with the Misses Eleanor Blair, Lucetta Crawford, Timolat, and Nancy Lacy.

NUMBER TWO SOCIETY HAS ROUSING SESSION

This Missionary session of the Number Two society on Friday afternoon was brimful of interest, and found an excellent attendance. Mrs. E. M. Dotson, the new president, also Mrs. F. C. McConnell, were just returned from the state convention of Baptist women, and had much to report as well as much interest to arouse. The papers of the Mesdames Morgan, Slaughter and Dotson were all good, while the music of the Misses Giggeworth, Upshaw and their accompanist was one of the enjoyed features on the program.

THE BACHELOR MAIDS PLAY WITH MISS ROWENA STURGIS

The three tables of bridge which form weekly as the Bachelor Maids enjoyed the novelty of a country spin and a game with Miss Rowena Sturgis. Country Club Heights, Friday. The day was chosen owing to the center of attraction for Thursday being the debut party of one of the club members, Miss Lucille Hill. Miss Sturgis awarded her game trophies to Miss Dixon Holloway and to Miss Stella Lacy. Her rooms were freely dressed in flowers and autumn foliage. Miss Beuna Clinton invited the next game.

BROOK AVENUE SCHOOL HAS UNIQUE PROGRAM

At the request of former pupils from Brook Avenue school who are now in the high schools, Brook Avenue will observe a half day homecoming program on Wednesday. In this, the former pupils will contribute the program numbers. Parents have been invited, and the public generally is welcome. If the weather is propitious both indoor and outdoor sport will be in order. This is a unique celebration for the homecoming idea of the Thanksgiving tide, and will mark a banner day for the Brook Avenue pupils, teachers, parents and former pupils.

THANKSGIVING TEA AT THE HOME.

The annual Thanksgiving tea for the Home comes this season on Monday. It is expected that a general outpouring of those interested in this charitable work will be the outcome of general invitation. No cards are issued by the association this season. The women who superintend the affairs of the Home are in the convention. Provision is made for the social hour as well as for the silver side of this coming together. Any liberal person who realizes what practical charity means for the homeless women and the helpless child, will be appreciated. If material response reaches the Home, the hours for the tea are after three o'clock.

THE FRIDAY BRIDGE CLUB HAS RESUMED GAMES

With Mrs. Charles Hamilton, hostess, the members of the Friday Bridge club came together for the beginning of a new season. No changes in membership are reported, the only absentee being Mrs. Ed Sturgis, who is on an extended sojourn in California. In the game with Mrs. Hamilton, the head prize was won by Mrs. J. S. Hill, who is the forthcoming hostess for the club. Mrs. J. D. Willis, a guest, took the consolation trophy. This club will play auction. The members are: Mrs. Hamilton, Hill, W. E. Brazleton, Sturgis, A. B. Cowan, W. R. Hayes, S. E. Stratton, J. B. Cooper, Chester Story, W. W. Pryor, W. J. Neale, W. W. Seley, Erwin Clark and Chapin Seely.

SAINT PAUL'S PARISH TO MEET ON MONDAY.

On Monday evening, as has been announced, the women of Saint Paul's parish are coming together for a special child welfare session. This pertains to the children of Saint Paul's parish, hence includes the interest of the men in the congregation as well as of the women. The arranged program is:

Prayer and hymn.

"The Church's Responsibility to the Young," Rev. W. P. Wittell.

"The Christian Father's Responsibility to the Child in Relation to the Church," Mr. Lee Richards.

"The Christian Mother's Responsibility to the Child in Relation to the Church," Mrs. Baker Hoskins.

"The Call of the Young Men to the Church," Edward Boynton.

"The Call of the Young Women to the Church," Lucille Mayfield.

Music.

"The Boy," Mr. A. J. Flowers.

"The Girl," Mrs. J. W. Hale.

General discussion and resolutions.

MARY WEST CHAPTER WITH MRS. J. H. WOMACK

On Wednesday at 3 o'clock the Mary West Chapter will hold one of its historical sessions. The hostess is Mrs. J. H. Womack, 1601 West avenue, by special invitation. Mrs. W. W. Laster, chapter historian, will conduct the following program: Subject, "Education in the South." Roll Call—Name some institution of learning that flourished in Texas previous to the war between the states. Music—Piano, Miss Daisy Brown. Education and literature previous to the war between the states. Chapter discussion, led by Mrs. George Stubblefield. Music—Voice, Mrs. F. G. Elliott. Education immediately following the war between the states, chapter discussion by Mrs. J. W. Holloway. Music—Violin, Mrs. W. E. Laster. Education in the south at the present day, discussion, led by Mrs. R. J. Alexander. Music, "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," by chapter.

THE PHILO FORMAL BALL WILL BE FULL OF SURPRISE

In addition to all the eclat of a brilliant ball, the opening of the Philo club on Thanksgiving night will be full of surprises. There will be, first of all, the beauty show of the club. Mrs. William Neale and thirteen assistants met on Saturday morning to outline plan for special decorations, supper, and such. In addition, the program will be in four sections, each division finding a cotillion figure. Vernon Willig will lead the debutante surprise, and surprise it surely will be. T. F. Bush and Langdon Laudie will also lead a cotillion. The dances are each dedicated to one of the season's debutantes. The opening promenade will find in the lead fourteen former Philo presidents. These are to be followed by the debutante group, who will precede the Philo directors. In all, it is expected that more than two hundred will be in this promenade. Quite a number of special features, some brilliant, some spectacular, and some fun provoking, will be introduced. Society is all expectation for Thursday night.

A TURKEY DINNER SERVED AT CENTRAL CHURCH

On Thanksgiving eve the women of the Central Christian church will serve an attractive Thanksgiving dinner. They hope to greet all their friends. This will be between the hours of six and eight o'clock. At the latter hour, adjournment will be had to the church auditorium. Reports will be heard from every department in the congregation. Following, one minute will be allotted each department for a vision into the year 1914. From these visions, the pastor, Rev. E. N. Calvin, will consolidate and announce the policy for the new year. A roll of members who have been received into the congregation within the year will then be called. Those who repair to the church parlors, where a committee will present each a chrysanthemum. All will extend cordial welcome, give general introduction, and close the Thanksgiving eve with general good will. Special music will feature this gathering. All members of the Christian denomination, whether in the Central congregation or not, will be cordially welcomed.

THE SOCIAL SCHEDULE FOR THIS MONDAY.

What has happened among the Waco women that so much has been arranged for this special Monday? Ordinarily this is a day vacant of social obligation. For this Monday there will be:

The regular meeting of the Shakers club with Miss Kate Friend, 225 Terrace Row, 3:15 o'clock.

Mrs. W. H. Jones, 1516 Columbus, pours tea for the Misses Chambers and Bruton; 4 to 6 o'clock.

The Women of Saint Paul's parish hold Child Welfare session; 3 o'clock. Donations are made at the schools to King's Daughters' Thanksgiving bazaar.

Annual week of prayer for Austin Avenue Missionary society begins at 2:30 o'clock.

The annual Thanksgiving tea at the Home, 1711 South Tenth; 3 o'clock.

Circle Number Seven of the Columbus Baptist church meets with the Mesdames Leonard Stone and Sidney Gay, 2113 Washington; 3 o'clock.

Ordinary week of prayer begins at Morrow Street church; 3 o'clock.

NEW GIRLS' CLUB FORMED AT REBECCA SPARKS HOME.

Among the recent organizations has come one well worthy of public mention. This is among the enthusiastic young women of the Rebecca Sparks Co-operative Home. The girls gathered in their parlor, and the result of their conference is a club whose object is to cultivate the social, intellectual and the physical side of life. Also, it is intended to create a greater interest and to bring members into personal touch with the activities of the home. Still further, the club will engage in some practical work.

Curtain Sale Continues

The special sale of Curtains, inaugurated last week, will be continued this week, the same sweeping price reductions being in effect. The tremendous selling that resulted from the announcement of this Curtain offer has left us with many odd lots on hand, which we offer now at exactly one-half of regular prices. Come see them.

DRAPERIES MADE FREE THIS WEEK—ASK FOR INFORMATION.

The officers to be selected are, president, two vice presidents, a secretary, a treasurer and a press reporter. The Cotton Palace will be hung in the library as the "mascot." Mrs. Allan Sanford and others offered loans from their homes of prints and other pieces. Miss Eleanor Wragg has consented that her pictures remain in this city until after the holidays. So, they will be hung temporarily. Another subject under discussion was the supervision of the art collection for the next Cotton Palace. Mrs. A. H. Newman, president, will have conference with the Cotton Palace directors, looking toward a more suitable place for the art collection another year.

All told, the Art League has taken on fresh enthusiasm, a broader field and an increased membership.

A FRESH ENTHUSIASM PERVADES ART LEAGUE

The meeting of the Art League at the library on Friday was one full of promise. Several new members were enrolled, and several in prospect were reported. The attendance was better than formerly, and all were interested. The league will broaden its scope, hence this session was consumed largely with discussion upon ways and means of promoting this work. It was decided that each present member of the league should solicit associate members, both men and women, whose dues shall further the art sentiment in Waco. The nucleus of the art public art collection is begun, modestly, to be sure, but with determination for more to come. The picture purchased by the league from the Cotton Palace will be hung in the library as the "mascot." Mrs. Allan Sanford and others offered loans from their homes of prints and other pieces. Miss Eleanor Wragg has consented that her pictures remain in this city until after the holidays. So, they will be hung temporarily. Another subject under discussion was the supervision of the art collection for the next Cotton Palace. Mrs. A. H. Newman, president, will have conference with the Cotton Palace directors, looking toward a more suitable place for the art collection another year.

All told, the Art League has taken on fresh enthusiasm, a broader field and an increased membership.

WHAT THE THANKSGIVING WILL BRING TO WACO

The observance of Thanksgiving this season promises to be more general and more varied than in many seasons past. The triple phase of religious worship, home joy and society gaiety, is all provided. The accustomed church service for thanks and prayer for continued blessings will be first in order. Thanksgiving dinners come as the gathering of family to render thanks again, for home, home comfort and home joy. Then arrives the hour for gaiety, for relaxation from the busy days.

Some Special Affairs. Among the special affairs to be mentioned comes the compliment of Mr.

and Mrs. Nelson Smith to their guest, Mrs. Fulgencio, of Chicago. Here Thanksgiving eve will find an assembly of invited guests, married and single, for informal dancing and other pleasures within one of the exclusive homes for an agreeable homestead.

The Progress club opens for its first formal ball. In this all the eclat which has characterized the balls in this club will be followed.

At the Huaco club members will have a special Thanksgiving dinner menu and decorations.

In the evening the brilliant Philo ball takes place. In this, Philo members, with the officers and directors of the Huaco club will form the company, together with society maids and matrons.

At the Central Christian church a turkey dinner will precede a reception to new members.

Many of the teachers will be absent to enjoy Thanksgiving tide, at the State Teachers' association in Dallas.

Several from this city will go to Fort Worth a day later to attend the state conference of Charities and Corrections.

On Saturday following Thanksgiving Mrs. C. E. Smith and Miss Enrique Smith introduce their guest from New York, Miss Esther Cornwall, at a Tango Tea, at the Huaco club.

Special Thanksgiving Story Hour will be held for the children at the Public Library.

THE PROBLEM OF "BLOODLESS INTERVENTION."

There has never been any more warrant for the United States to recognize the belligerency of the "constitutionalists" than there has been for recognition of Huerta and his upper-class mob as a government against which the constitutionalists might rebel. Through this whole business, as to any possible diplomatic status of either faction in this nation's regard, the United States comes up against the deadlock of consistency. If it may not recognize Huerta as the rightful ruler of Mexico, it may not avow by official action that Carranza and his horde are in revolt against a "government." Carranza also demands recognition before he will treat with the United States on any basis for the possible restoration of peace through the ballot route. In its way, this is a stroke as impudent and as significant of designs of personal ambition as was Huerta's response to the Lind overtures and his overthrow of the legislative branch of government.

But even if there has been the slightest excuse for American recognition of the status of the Carrancistas, that excuse is obliterated by the course their warfare is taking. The occupation tactics of Villa in Juarez and elsewhere violate every rule of "civilized warfare" even as many phases of the Balkan struggle were violations of these, and with even less justification. If any justification at all can be put forward for breaching the most ordinary dictates of humanity as emphasized by the nations' conferences on the arts of war. The means by which Huerta came to power were abhorrent. The United States has refused to recognize a government that is founded on murder and violence. But the slaughter and rapine ordered by Villa after his taking of cities in his own land are still more abhorrent—for this is civil strife. Carranza, as the head of the rebelling force, must be held answerable for the conduct of his generals.

Nor will Carranza lay down arms pending the determination of a legal election any more than Huerta will efface himself from the government in the capital so that a legal election may be arranged for. More than ever it has come to the pass when the United States either must permit the struggle in Mexico to go forward both unhampered and unchecked by its suggestions for peace and await the result for insistence on constitutional action by the victor, or it must prepare for intervention as "bloodless" as may be without further delay. Hale's conference with the Carranza "cabinet" came to nothing, as was expected. Carranza, like Huerta, wants either formal support of the United States or the chance to get arms nearer home, from over our border. This is all the situation comes to. And it cannot be many days before the United States must determine either to act on the course of intervention and international policing, or permit the factions unimpeded opportunity to carry on their war for control of the republic. Lately it has been made unhappily apparent that either side may not be depended on to prosecute that war without barbarism, and on either side patriotic motives and examples of them are well nigh obscured.

The National Grange still does not come across with the blueprint, re its criticism of the appointment of Secretary Houston. Just what is the "true farmer spirit" that President Wilson has "failed to grasp?"

CO-OPERATION FOR THE NATION'S TRADE.

The chamber of commerce of the United States is submitting to a vote of its members the question of approving or rejecting certain recommendations made by a special committee of the chamber with reference to proposed enlargements of the activities of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of commerce. The recommendations of the committee are substantially in accord with the recommendations made by Secretary Redfield himself in a letter to President Wilson, explanatory of the present scope of the bureau and of his aims for amplifying its usefulness, and Washington Post finds that the most important recommendation is that there should be created a corps of commercial attaches, to be officers of the department of commerce, and be stationed at embassies and legations, four of them to be stationed in South America. It is believed that these attaches would be able to gather information not easily accessible to consuls or commercial agents—information which may involve governmental plans and policies usually worked out under the cloak of diplomacy. The leading commercial nations maintain commercial attaches in the capitals of their rivals, and these attaches, having access to diplomatic confidences, are often of invaluable service to the industrial interests of their own countries. They watch the commercial field as their ambassador or minister watches the diplomatic field; and in many instances they are of powerful assistance to their governments in diplomatic negotiations affecting commerce and navigation.

Another recommendation is that the force of commercial agents should be increased, with particular reference to the development of South American trade. Secretary Redfield will ask for an appropriation of $100,000 with which to develop this trade, through commercial agents or otherwise. This figure seems to be entirely too modest, in comparison with the millions spent in behalf of the farmers and the hundreds of millions spent at Panama for commercial facilities, but perhaps congress is not quite ready to give more to the upbuilding of commerce. Certainly there should be no hagglings in congress over this insignificant appropriation.

Various other recommendations are made by Secretary Redfield and endorsed by the committee of the national chamber of commerce, looking to the co-operation of the government and the trade organizations of the country in building up foreign trade. The members of the national chamber are expected to approve these recommendations by an overwhelming vote. Thus there will be presented to congress, for the first time, a concrete expression by the business interests of the country regarding the practical way to go ahead and utilize the benefits of the Panama Canal.

Will it Repeat?

Preparations for the dispatch of three German warships to South American waters are commented upon in German naval circles as a movement that would make the vessels available for service in Mexican waters should developments in that quarter make their presence desirable.—Washington Post.

It is not to be considered that men of war of other nations would be any more welcome in waters patrolled by the United States ships as a feature of international "policing" by the United States. If this shall be the eventuality in the Mexican situation, then in waters where the United States was prosecuting a naval warfare. Let's hope Germany will recall Admiral Dewey's brusque message to her naval officer in Manila bay and obviate the least unpleasantness if it becomes necessary for American vessels to take charge of the Gulf and west coast ports of the neighbor republic.

"CENTURY SURVEY" OF GROWTH.

A century survey of the growth of the United States in population, commerce and industry is presented in a pamphlet issued by the Department of Commerce. The publication contains monetary, commercial, and financial statistics of this country and, in less detailed form, those of the principal nations of the world and the share which the United States supplies of their imports and takes of their exports.

In area, the United States is shown to have increased from 892,135 square miles in 1800 to 3,626,789 in 1913, and in population from 5,308,483 to 97,028,497, exclusive of the island territories now under the American flag. Meantime the production of basic articles of industry show marked growth. Coal, from 20 tons in 1814 to 477,000,000 in 1912; pig iron, from 54,000 tons in 1810 to 30,000,000 in 1912; copper, from 10 tons in 1845 to 558,000 in 1912; petroleum, from 84,000 gallons in 1859, to over nine million gallons in 1912; cotton, from 73,000 running bales of 500 pounds each in 1800, to 14,000,000 in 1912; wheat, from 94,000,000 bushels in 1840, to 730,000,000 in 1912; and corn, from 378,000,000 bushels in 1840, to over three billion in 1912; while similar increases are noted in other products of agriculture, mining and manufacture.

The tables of the pamphlet show a corresponding increase in foreign commerce. Imports, from $55,000,000 in 1821, to $1,813,000,000 in 1913, and domestic exports from $2,000,000 in 1821, to $2,429,000,000 in 1913, while the share which manufactured products, including prepared foodstuffs, form of the total exports increased from less than $18,000,000 in 1821, to one and a half billion dollars in 1913.

Other statistical data contained in the publication relate to national finance, education, agriculture, transportation, consumption of leading staples, prices, etc., comprising the principal facts, in epitomized form, to be presented in the forthcoming 1913 edition of the Statistical Abstract of the United States.

Exile for the Cause

In Formosa a divorce may be granted to husbands only.—Los Angeles Times.

A tip to the British ministry and the London magistrates and police. England has much colonial influence in Formosa. Obviously not even the meaning of "equal rights" is known in Formosa. If England were to deport the liveliest of the London militants to Formosa, all concerned would benefit. Formosa would receive the blessing of a larger white population for its mental uplift and moral stimulus. The exiles would be proud of such a martyrdom in residence "for the cause" and, we venture, would see to it speedily that divorce be granted equally to the Formosettes. How much England would benefit, every quiet citizen of London could testify. And the strain on Australian bay importations of British undesirables would be lessened appreciably.

ARGUMENT AGAINST A "PARTY" CURRENCY BILL.

"How far the caucus on the currency bill was for conference and how far coercive upon those who attended is known only to party leaders who summoned their followers behind closed doors, but even the appearance of force in this connection is unfortunate," says Detroit Free Press. "Senator Hitchcock, a Democrat, at least regarded the call as a touch of the lash and is resenting it, while Senator Reed, another insurgent in this connection, confirms his colleague's suspicions by declaring that he would abide by any decision that may be reached in this consultation. If it is the intention that senators who enter into the caucus shall be bound by what takes place there and shall subordinate their personal views on the banking measure to those held by the majority of the conferees, the gathering puts an entirely new aspect on the progress of the bill through congress."

The caucus in congress is valuable, in fact indispensable to the proper discharge of the duties imposed on lawmakers where the party system prevails. No other means exists by which the joint action to a common end can be secure, and the responsibility upon a dominant party for legislation compels some such course on subjects within the scope of its platform. But this very fact denotes the character of measures thus handled. They are party policies purely that come before the caucus. And the currency bill is not and should not be allowed to become a party policy, Free Press insists. The subject with which it deals touches everybody. It is intricate beyond almost any other public question. No one man should draft laws affecting the country's money. Yet the effect of a coercive caucus will be to drive through congress one, and only one bill, the exact bill that some one man wrote and that may not be modified in any degree, however slight, by the ideas of others.

"The country needs a currency law, but it should have the best law possible and the concerted thought of all the senators, acting according to the best advice they can secure, is none too competent to frame it. A currency law enacted by a majority of the caucus, over the protest of a minority who should be a majority of the senate when acting with those who do not enter the caucus, would be a deliberate defiance of public opinion. It would stand for an arbitrary domination of the legislative by the executive department. The tariff bill could be passed by that method, because the tariff was expressly a party policy, but the currency bill ought never to be included in such a category."

What is Chocolate?—Bulletin of the federal food and drugs bureau.

The matinee girl's stimulant, the surest passport to a pleasant evening with the object of a gossiping's loving regard, the Parisian's breakfast and an asset of practice for the family doctor when parents are careless as to the whereabouts of a box of the stuff.

Despite the courage of Mrs. Daniels and Miss Wilson, "13" will still be the bugaboo of the generation.

"THE MASTER MIND."

New Playwright's Four-act Thriller is Highest Type of Low-class Drama.
It is 5 o'clock in the morning in the attractively appointed library of a candidate for the governorship of New York. An old flame of the would-be governor's old flame is Jimmy Creggan, a crook whom Chicago is blessed in calling its own. A long remarkable story is the reason why he tried to rob the house. The wife, young, simple and sweet, is on the stage. So is the hero, who would be governor. So is "the Master Mind," who is Howard Kyle, the ultimate unravelling of a tense tale. The audience is enthralled and the air figuratively reeks of sensation. The audience cannot get that a detective who is hoarse is holding Creggan, the crook, outside. The fates of the hero, of his little wife and of no less an one than "the Master Mind" himself are in balance. It has even been charged—and the lady has admitted it—that she was about to elope with Mr. Creggan, but her heart wasn't in it. Remember that her husband is rich, powerful and political and you get the enigma in her design to run away with a Chicago crook and enter. Remember that "the Master Mind" is reaching the very top of a long climb to revenge, for the electrocution in question. Flesh-and-blood-raising potentiality in all this. But—alas for Daniel D. Carter's four-act play and the stammina thereof! In the midst of this stirring situation the pictureque, astute, keen, compelling gentleman who is "the Master Mind"—and Howard Kyle—refers to a large lady who simulates the part of the heroine's mother as "Milwaukee Sadie." Away go the romance and thrill of the climax with a splash!

Carter's play, despite the fact that it has a deal that is trashy, more that is flashy and only a portion of the bare plot that is original, impresses the audience for the opportunity it gives for an occasional bit of brisk, capable acting and for its glimpse to the order of the mysterious, as the dramas of the past decade are fashioned. It is not an high-class play and an high-class company in it would be misplaced. Yet the company as a whole is unusually capable and does much to redeem several strained, forced-thrill situations from utter absurdity. Mr. Kyle, the player, but he overacts the part of "the Master Mind" grievously. This is not altogether his fault—the mystery is a glaringly overdone. He affects in carriage, gesture and pose the Kyle-Bellewish—the "Raffles" action and demeanor, apparently. It is fairly obvious that the writer of this play knew his Conan Doyle, his Hornung and even his Augustus Thomas very well indeed. "The Master Mind" has something of the "Professor Moriarty" about him and his delusions. Yet the story of this play is so strung together and its exciting moments are so ordered that its appeal to lovers of melodrama is distinct and above the average. There was no inconsiderable applause for Mr. Kyle's stay playing.

Something fragrant is the due of Miss Nelson Welch, the wife, in a note of the play that had two performances yesterday at the Auditorium. She is an earnest, dainty, most likeable little woman, a player of marked talent, especially in emotional lines, and her playing of a difficult part is one of the few achievements of the production. Guy D'Ennery, a young man of appearance customarily described as "drawing room," at times evinced an ability to play the part of the public man who is the victim of "the Master Mind" in his scheme of revenge appreciably better than he did play that part throughout the fact act. George Nolan Leary, C. W. Goodrich, Camilla Crume and Harry Leewood were acceptable.

Of course, any play that is tinged with the mysterious and ventures into the somewhat passe lines of melodrama while

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

YOU CAN BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTRE WITH SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and lustrous. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.

preserving the appearance of "tone," these days, is diversion of a not too common sort. The applause that rewarded Mr. Kyle's playing after the third act fairly should be noted as criterion of the success of "The Master Mind" here. As a play, it is the highest type of low-class drama. An entertainment, it appeared to be sufficient.

OPEN MARY CURZON HOTEL.

Queen Mother of England Participates in Ceremony.

London, Nov. 22.—Queen Mother Alexandra and her daughter, the Princess Victoria, formally opened today the "Mary Curzon Hotel for Women," erected at Kings Cross on the north of London. The building is in memorial to America's Victoria, the late Lady Curzon of Kedleston, who, before her marriage was Mary Victoria Leiter of Chicago. The queen mother and princess were received at the hotel by the Duchess of Marlborough, who was Consuela Vanderbilt of New York, and by Lord Curzon of Kedleston.

The function was a private one.

Germany and Latin America.

Marlin, Nov. 22.—The increasing importance of Germany's relations with Latin America is indicated by a provision in the imperial budget of 1914 raising to the rank of full legations the minister residences now accredited to Guatemala, Venezuela and Peru. A German consulate is established at Panama.

Other striking points in the preliminary summary accompanying the budget bill include the increase in the annual subsidy for German schools abroad from $100,000 to $275,000 and an appropriation for the Olympic games to be held in Berlin in 1916. No mention is made in the estimates of an appropriation for a German embassy building at Washington.

U. S. Naval Officer at Paris.
Paris, Nov. 22.—Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, commander of the squadron of United States battleships now visiting European ports, is paying an unofficial visit to Paris.

A considerable number of visitors and bluejackets from the squadron make trips to Paris every day and the authorities today decided to keep open for their benefit the tomb of Napoleon, which is usually closed on Saturdays.

Myron T. Herrick, the American ambassador, has arranged to visit the flagship Wyoming and other vessels of the squadron on November 29.

New Zeppelin Tried Out.

Frederichshafen, Germany, Nov. 22.—The latest of the Zeppelin warships, the Zeppelin VI, ascended from Lake Constance today and started on its first trip, a 250-mile flight to Gotha. The big dirigible is intended for service in the German army. Work is being pushed on the new naval Zeppelin, which is to replace

GIRLS! CLEAN AND BEAUTIFY HAIR NO DANDRUFF--25 CENT DANDERINE

MAKES IT GLOSSY, SOFT AND ABUNDANT.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

NO LENIENCY FOR SPEEDERS

Ordinance Will Be Rigidly Enforced
Henceforward, Recorder Wren
Announces.

Leniency on the part of the corporation court, which has been extended in the past to violators of the city's speeding ordinance, will not be granted in the future.

This is the substance of a statement of City Recorder J. G. Wren, made yesterday and which he will repeat before the meeting of the Waco police force to be held this afternoon. In the past Judge Wren has not assessed a fine for speeding when the accused established that he was not driving at a greater speed than fifteen miles an hour in the business section and twenty miles in the residence section. The ordinance places ten miles an hour at the legitimate rate.

May Reinstate $25 Fine.
It is also understood that the recorder will reinstate the fine of $25 for such violations. This fine was assessed for a time, but during the past month the judge has somewhat let up. That is, the fine has been smaller, of the twelve fines assessed for speeding since October 28 three have been $10 and nine $5. Before that time the fine in one case was $35 and the usual fine $25.

Instructions to Police.
Instructions went out to the police yesterday, however, that the ten-mile-an-hour limits must be observed. At the same time the intimation was given that the fine for exceeding this rate would be larger than lately have been assessed.

According to the police the failure of the court in the past to convict when the rate has been less than fifteen miles in the business and twenty miles in the residence section, has interfered with their work. Now that the ten-mile standard will be enforced, the word has gone out to "pick up" all speeders.

BUFFS HAVE NO CHANCE.

Lloyd-George Tells Reasons for His Belief.

Oxford, England, Nov. 22.—Chancellor Lloyd-George thinks it impossible now for women suffragists to secure passage of a bill granting the parliamentary franchise to women in the British Isles, as they have not a majority of the people behind them and have not captured any political machine. He gave this reply to three deputations which waited on him here this morning and broached the question of women suffrage.

Speakers for the deputation from the Oxford Men's Political Union told Lloyd-George frankly that he, being in favor of votes for women, should wreck the government if it did not grant them the parliamentary franchise.

Lloyd-George replied that he was ready to do anything within the limits of party loyalty to advance the cause of woman suffrage, but for the present he did not feel called upon to go beyond those limitations.

"The militancy of some of the women," said Mr. Lloyd-George, "has set public opinion in the British Isles against them and there is no use to pass a woman's suffrage bill against the wishes of the public."

"As to the forcible feeling of the hunger strikers, the only alternative is to allow them to starve and that is counselled by nobody."

Construction Work Inspected.

A thorough inspection of the Higgins hotel, in course of construction, was made in the last few days by Mr. Higgins with R. L. Reinhardt, secretary and treasurer of the Westlake Construction company, and engineer in charge of the company's work. Mr. Reinhardt spent four days with Mr. Higgins before leaving for St. Louis.

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR SICK CHILD GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

CLEANSES TENDER LITTLE STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS
WITHOUT INJURY.

Every mother realizes that this is the children's ideal laxative and physic, because they love its pleasant taste and it never fails to effect a thorough "inside cleansing" without griping.

When your child is cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember a good liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on each bottle.

Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs." Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other fig syrup with contempt.

49 YEARS FOR JUSTUS

"WHAT I GET FOR SAVING A CHILD," PRISONER'S COMMENT.

Jury Deliberated Only Half an Hour
Before Agreeing Upon a Verdict.
County Attorney Satisfied.

"This is the reward I get for saving a child from a life of shame and debauchery," said O. J. Justus yesterday as he left the court room, where he had been sentenced to forty-nine years in the penitentiary for criminal assault on 13-year-old Amanda Isaac of Fort Worth.

After County Attorney John McNamara had concluded for the state with an eloquent speech, lasting two hours and a half, the jury retired yesterday morning about 11:30 o'clock, and brought in the verdict in thirty minutes.

McNamara Satisfied.

The county attorney expressed himself as satisfied with the verdict as the best that could be obtained under the conditions. Mr. McNamara said, however, "Justus is a contamination to society anywhere outside the Potter's field."

The conviction came as the termination of a trial which has lasted for the past week in the Fifty-Fourth District court. Justus was held without bond about two months ago, after the girl had admitted to the relationship existing between herself and Justus. An attempt was made to decoy the child away soon after the preliminary hearing, but the report that her mother was dying in Fort Worth, but Deputy Sheriff J. M. Morgan, who accompanied her to Fort Worth, discovered the ruse.

Salvation Army Ward.

Captain Edkins of the local Salvation army has been caring for the little girl since then.

Attorneys J. D. Willis and Chas. V. Braun were appointed by the court to defend Justus and made a stubborn fight of his life, succeeding in preventing the capital punishment for which the state contended. After his conviction, Justus divided between his attorneys all the cash in his possession, two new Buffalo nickels.

RUSHING TICKET SALE

DISPOSED OF ALMOST

Royal Welcome at Fort Worth is Promised the Waco Booster Party
Next Wednesday.

A royal welcome awaits the Wacoans who go to Fort Worth on Wednesday to boost this city's campaign for the cattlemen's convention.

W. R. Woodriddle, one of the live wires of the Young Men's Business league, received the following telegram in response to message sent to H. E. Finney of Fort Worth about the excursion:

"In your letter 26th. Wire at once about how many you think will be here, and if you have any idea when train will arrive. We want to give you a royal welcome."

Mr. Woodriddle replied: "Your day letter 21st. We are trying to bring between 300 and 400 and will be there Wednesday, 26th, on special train over the Missouri, Kansas and Texas. Our present schedule shows us to arrive Fort Worth 12:15."

Mr. Finney is the general superintendent of the Amos company at Fort Worth, while Mr. Woodriddle is the manager of the local plant.

Going After Convention.

Wacoans have the opportunity of capturing a very important convention by showing up in great numbers at Fort Worth and with the very small rate quoted, the convenient hours and the pleasant outing that will be afforded, there is no question but that every seat on the special will be occupied by loyal Waco boosters.

Sale Almost 200.

The ticket sales are climbing fast, having at this time nearly reached the 200-point. The special leaves at 9 o'clock from the Missouri, Kansas and Texas depot, Wednesday morning, December 3rd, and will arrive at Waco on Wednesday, December 4th, at 10 o'clock. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on each bottle.

The Fort Worth chamber of commerce, Rotary club, the Ad club of Fort Worth and the Automobile club have combined to entertain the Waco refreshments will be served in the ball room on the sixth floor and a general good time enjoyed. All members of the combined organizations in Fort Worth pledge themselves to make the reception to Waco a successful one.

FEW COMPLAINTS EXPECTED.

Board Will Meet to Consider Assessments December 1.

Few "kicks" are expected from property owners when the board of equalization meets December 1, to hear complaints at excessive assessments. The board will be in session six days from the first to sixth. It will be the final meeting of that body for the year. An assumption that there will be few complaints at assessment is based on the ground that all assessments have been reduced 10 per cent and that many who complained at what they believe to be excessive valuations of their property have already appeared and registered complaints.

Until the board completes its labors the city tax rate for the year will not be definitely fixed. The rate will be approximately determined, however, before that time.

FOSTER IS NO. 1 BOOSTER.

of the Fort Waco Ticket.
City Commissioner J. W. Foster made the initial ticket offered by Team Captain Sam Knight for the trip to Fort Worth Wednesday to attend the livestock show in that city. Mr. Foster, himself a railroad man, might have made the trip without the purchase of a ticket, but the first ticket offered caught the eye of the commissioner. It is expected that as many of the city commission as possible will accompany the Young Men's Business league boosters on their trip. A special invitation to the board was extended through a letter from Mayor Milam of Fort Worth.

The ticket bears the inscription, "To Fort Worth, to Attend the Cattlemen's Convention or 'Bust' for Waco, 1913."

HYOMEI RELIEVES IN FIVE MINUTES

Help Comes Quickly When Hyomei is Used for Catarrh, Bronchitis or Cold in the Head.

Quick and effective relief comes from the Hyomei treatment for catarrh and all troubles of the breathing organs such as stopped up head, sniffles, bronchitis, coughs or that choked up feeling—or money refunded by Fowers-Kelly Drug Co.—You breathe it.

Hyomei as sold by druggists everywhere gives a tonic healing effect to the air you breathe, destroys the catarrhal germs, stops the poisonous secretions, soothes the irritated mucous membrane and makes a marked improvement in the general health.

If you suffer from offensive breath, raising of mucous, husky voice, discharge from the nose, droppings in the throat, watery eyes, or any other symptoms of catarrh, use Hyomei at once. It will banish the disease germs in the nose, throat and lungs and give quick and permanent relief.

The complete outfit, including inhaler, and bottle of liquid, costs $1.00; extra bottles of liquid, if later needed, 50 cents.

KONE'S EXPENDITURES

COMMISSIONER DECLARES MAN-NER OF SPENDING $15,000 IS
ACCORDING TO LAW.

Denies Statement That He is Opposed to Farmers' Union—Says Heartily Favors

Fort Worth, Nov. 22.—Commissioner Kone, of the Texas department of agriculture, being interrogated on the subject, said:

"A few misinformed and disgruntled individuals seem to be trying to get up, what an old-timer in my home section, whose education stopped at B-A, B-A, K-E-R, Ker, Baker, in Webster's blue-back spelling book used to call a blue-bell of a fellow (meaning hulloaloo), over disbursements they declare to be unwarranted, but that in fact are in strict accordance with the ruling in which the attorney general, in a recent opinion, decided that I could use for the payment of the salaries of the office force and office expenses of the department certain of the appropriations made by the Thirtieth legislature for the department."

"Their complaint is pitched on the high and false note that I am making wrongful use of the $15,000 appropriated for gathering and disseminating information relating to marketing, and that I am using the money in a manner opposed to the Farmers' Union—all of which is completely and ludicrously mendacious."

"Some weeks ago I had my chief clerk write President Lewis of the Farmers' Union, that the intention of the department to expend during the two years for which the legislature made the appropriation the sum of $15,000, or so much thereof as may be needed to accomplish the objects for which the money was appropriated is being, or will be, used for anything to which it can not legally be applied. If my desires were that it should be otherwise disbursed (which they are not), they couldn't be realized, because, while I am some pebble on the beach in the state government, there are others; there stands between me and every dollar the attorney general, the comptroller and the treasurer."

The attorney general's opinion advises no misapplication of funds, but is solidly based on the constitution and laws of the state, and, besides, is backed by the exigencies of an imperative and enlightened public policy. Without it, the department would be in a cul de sac and have to close shop. It enables it to keep going along all lines of its work. Even as the matter stands, under the ruling, it will be impossible to maintain the department in fully efficiency unless the governor comes to its aid, which I confidently expect he will do.

As regards the matter of marketing, it has long had my attention and I have given it especially hard and constant study and deep thought during the past four years and have labored diligently, am now so laboring and will continue to work as hard as I can to help evolve adequate marketing systems and methods for the sale of farm products—a problem that, by the way, it takes no prophet nor the son of a prophet to convince sensible

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. It is a waste product of the blood and passes it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to cure. It is caused by the accumulation of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

If you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

people can not be worked out by a gust of gab or the dab of a pen.

"So far as my being inimical to the Farmers' Union or any other farmers' organization in Texas is concerned, my whole record, my every utterance and my acts belie the assertion. My chief clerk and nearly all my field force are members of the Farmers' Union. In the preface of the fifteenth Texas Farmers' Congress proceedings, that the department published and circulated as a bulletin, I mention by name, in words of appreciation and praise, the leading farmers' associations of Texas—the Farmers' Union among the number—and in other bulletins, addresses—everywhere and in every way in my power—I have given them all the cheer and assistance I could. No rod man, or set of men, wishes the department to be any other than that of the whole people of Texas and would resent it in any way compromising its dignity and crippling its usefulness by being dominated and used by any clique—or, for that matter, by the best single organization of any sort nor will it be so long as I am at the head of it. In justice to the millions of good and true men and women who compose the citizenship of Texas, it is but just to say that no 'real' man nor body of men is trying to dominate it."

several years. He has a business address in London in connection with some rubber and other companies and for a long time his mail has been forwarded there from New York.

The two girls are 17 and 19 years of age, while Elliott appears to be in the forties. He is evidently a wealthy man, as he took Hammerwood house, a fine Georgian mansion, furnished, and has been residing there with the girls since March 22 last.

Elliott has been three times married. His first wife died sixteen years ago, leaving two daughters. His second wife, who was Miss Ethel Irene Stewart, an opera singer, obtained a divorce from him in 1907 and it is stated a daughter was born of this marriage. His third was Miss Laura Moore.

The character of the charges has raised a doubt in some quarters as to whether the girls living with Elliott are really his daughters and also as to the sanity of the accused. The police maintain absolute silence on the case and the evidence at yesterday's hearing in the local police court was given behind closed doors. It was sufficiently serious as to cause the magistrate to remand the accused in custody for a week. In the meantime the girls have been taken from Hammerwood house, which is in a secluded spot in the center of 600 acres of ground, and have been placed in charge of a physician.

Dull on 'Change.

New York, Nov. 22.—The past week on the stock exchange was said to be the dulllest for this period of the year in more than a decade. Trading for the five full days aggregated 556,668 shares, a daily average of 112,900 shares, while today's two-hour session contributed 50,000 shares, making the week's total 606,668.

The entire overturn was less by far than used to be recorded on any normal day a year ago, not to mention the active market of 1909, when an output of 1,000,000 shares was a daily occurrence for weeks at a time.

Lack of public interest is the most obvious feature of the securities markets at this time. Increasing ease of money and a seemingly attractive price level have thus far failed to stimulate more than a small degree of investment demand.

The end of the year, when many partnerships expire, is likely to witness many changes in the "street." Some firms and individual operators. Holiday gratuities and bonuses to employees by financial institutions and banking and brokerage houses threaten to be the smallest in some years.

International athletic events of wide scope are being prepared for the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Some of the world's leading athletes are expected to participate in many world's records will be attacked.

To Grow Hair on A Bald Head

BY A SPECIALIST.

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and druggists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics.

bride of Theodore Ray on Thanksgiving eve.

The Kings Daughters will carry Thanksgiving cheer into many homes of the lowly.

The First Presbyterian church women will hold reception for the entire congregation in the church parlors during Wednesday evening.

The Brook Avenue school observes home going of old pupils with special program.

Women who further the Y. M. C. A. work are preparing a Thanksgiving dinner. Boys away from their homes will be the preferred guests.

ANNUAL WEEK OF PRAYER FOR MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Austin Avenue Missionary Society will observe its annual week of prayer beginning with Monday afternoon. Owing to Thanksgiving there will be no session on Thursday. On Monday afternoon the session is at half past two o'clock. Other than these, the members of the society will assemble each afternoon at half past three o'clock in the church. The close of the week will find a Sunday missionary sermon preached by Rev. Knickerbocker. The arranged program is:

On Monday devotional and scriptural, led by Mrs. W. W. Woodson and Miss Ethel Jackson.

On Tuesday, leader, Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth, and Miss Alma Sullivanberger, subject "Orientals and Immigrants."

On Wednesday, leader, Mrs. A. D. Adams, subject, "Papal Florida Coast and City Missions."

On Friday, leader, Mrs. J. B. Cox, subject, "Papal Lands, Negro Work, Dependent and Delinquent Girls."

Saturday, leader, Mrs. N. S. Hill, subject, "Fields for Special Collections, the Ruth Harzrovi, the Sue Benet and the Rio, Brazil, Schools for Girls."

BRILLIANT DINNER PARTY FOR THE MISSES RATHER

A large and brilliant dinner party at the Huaco club was the compliment paid the guests within the O. L. Strubling household, the Misses Marguerite Rather from Tennessee, and Alma Rather from Austin. In all, thirty guests were the assembly to greet these attractive visitors, their first visit to Waco homes. Mrs. Strubling selected as her other honorees, Miss Lucile Hill and her guest, Miss Paul of Kansas. The patronage of the floral picture was in keeping with the autumn and the Thanksgiving tide. The glow of crimson, and the deep beauty of the browns and the golden glow, gave a center mat, reflected in a mirror surface, and guarded by sentinels in crystal vase, chained by a crystal rope. The four corners of the table were set with larger sentinels in vased chrysanthemums, a tribute to the debutantes who were the party to greet the honorees. Fairy lamps gave color tone. Here and there through the menu service the crimson reappeared. In the plate cards the debutante suggestion came through the handprinted figures. It was all, a beautiful table surrounded by gay dinner company as the Huaco club has never seen. At the last course, fresh arrivals were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Strubling in the reception hall, also by Miss Strubling as host. Their guests were presented, a greeting given Miss Hill and Paul when it was all to the ball room for a jolly, informal dance. In this party, for the dinner, were Misses Rather of Tennessee, Alma Rather, Lucile Hill, Helen Paul of Parsons, Kan., Anne Risher, Frances Van Hodge, Marian Duncan, Stella Lucy, Eleanor Blair, Elizabeth Patton, Lucile Crawford of Chicago, Kathleen Timonai of San Antonio, Messrs. Blair Strubling, Bruce Duncan, H. E. Hoke, William Crawford, Jerome Cartwright, William Carpenter, J. R. Webb, J. B. Fisher, W. D. Lacy Jr., Langdon Luedde, William Thrasher and C. B. McCollum, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Hale with Mr. and Mrs. S. M. McAdams.

Society Notes.

Mrs. Edgar Witt will attend the conference of the charities and correction at Fort Worth as one of the appointees of Governor Colquitt. The Mesdames J. C. Lattimore, Edward Rotan, M. B. Davis and E. M. Dotson are also appointees for this convention.

Does it not rather make one desire to say the word unbecoming a lady to have the front veranda swept and made straight just in time for the dodger boy to arrive and deposit his litter?

The women just must come to realize that the Morning News is read the first thing every morning, and not once a week. This means that news must be published the day after it is received and not kept waiting for the following Sunday. Women, please bear in mind that one day is just as widely read as another.

If your household is to have a Thanksgiving happening let the woman editor of the Morning News hear about it. Suppose we have a Thanksgiving column.

The various church circles are about ready to hold their holiday bazaars. We hear of several to come within the next three weeks. This means some pretty things for gifts.

If the little folks are to have their play room in the home, see that linoleum is on the floor, and that a dark paper is on the wall to the height of the children. Above this, have something light, in figures that will attract the child and, above all, have a room full of sunshine.

Mrs. Robert Dupree and Mrs. Chas. Moore are both declining social invitations until their strength is fully regained from their recent detention at Battle Creek sanitarium.

Somehow, some of us can never be satisfied. While the weather man has been perfect in his sunshine and rainy days for the Cotton Palace, we are now complaining because his temperature is a little too high. It is the same old story that, when we get to heaven we will complain because Saint Peter's halo which we think does not quite fit.

The automobile craze has caused some to predict the wane of popularity for the high stepping, handsomely harnessed horse. The fashionable New York horse show, now in progress, refutes this. The report is given that more interest was taken in the harnessed horses than in any other feature of the show. The automobile has convenience in its speed, but it can never supplant the grace and beauty of a thoroughbred.

By the way, did somebody mention mince pie? This means Thanksgiving sure enough.

By common consent Saturday has been relegated for matinee and yet we have fewer attractions on this than upon other days of the week. Had you noted that the social calendar for Saturday is always vacant? Club women must reform, a regard their complaining about the expense of club life. Some time, just count the actual expense for the year. It is not too much. Besides, was there ever a club who did not expend its money for some good cause? We think not. Again, check up on the soda water bill. Does it not come very near that of the club? Was there ever a soda water bill which did anyone else good?

Have you reminded your little ones of the barrels for the King's Daughters at the school? Teach the child the blessedness of giving; also add a worthy cause at this time when we have common thankfulness around our own fireside.

We are remiss in one observance. It is the courtesy of guests to await the signal to be seated and to rise, by a hostess at a dinner party. It is the same thing for a house party at a reception to remain on duty until the hostess gives the signal by leaving her own station to disperse. Really, this hostess should take the party to the refreshment room, her house party follow, and there disband.

A girl who is enjoying a first season out naturally receives more attention than those who have preceded a season. This girl should never allow one attention to draw her small, to go unacknowledged.

Already our cards of holiday greeting are being ordered. We hope Santa Claus has some attractive models for the old, half starved horse comes to take you to the station, refuse to go. This will do more to relieve the situation than any amount of moral suasion. The same at the station; patronize the cash driver whose horses show the best attention.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Goodman are leaving with middle December for New York City. They will be joined by Forest Goodman Jr. from West Point academy for the Christmas season.

One of the most thorough sightseers among the women who attended the Cotton Palace was Mrs. G. A. Hays of Texas, who was the guest of the Mesdames T. D. Hays and W. B. Hays. She writes, since returning home, that she is just coming to realize what the Cotton Palace was. Especially does she commend the wonderfully interesting things in the women's department, and mentions especially the value to her in the careful study of the articles in the Labor-Saving booth. The Misses Scharrf, Galeway and Schwartz remain guests of Miss Bertha Alexander until after the Progress club ball.

If present plans hold, Mrs. J. W. Lee will remain through the winter with her sister, Mrs. T. M. Dilworth, on North Thirtieth.

Mrs. Lee Davis is to continue her visit with her mother, Mrs. S. L. Downs, through Thanksgiving tide, and perhaps until near the holidays.

During the week's absence of Mrs. N. M. Gay in Rockport, Mrs. Leonard Stone matronizes the Gay household.

On Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Mrs. J. W. Barnett, President Heights, is hostess to the Sans Soucis.

It is heard by her old home friends that, since the passing away of Mr. de Hart, Mrs. Birdie Acock de Hart has decided to remain in Tampa, Fla., for the winter, during which time her more permanent plans will mature.

Society may expect another wedding announcement for the third of December.

Mrs. Frank Baird will arrive from Buffalo tonight for a Thanksgiving visit with her mother, Mrs. Flora Cameron, and her sister, Mrs. Edward Bolton.

If all the affairs to come are in the same degree of brilliancy as those which are opening this season, the society scribbles will have to put an extra point upon her pencil and delve into a list of more expressive adjectives.

Mrs. Robert Dupree reports from Chicago as others have done from New York City, that conservative women are positively ashamed of their set when it comes to 1913 dress. Bare necks on the street, exaggerated silts, no longer any suggestion but the reality of form, these are the things which are deplored. Women of Waco, do be conservative. What is styled if it is gained at the sacrifice of modesty; or, rather, what is fashion, for style means suitable and becoming dress. Fashion means what the majority wears regardless of individual taste.

Society Personals.

Mrs. M. B. Willis of South Fourth street is to leave for a few days.

After a delayed arrival, Mrs. Carl Crans of Fort Worth is the guest of her mother, Mrs. W. S. Plunkett, on suburban South Third.

Mrs. W. A. Morrow of West Columbia leaves early in the week for a Thanksgiving visit to her daughter, Mrs. Bryan, in Childress.

Judge and Mrs. W. E. Spell of West Austin are in Shreveport for a few days.

The Mesdames F. C. McConnell of South Fifth and E. M. Dotson of Eighth and Speight have returned from the Baptist convention in Dallas.

Among recent departures has been noted that of Mrs. J. W. McClendon for her home in Austin. She had spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. O. H. Cross, Fourteenth and Austin.

Miss Ben Evelyn McKie of Huaco Heights is at home from school in Austin for a few days. She is accompanied by Miss Glover of New York.

Miss Marian Dilworth of North Thirtieth is spending this week and with her sister, Miss Anna Dilworth, in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Gay of Washington Heights are in Rockport for a week.

Mrs. Carl Geyer of Fourth and Webster reached home on Saturday. She had been the week's guest of Miss Esther Woodward in Marlin.

Miss Mary Kaubach of La Grange is a visitor to Mrs. E. A. Kaubach on North Thirtieth street.

Mrs. D. D. Fairchild came up from Taylor on Saturday. She is the guest of Mrs. J. N. McFarland, Sixteenth and Columbus.

Mrs. W. J. Davenport, who had spent three weeks with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Bailey, took home passage for Munroe, La., on Saturday.

The Misses Rather, present visitors to the O. L. Strubling household, are leaving for Austin with Monday.

Miss Annie Boesch of Whitney has been the week end guest of Mrs. F. E. McLarty on Morrow street.

Monday will note the departure of the Misses Virginia and Marguerite Westbrook to join their parents at San Angelo.

Glass' Credentials Presented.

Washington, Nov. 22.—The credentials of Francis F. Glass, appointed by Governor O'Neal of Alabama to succeed the late Joseph F. Johnston as United States senator from that state, were presented to the senate today by Senator Bankhead. They were referred without action to the committee on privileges and elections, where Mr. Glass' eligibility will be passed upon.

RAILWAYS OF TEXAS KEEN.

"Gym" Classes at Y. M. C. A. Are Gaining in Attendance.

The activity contests at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium have started off with a splendid attendance and a wonderful amount of enthusiasm. The classes are large, being attended by more members than ever before in the history of the Y. M. C. A. The different teams are fighting hard for supremacy and honors and nothing is more gratifying to the secretaries than to hear the lusty voices of the business men as they echo through the building the night they have their first place with the spiders a close third. The system of grading in this department is practically the same as that used in the senior department, the attendance counting most.

Rec to Speak Today.

In the senior department several ted against each other in indoor track leagues have been organized and pit-

These leagues will work against each other until the first of January when the league will banquet the winner. The largest percentage in the contest will be offered for attendance.

Boys' Department.

In the boys' department such leagues as "The Twentieth Century Transportation League," "The Trolley League," "The Insect League," which is subdivided into ants, spiders, bees and flies, have been organized. So far the ants and the bees have tied for first place with the spiders a close third. The system of grading in this department is practically the same as that used in the senior department, the attendance counting most.

Rec to Speak Today.

In the senior department several Slave Traffic," and one of the greatest social workers of the age, will deliver his address at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The lecture is free and all men are invited to be present.

Takes Bryan Hunting.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Little John Bryan Leavitt walked into the office of the secretary of state today, attired in hunting garb and with a little shotgun over his shoulder. Diplomats, officials and secretaries were standing about.

"Grandpa," said the little fellow, "you promised to go duck hunting at 11 o'clock. You're late now. Let's go."

Secretary Bryan looked at his desk and, finding no dispatches of importance, disposed of his callers and obeyed the call.

OLD PEOPLE EVERYWHERE SAY

Peruna is good for Coughs, Colds and Catarrhal Diseases.

Suffered Forty-five Years.

Mr. J. R. Prince, R. R. 1, Tuckaboe, N. Y., writes: "I am not very well satisfied with the picture that I am sending you, but when the reader looks at this picture, if he could only realize that the original suffered for forty-five years, the best of his life, until your kind advice and prescription cured him, he would know from whence these wrinkles came. Next month I shall be 66 years old."

Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. Martha Avery, 28 Graham St., Leominster, Mass., writes: "Four years ago I had nervous prostration. I employed several doctors. One would say I had catarrh of the stomach, and bowels, another nervousness and another enlargement of the liver. My stomach was in bad shape. There was nothing which seemed to do me much good. I tried other remedies, but did not gain any flesh, until I commenced taking your Peruna, which built me right up. I have taken several bottles, but have not taken any now for about six weeks."

I am 72 years old. I never expect to be entirely well or young again, but I am thankful for what Peruna has done for me."

Feels Ten Years Younger.

Mr. Henry Merz, 1624 Upper Mt. Vernon Road, Evansville, Ind., writes: "When I first wrote to you I had bronchial trouble for four years and had tried several doctors, but they could do me no good. I had pain and rattling in the chest, cough, expectoration, especially at night.

"I took Peruna, and can now say that I am entirely well. I feel ten years younger since using Peruna. I recommend Peruna to all my friends, for I was in a bad condition."

I am an old soldier and am 77 years old.

A good tonic that acts slightly upon the excretory system is advisable for old people. We have a great many testimonials from old people who have been assisted by Peruna. Their old age has been made more useful and beautiful by Peruna, so they say. They stand ready to repeat such statements whenever they are asked in the proper way. Everywhere, all over the country, a multitude of old people are to be found who use and praise Peruna.

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

Do You Expect Guests For Thanksgiving?

Are you properly prepared to care for them? Is your Dining Room furniture sufficient for the purpose? It is more than possible that you have needed, and wanted something new, for the Dining Room a long time. A few pieces such as Chairs, a Sideboard, Table, China Case, a Rug will add wonderfully to the appearance of your room, and materially to the pleasures of the Holiday season.

We Offer Unusual Attractions in Dining Room Furniture

If you have little or much to spend in furnishing your dining room, entirely or in part, you'll get a full dollar of furniture value for every dollar spent. This is the only way we know to keep your patronage, if we are fortunate enough to get it.

Don't make the mistake of thinking our talk of best quality means prices any higher than you pay elsewhere. It doesn't. Some of our most regular customers are people who know what real economy is and who practice it.

In buying furniture, never forget this fact—FURNITURE BELOW A CERTAIN VALUE HAS NO VALUE; it is good only for getting your money; it doesn't serve long as furniture. All furniture dealers know this and the honest ones never carry this inferior kind. WE CARRY ALL GRADES THAT ARE WORTH BUYING.

HE WILL TEST METER

TELL YOUR TROUBLES TO COPLEY WHEN BILL LOOKS BIG.

City Electrician Has Been Provided With Devices for Sounding Gas and Electric Meters.

Any meter irregularities? If so call the city electrician.
That official is now prepared to test any gas or electric meter, whenever the renter of that apparatus considers it is not correctly recording the amount of gas or electric current that he uses.
At a cost of $100 the city has equipped the office of City Electrician E. F. Copley with devices that are bewildering to the layman, but by means of which that official can tell exactly the condition of any meter. Mr. Copley finished setting up the apparatus Friday and is now ready for business.

Provided by Ordinance.
Provision for the city testing gas and electric meters was made by an ordinance passed some weeks ago by the commission on recommendation of Fire and Police Commissioner John Dollins. The purpose is to detect any irregularity that might exist in the operation of meters. The ordinance provides that the person making a complaint that his meter is wrong shall deposit $1 with the city. The meter is then tested and if found within 2 per cent of correct the $1 is forfeited to the city. If the meter is found to be fast the company owning the meter and furnishing the "juice" is assessed $1 by the city, and the company is also required to rebate the bill of the complaining customer three months back at the percentage of error shown by the test.

Enforced in Other Cities.
The law is in force in many cities. Some members of the local commission did not favor it on the ground that it made the city a "pushover" between the consumer and the gas and electric company. However, the law was enacted and will be tried out.

For testing electric meters the city electrician is supplied with a portable rotating standard and a portable load and other necessary apparatus. These are taken to the site of the meter to be tested. These apparatus cost $225.

A Gas Meter Prover.
For the gas meter test he has what he terms a gas meter prover. It is necessary for the gas meter to be brought to the city hall for the test. The ordinance provides that the gas company deliver the meter and set up another that has been tested, pending the test.

How the experience will work in Waco remains to be seen. The city is prepared to test any meter if the complainant believes strong enough to put up $1 that his meter is wrong.
At any rate, however, the officials believe if it has no other effect it may compel rigid tests of meters on the part of the company supplying gas and electrical current.

CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH.
Residence of J. D. Pack at Bartlett Destroyed.

Bartlett, Tex., Nov. 22.—Two children were burned to death, another badly injured and their mother, Mrs. J. D. Pack, burned to the extent that her life is despaired of here last night when the residence of J. D. Pack was destroyed. The fire started from an explosion of a gasoline stove.

Through Intercoastal Canal.
Galveston, Nov. 22.—Twenty business men of Galveston will start tomorrow on a trade excursion through the intercoastal canal from this city to Corpus Christi. The trip will be made by boat and will take a week to complete. Every town on the intercoastal canal will be visited.

HUGHES IS THE HOST

ASSOCIATE CHIEF JUSTICE GIVES DINNER TO BRIDE AND GROOM-TO-BE.

Preparations Being Made at White House for Wedding—Hails Announces Aides.

Washington, Nov. 22.—After a day of motoring and tennis, Miss Jessie Wilson and Francis B. Sayre, who are to be married at the white house next Tuesday, were given a dinner tonight by Associate Justice Hughes of the United States supreme court, and Mrs. Hughes at their residence here.

Covers were laid for eighteen and besides Miss Margaret Wilson, the president's eldest daughter, the guests were from the supreme court and cabinet circles.
Mr. Sayre, who has been a guest at the white house since Thursday, went to the Hughes home today to remain until Tuesday. He is a classmate of Charles Evans Hughes Jr. at Harvard law school, who is to be one of the ushers at the wedding. Rev. John Nevins Sayre, brother of the groom-to-be, who is to assist Rev. Sylvester W. Beach of Princeton at the wedding ceremony, also is a guest of the Hughes family.

With the arrival of the bridesmaids and ushers tomorrow, it is expected that a complete rehearsal of the arrangements will take place Monday.

The white house already reflects the animation incident to the wedding. Carpenters today completed the improvised altar in the east room, where the wedding service is to be read, and decorators were at work on the other parts of the house.

The white house is full of kinfolk and relatives and the president and Mrs. Wilson are planning a big family dinner for tomorrow night.

The associate justice and Mrs. Lamar expect to entertain some of the white house guests and members of the bridal party at an informal luncheon Tuesday.

Col. Wm. W. Harts, U. S. A., chief aide to President Wilson, announced tonight the list of aides for the wedding as follows:

Lieutenant Commander Needham L. Jones, U. S. N., naval aide to the president and the secretary of the navy; Dr. Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N.; Lieutenant Richard S. Galloway, U. S. N.; Lieutenant F. A. Todd, U. S. N.; Lieutenant John N. London, U. S. N.; Lieutenant Harold F. W. Ingram, U. S. M. C.; Lieutenant H. B. Clagett, U. S. A.; Lieutenant Charles K. Rockwell, U. S. A.; Lieutenant Beverly C. Dunn, U. S. A.; Lieutenant Jos. C. McHaffey, U. S. A.; Lieutenant Jos. P. Aleshire, U. S. A., and Lieutenant James A. Dorset, U. S. A.
The aides will be in attendance on the diplomatic corps and official guests generally.

Thanksgiving Tea.

The annual Thanksgiving Tea for the benefit of The Home will be held at The Home, 1711 S. Tenth street, Monday afternoon, November 24, from 2 to 4 o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend. No invitations are being issued except through the press. Your contribution, however small, will help bring shelter and comfort to the friendless old women and your presence will bring cheer to their hearts.

Comes Back with Good News.

Mr. Max Goodman of the firm of Goodman & Ellis Liquor company has returned from New Orleans, after a ten weeks' stay attending to their wholesale shipping business. While in New Orleans Mr. Goodman purchased a large stock of standard brands of liquor, such as I. W. Harper, Old Crow Bottled in Bond, Red Top Rye, Tom Moore, Big Springs and many other well-known brands, which are from 5 to 8 years old. The stock was purchased at auction from the New York Salvage underwriters.

These goods will be on sale as soon as they arrive from New Orleans. Watch the daily papers.

No orders solicited from prohibition territory.

"CASCARETS" IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS, SHAKY, CONSTIPATED—DIME A BOX

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Rallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged, constipated bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10 cent box from your drugist will keep your liver active, bowels clean, stomach sweet, head clear, and make you feel buoy for months. Don't forget the children.

CASCARETS WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP.

RUB SORE, LAME BACK

INSTANTLY STOP BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO PAIN WITH OLD ST. JACOB'S OIL.

Rub This Old-Time, Penetrating Oil Right on the Sore Spot—Get a Small Trial Bottle Now.

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it on your back, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled. This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly and surely. It never disappoints!

Earl Cooper Injured.
San Jose, Cal., Nov. 22.—Earl Cooper, winner of several automobile races on the Pacific coast, including this year's Santa Monica road race, lies seriously injured in a hospital tonight as the result of an accident while tuning up his racing car for a contest against time tomorrow.

Cooper's racer blew out a rear tire while he was going at the rate of seventy miles an hour and rather than attempt to make the turn at the head of the race track he shot straight for the outside fence. The car plunged through the fence, described an arc in a grain field and crashed through the same fence. Cooper was badly cut, suffered minor bone fractures and his back was wrenched. At the hospital it was said tonight that he would recover.

A Model Husband.
Manager Terry of the Alamo Theatre announced in the Waco Morning News columns today some very attractive motion pictures for Thanksgiving week. The first announcement is "A Model Husband," featuring Billy House in Germany. This is a characteristic picture and undoubtedly will be viewed by thousands of people.

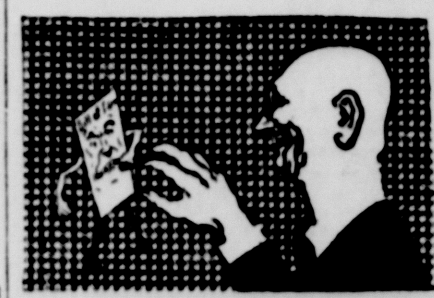

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday "Finnigan's Alley," will be shown. This picture shows an attractive lot of pretty girls in flashy costumes.

Next week he will show at both matinee and night one of the finest and most attractive motion pictures, entitled, "The Moon Girl."

I'M NOT AFRAID OF ANY BILL OF FARE

If You Use a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After Each Meal You Can Eat What You Like.

It does not make any difference what you eat if you will provide your system with the wheateal that digests it. No bill of fare should appall or disgust a man who wants to eat. There is a simple sure way and that is by carrying a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet in your pocket or purse to be eaten after each meal.

"I Love to Get My Hand on a Bill of Fare."

This tablet will go into your stomach like food. It will mix with your digestive juices, strengthen them to their correct proportions. Then it will follow the food into the intestines, where it will again aid in the work of digestion.

Even though you eat too much at any meal, a little tablet taken at the close of your dinner will cause that dinner to be thoroughly digested without harmful effect.

Acute indigestion has no fears for the man who will occasionally use a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

We are a nation of "high livers." We travel exceedingly fast in all we do and eating rich food at all hours has made indigestion and stomach trouble our national disease.

A Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet will make you free from this danger and the best of it all is that you may test yourself at any time and prove this statement true.

Go to your druggist today and buy a box, price 50 cents.

PLANS FOR RIGGINS BANQUET

Arrangements Almost Completed—The Committee Visits the Hotel Building.

The plans for the Riggins banquet to be held on Tuesday night, December 2, on the first floor of the new 10-story hotel, are fast taking shape. The entire banquet committee visited the hotel yesterday afternoon, going over all of the structure with the superintendent, and arranged to have all obstructions removed from the first floor so that this part of the building can be turned over to the decorating committee next Friday morning.

The Texas Power and Light company are looking after the illumination of the building for the committee and it is planned to have it brilliantly lighted for the occasion and in a most unique and novel manner.

Prominent Men Coming.
The out of town guests will include many prominent Texans, over 100 invitations having been issued to men of prominence over the state. The list of out of town guests will be published within a few days. The ladies are also taking an enthusiastic part in the preparations for this affair and many have planned to attend the banquet. The committees selling tickets are going to wind up their work Monday. This will end the ticket selling in all probability, as the committee finds that on account of the space that it will be necessary to hold strictly to the limit of 500 plates.

Tickets Going Fast.
The tickets have sold rapidly during the last few days and requests for fifty tickets from organized labor of Waco have been granted, as well as a request for twenty-five from the Builders' Trades Council, and 100 for the traveling men.

Those in charge of the banquet, it will be remembered, are the members of the directories of the two business organizations at the time the hotel bonus was raised and awarded to Mr. Riggins. These men are putting forth every effort to make the affair a big success and to let the outside world know how splendidly prepared Waco will be upon the completion of her 10-story hotel to take care of her visitors.

To Secure Conventions.
Already the members of the Young Men's Business League have turned their attention to securing conventions for 1914 and 1915. A list of all state and national conventions is being arranged and it is planned to have representatives at these meetings backed up by strong invitations and telegrams to bring them to Waco. Men who have studied the growth of cities realize the potent influence of conventions toward the success of increasing population and bringing new business institutions and with the superior hotel facilities that Waco is acquiring it is believed that Waco will land many of the more prominent and desirable conventions.

Marlin Hotel Leased.

Marlin, Tex., Nov. 22.—Frank Peacock, owner of the New Fannin hotel, today closed a lease contract with Hugh Nichols of Ozark, Ark., for a one year lease on the building and furnishings. Mr. Nichols took charge of the hotel today. He claims that the high climate of the Ozark country is detrimental to his health and that he is seeking a lower altitude.

BANK CASHIER ARRESTED.

W. M. Boylston Alleged to Be Short in Accounts.

Shreveport, La., Nov. 22.—W. H. Boylston, cashier of the Bank of Oil City, and B. B. Terry, an oil operator in the Caddo oil fields, were arrested here late today at the instance of the state bank examiner, W. L. Young, who alleges a shortage of between $20,000 and $30,000 through the operations of the two men. The arrests were made at Oil City, where the bank examiner armed with affidavits and accompanied by an officer, went this afternoon.

Elam to Criminal Court.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 22.—Dr. Wm. T. Elam, the St. Joseph, Mo., physician who last Tuesday shot and killed W. Putnam Cramer of Chicago, waived preliminary hearing today and was bound over to the criminal court, formally charged with murder in the first degree. Dr. Elam's attorneys did not ask their client's release on bond, but probably will next Monday.

Watch Your Pimples Go Away

Then Feel the Ecstasy of Delight When Your Complexion is Made Perfect By Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

Don't worry about your pimples. Stop that heart ache and regret. Just make up your mind that you are going to use Stuart's Calcium Wafers and make pimples vanish.

"I Don't Look Like I Did Since I Used Stuart's Calcium Wafers."

The pores of the skin are little mouths. Each has a sort of valve that opens into tiny canals connecting with the blood. These mouth-like pores become closed. When these canals fill up, the valve refuses to work and pimples, blotches, rash, tetter, liver spots, etc., appear.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers keep the pores open and the canals then carry off the waste matter the blood empties into them.

Don't use cosmetics. They will not hide pimples long, and then they close the skin. You ought to know that the skin breathes in air almost like the lungs. The pores throw off impurities every minute of the day. To plaster the skin with paste, etc., is to actually prevent nature doing her work.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers will in a very short time cleanse the blood, open the pores and remove all blemishes so that your skin will become of a peach and cream kind so much desired.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers can be carried in purse or pocket. They are very pleasant to the taste and may be purchased anywhere at 50 cents a box.

Look at your pimples and unsightly skin in the right way as a disease of the blood and pores and use Stuart's Calcium Wafers to give you the complexion you want.

SAMUEL GOMPERS RE-ELECTED

Philadelphia Chosen for 1914 Meeting of Federation of Labor Over Fort Worth.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 22.—The American Federation of Labor adjourned tonight after electing officers and choosing Philadelphia as the place of its next convention, which will assemble on the second Monday of November, 1914. Philadelphia was chosen over Fort Worth, Tex., the vote being Philadelphia 10,434, Fort Worth 1,432.

The officers elected are: President, Samuel Gompers; vice president, James Duncan; second vice president, James O'Connell; third vice president, Dennis A. Hayes; fourth vice president, Joseph E. Valentine; fifth vice president, John R. Alpine; sixth vice president, H. B. Perham; seventh vice president, John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America; eighth vice president, Frank Duffy, general secretary of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners; treasurer, John B. Lennon; secretary, Frank Morrison.

In this list are only two new men. White and Duffy. Second Vice President John Mitchell and Fifth Vice President Wm. B. Huber retired voluntarily. For delegate to the British Trade Unions congress, W. D. Mahon, international president of the Brotherhood of Street and Electrical Railway Employees, was elected over Councilman Frederick L. Wheeler of Los Angeles by a vote of 14,603 to 3,324. John Mitchell nominated Mahon and Wheeler's vote was looked on as a test of socialist strength.

For second delegate to the British trade unions, Congressman Mathew Wool of the Photo Engravers' union was unanimously elected.

A meeting of delegates was held last night at which it was agreed to place John P. White on the executive board as John Mitchell desired. This removed all talk of opposition to Samuel Gompers for the presidency and his election was unanimous.

President Gompers closed the convention with an address in which he announced that the executive council would meet in Seattle next Monday.

Last Days of Pompeii.

Louis Santikos, manager of the Rex Theatre, advises that in the production of "The Last Days of Pompeii," he has brought to Waco a feature which will be the most costly series of motion pictures that will be produced in this city this year.

The showing of "The Last Days of Pompeii" is taken from the original picture, in which there are over 250 scenes and played by over 10,000 people. The production is in eight reels. This picture comes direct from Wallack's Theatre, New York, and will be shown at the Rex Theatre Thursday and Friday, November 27 and 28. Special arrangements have been made to care for the crowd on Thanksgiving day, but it will be necessary to secure reserved seats in advance.

W. Cameron Forbes at New York.

New York, Nov. 22.—W. Cameron Forbes, succeeded by Francis Burton Harrison as governor general of the Philippines, arrived here on the steamship France today. He returns to this country after an absence of nine years and will enter business in Boston.

Discussing the Philippines, Mr. Forbes said the suggestion to give the islands political independence was premature, as it will be a "long time before they are equal to such a step."

Want Thaw Delivered Into Sheriff's Hands

Concord, N. H., Nov. 22.—The delivery of Harry K. Thaw into the sole custody of Sheriff H. A. Drew of Coos county for the purpose of turning the prisoner over to New York state was asked for late today in an answer filed by the sheriff to Thaw's petition for a federal writ of habeas corpus.

This writ was requested after Governor Felker had acceded to New York's request for the extradition of Thaw on charges of conspiracy arising from his escape from Matteawan August 17.

TERRELL PASTOR HERE.

Rev. W. B. Kendall Will Preach at First Baptist Today.

At 11 o'clock this morning Rev. Wm. B. Kendall of the First Baptist church of Terrell, will preach at the First Baptist church, Dr. F. C. McConnell being in Dallas in attendance at the convention. Mr. Kendall is the son of Rev. John G. Kendall of this city, having spent his early life here, and has numerous friends who will welcome him on the present visit.

At night the members of the "Student Volunteer" band of Baylor, who are preparing to enter the foreign mission field, will conduct the services. In both the services special music will be rendered. Miss Giese of Baylor will sing in the morning and there will be an anthem by the choir. At night there will be a quartette selection.

ROYAL ARCH MASONS ARRIVE

Work in Preparation for the Grand Chapter Meeting, Next Week, Begins Tomorrow.

Members of the committee on works for the grand chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Texas have begun to arrive in the city, along with some of those who will receive instruction and work will commence tomorrow in preparation for the meeting of the grand chapter, which will be in session here Monday and Tuesday of next week.

The committee on works will have a class of possibly a hundred to be taught ceremonies connected with the degree. The committee consists of R. K. Hawkins of Brownwood, chairman; W. B. Lawrence of Carthage, T. M. Bartley of Tahoka, V. C. Barnes of Pearl and E. W. Henderson of West. Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Lawrence of the committee arrived in the city yesterday, as did F. F. Marshall and W. R. Pearson of Nacogdoches, among those to receive instruction.

Officers of the grand chapter are as follows: John L. Terrell of Dallas, grand high priest; D. W. Glasscock of Beaumont, deputy grand high priest; W. A. Scott of Floresville, grand king; W. M. Fly of Gonzales, grand scribe; B. F. Frymier of Waco, grand treasurer.

Marlin Loan Carries.

Marlin, Tex., Nov. 22.—In the election held here yesterday for the purpose of electing a successor to Alderman W. R. Jones, resigned, and to pass on the matter of a loan of $12,000 to the waterworks plant, resulted in a complete victory for the loan proposition and the election of G. T. Epstein over P. F. Keckel.

The proposition of authorizing the loan carried in every box except the second ward, where fourteen votes were registered against it. The total vote for the loan was 133 and against it 20.

Juror in the Murff Case Is Relieved

Crowley, La., Nov. 22.—Because of opinions expressed previous to the trial of Dora Murff, J. S. Duvall, her stepfather, and Allie Duvall, her half brother, charged with the murder of J. M. Delhaye, October 15, Judge Campbell today purged the jury of Michael Muller, juror number 4. When on the eve of taking testimony Thursday afternoon the prosecutor held a conference with the court and adjournment was suddenly taken, the court refusing to give any reason for its action. It afterwards developed that the prosecutor had received information which caused an investigation with the result that Juror Muller was relieved.

After the juror was excused Judge Campbell ordered the sheriff to summon a panel of talemen to be in court Monday from which another juror may be obtained.

It is probable that the taking of testimony will begin Monday afternoon.

PYTHIANS MEET TOMORROW.

Addresses to Be Delivered By Grand Officers.

Special arrangements have been made for the Knights of Pythias of this city for the annual "roll call meeting," which will be held tomorrow night in Castle Hall.

Special addresses will be made on this occasion by Tom Connolly of Marlin, grand chancellor, and Pat Neff of Waco, grand outer guard. The grand chancellor will exemplify the secret work of the order.

Invitations have been sent out to the members of the order in all towns within a radius of 100 miles of Waco, and many of them are expected to send representatives.

After the session a buffet luncheon with cigars will be served by the entertainment committee, which consists of J. P. Willis, G. M. Compton, John Reed and W. E. Edgar.

DOUGHTY ANNOUNCES PROGRAM

Superintendent of Public Instruction Gives Out Order of Elementary Section Teachers' Meeting.

Austin, Nov. 22.—Superintendent of Public Instruction W. F. Doughty, as president of the Texas State Teachers' Association, today announced the program for the elementary section of the association for the annual meeting to be held at Dallas. The association will be in session three days, November 27, 28 and 29, and the elementary section will hold its meetings at the high school building on November 28 at 2 p. m. W. S. Hellmayer, Dallas, is chairman of the elementary section; W. J. Knox of San Antonio, vice chairman. The program follows:

Topic: Efficiency in the elementary grades.

Some things the grade teachers should know outside the book.

Nature study in the grades, R. A. Sell of Houston.

The training of foreigners, W. J. Knox of San Antonio.

Proper articulation of the elementary grades with the primary and high school grades, B. W. Hudgins of Dallas.

Daniels at Washington.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Secretary Daniels returned today from a week in the middle west, during which he visited the great lakes naval training school near Chicago and was so enthusiastic over the possibilities of the institution that he announced his intention of increasing the course of study there.

The test is the first to be made under an ordinance passed September 12, which requires the light company to maintain in the residence section a voltage of from 104 to 112, with a variation of four volts or a standard of 108. The ordinance granted the light company sixty days within which to comply with the law, becoming effective November 15.

Tests Made Quietly.

Other tests will follow spasmodically.

"We made the test without any one knowing it was to be tried out," said Mr. Copley, "and we found the voltage up to standard. The standard last night was 108."

The voltage maintained prior to the passage of the ordinance was around 92 to 96.

Commissioner Dollins introduced the ordinance, and obtained its passage. He feels satisfied with the result, and the city electrician states that the light has been better ever since the ordinance went into effect. "It requires a voltage of around 108 to produce a white light," said Mr. Copley, "and that is the voltage which the test we made shows."

VOLTAGE MEETS ORDINANCE

Tests Made by City Electrician Copley Show Standard Maintained Is Up to Requirements.

Electrical voltage in all parts of Waco is being maintained up to standard required by city ordinance, according to a test of the main line switches by City Electrician E. F. Copley.

In company with Commissioner John Dollins, "daddy" of the ordinance which required a standard voltage of electricity, Mr. Copley made a test in three separate parts of the city. The main line switch in the extreme northern, southern and western part of the city was entered and the test made.

Residence Lights Tested.

The finding was a range of voltage from 104 to 112 on residence lights.

The test was not made on city street lights. The test was made, according to Mr. Copley, between 7 and 9 o'clock Friday, when the peak of the load was on, that is when more lights were in use than at any other time.

The test is the first to be made under an ordinance passed September 12, which requires the light company to maintain in the residence section a voltage of from 104 to 112, with a variation of four volts or a standard of 108. ## LONGHORNS WILL MEET NOTRE DAME

GREATEST FOOTBALL GAME EVER PLAYED IN TEXAS WILL BE PLAYED THURSDAY.

BOTH TEAMS ARE UNDEFEATED

Catholics Have Most Perfect Open Play and Forward Pass in History Is Claim.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 22.—No Thanksgiving day the greatest team in the west and the greatest team that ever represented the University of Texas in football will meet on Clark field at Austin. Football fans will now have an opportunity of judging the quality of football that a southwest team can produce as compared with that played in the east and west. Both teams have had an unbroken line of victories this season. They have proven their superiority over every eleven they have met. The eleven which have been defeated by these teams represent the best in the east, west and south.

With the best balanced and most perfectly working football machine that has ever been produced in Texas, the Longhorns will meet what has been pronounced by football experts as "one of the top-notch teams of the present season anywhere in the country."

Walter H. Eckersall, the well-known Chicago star, writing in the Chicago Tribune, says: "Notre Dame is without doubt one of the strongest teams in the west and is entitled to be considered a representative eleven of this section. It was entitled the championship consideration last year when it did not meet with a defeat and it has gone through this year's schedule without getting a setback. For the first time in years a representative western football team has invaded the east, defeating some of the strongest eleven in that section and demonstrating that western football is the equal if not superior to the brand played at eastern universities and colleges. This victory means much for western football. Each year the question of the relative merits of the eastern and western eleven have been discussed and in most cases the weight of the argument has been in favor of those upholding eastern methods. This has been true because inferior western eleven have been beaten by some of the strongest teams in the east. It has been years since a team has run up such a large count on the soldiers who have been respected because of their defensive qualities. The soldiers have played some strong eleven this year, and their contest with Notre Dame should furnish plenty of food for thought for those who figure the strength of the different teams by the comparative score method.

"The superiority of the west over the east in open play can be accounted for by the scarcity of forward passes used in big eastern struggles. In the east the teams do not care to take chances on losing the ball on forward passes. Old-fashioned line plunging tactics are resorted to and open play used sparingly.

West Uses Forward Pass.
"In the west the situation is different. Forward passes are used with frequency and it is because of the practice which the teams receive in actual combat with the forward throw that western players are more adept in successfully negotiating the play. In evolving an offense for the play, the coaches have learned ways to stop it and this may be another point which has led to the equalization of eastern and western football."

The New York Times said, after the Notre Dame-Army game, when the soldiers were swamped for a 35 to 13 score. "The westerners finished the most sensational football that has been seen in the east this year, baffling the cadets with a style of open play and a perfectly developed forward pass, which carried the victors down the field thirty yards at a clip. The western gridiron has not seen such a master of the forward pass as Charlie Dornis, the Notre Dame quarterback."

Football men marvelled at this startling display of open football. Bill Roper, the former head coach at Princeton, who was one of the officials of the game, said that he had always believed such playing was possible under the new rules, but that he had never seen the forward pass developed to such a state of perfection.

But Texas adherents are paying marked attention to the statement of Herbert Reed in Harper's Weekly, that the loitering of the Army ends the cause of defeat by Notre Dame. He says these passes worked with deadly effect against the soldiers, but largely because of the loitering of the Army ends, who fail to drive in and hurry the passes. The Notre Dame quarter had plenty of time to wait until he could find a man uncovered and shoot the ball to him. Many good coaches teach their ends to hurry the passes and this system has borne fruit in more than one fairly important game. The essence of the success of the forward pass is delay, and when the delay is impossible the pass is all but impossible. However, this is a truth that is slow of acceptance, it seems.

BAYLOR AND AGGIES IN A TIE

Listless Game at College Station Ends in 14 to 14 Score Yesterday.

College Station, Nov. 22.—In a poor exhibition of football this afternoon Baylor University of Waco and the Texas A. & M. college battled to a tie, the final score being 14 to 14.

A. & M. played the game minus the services of Captain Beasley and Guard Trew, the only seasoned men on the squad. Play was marred by costly fumbles and much loose playing and the heat of the sun robbed the men of aggressiveness.

A. & M. drew first blood when Bonner carried the ball over after a series of plunges and end runs. Bonner kicked an easy goal.

It was Mitchell who carried the ball over for Baylor and made the first score for the Waco Baptists. Their score also following a series of line plunges, Mitchell kicked goal.

No scores were made until the final quarter, when after two brilliant forward passes to Garrity, netting gains of thirty yards, Bonner carried the ball over on an end run. He then kicked goal.

In the last few minutes of play, Captain Fouts for Baylor received a forward pass and went across for a touchdown. Mitchell kicked goal.

A. & M. failed to show the class that she displayed in the game with the Haskell Indians last Tuesday, the absence of Captain Beasley evidently having much to do with this.

HOW WACO WON THE GAME

Girls Who Played Report: First Bloomed, Then Withered; Then Took Courage and Won.

"In the first and second quarters Waco was blooming, but in the third it seemed as if we were about to wither. In the fourth our courage again was renewed."

That's the way two young women, participants in the Waco-Belton basketball game, explained the contest to a Morning News reporter yesterday.

Fourteen members of the Waco High made the trip to Belton Friday morning and Friday afternoon the Waco High school basketball team met the Belton High. The game ended 16 to 15 in Waco's favor.

Agreeable Opponents.
"We had a delightful time. Belton girls are agreeable, and although we missed the train and had to remain there until Saturday morning, we were shown every courtesy," they said.

Each High considers the first game of the season a well-fought victory. Their team was in fine fettle, and their foe was worthy of their efforts. Honors to Waco players, these young ladies said, should go to Misses Hiawatha Crosslin, Lucile Corbin, Nell Grand and Hattie Dennison.

The next game is scheduled for the first Saturday in December, when Mart comes to Waco. As to that game, the young women say: "Here's hoping that a good beginning is a sign of a good ending."

Toll of Gridiron Sport.
Chicago, Nov. 22.—Fourteen players were killed and 175 were injured in football games in the season which virtually closed today. In 1912 thirteen players met death and 143 were injured.

These figures were compiled from press reports published here today. The injured include only those who suffered broken bones, torn limbs, severe bruises and sprains and internal injuries. Of the fourteen deaths, thirteen succumbed to injuries received this year. Charles Schweizer, formerly a Hamlin University player, died November 17 at St. Paul, following a complication of diseases resulting from injuries several years ago. Other fatalities resulted, with few exceptions, from fractures, skulls, broken necks or spinal injuries.

Only two university players were killed. Vernon Bettes of the Norwich (Conn.) varsity, was hurt in a game with Holy Cross and died three days later. Edward Morrissey, captain of St. Ambrose University, suffered a broken neck September 25 and died of blood poisoning.

Notre Dame 20, Christian Brothers 7.
St. Louis, Nov. 22.—Crumbling in the final quarters this afternoon the Christian Brothers College went down in defeat before the Notre Dame team 20 to 7. It was the first defeat a Christian Brothers eleven had suffered in two years. The visitors had the advantage of weight.

Auburn 21, Georgia 7.
Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 22.—Auburn today shattered the University of Georgia's defense.

Harvard In Kicking Game Beats Yale Fifteen to Five

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 22.—The Harvard football team of 1913 with Fullback Charles E. Brickley playing in the stellar role established a new epoch in crimson gridiron history today by defeating Yale for the first time in the stadium by the score of 15 to 5.

Although twenty points were scored by the eleven, neither succeeded in carrying the ball across the other's goal line and all the points were the direct or indirect result of kicking.

Several times Brickley drove the ball spinning and turning over the heads of the Yale players and so deadly was his accuracy with eye and toe that five times the ball crossed the goal bar for crimson points. Four times Guernsey, Yale's field goal kicker, essayed the same feat, but only once did the leather spheroid cross Harvard's goal. To the Eli's earned three points there was added an unearned two, due to an unintentional safety by Left End O'Brien of Harvard.

Thus, thanks to Brickley's splendid kicking ability did Harvard defeat Yale for the second time in two years and within undisputed right to the eastern intercollegiate football championship of the year. Excellent and spectacular was Brickley's play both in running and kicking. However, the fact remains that the splendid machine that Coach Haughton developed this autumn earned equal glory with the famous drop kicker for was the concerted play and efforts of the eleven men as a whole that paved the way for the situations from which Brickley scored the 15 points that stand tonight as Harvard's record against the blue.

Yale Line Breaks.
That Guernsey, on the other hand, failed to approach Brickley's feat was due almost entirely to the fact that the team in front of him could not hold or drive back the crimson to a point where field goal kicking passed from the improbable to the possible.

That such should be the case was not accounted for by any great physical or playing superiority of the Harvard men as individuals but rather by the coaching methods and system of attack and defense. Stated broadly, Harvard played a well balanced game in both offense and defense, in which the best and most conservative parts of the new and old football were successfully combined. Opposed to this was a Yale game that would undoubtedly have won under the "five yards in three downs" days; but it was absolutely unsuited to win against the Harvard eleven of 1913.

That it was a Harvard victory in every sense, devoid of flukes or questionable features, is eloquently proved by the figures and statistics of the game play by play. In every department the crimson surpassed the blue and there was ample reason for the unrestrained enthusiasm and rejoicing in Boston and Cambridge tonight.

Harvard, in all, gained 229 yards and nine first downs in 57 rushes against Yale's 145 yards and six first downs in 41 rushes. Mahan gained 77 yards in 16 punts to 452 yards in the combined 13 punts by Guernsey and Knowles.

Brickley kicked five goals out of seven tries to Guernsey's one goal in four tries.

Harvard players ran back Yale punts 133 yards, against 54 yards, thus gained by the Eli back field. In penalties Yale lost 39 yards for holding and rough tackling to Harvard's five yards for offside play.

At the Police Station.

Edging his way past four or five men who stood before the brass rail in the big outer room of the Northwestern police station in Baltimore, a man who afterward gave his name as Samuel Neilson of Brooklyn, Md., attracted the attention of Desk Sergeant Roth.

"What'll you have?" asked the sergeant.

"I'll take a medium sized beer," answered the man, tossing a nickel on the long, heavy desk top.

"What?" said the sergeant.

"I'll take a medium sized beer," repeated the man. "If you haven't got any medium size you can make it a big one."

"Say," yelled the officer, "this isn't a saloon. Get out of here and be quick about it."

The man made his way slowly to the front door, looked up and down Pennsylvania avenue, discovered a saloon and made tracks for it.

TROUBLE TO SEAT FOOTBALL CROWDS

DEMANDS FOR TICKETS TO THE BIG GAMES ON INCREASE.

WILLIAMS TELLS OF MATCHES

Participant Describes How It Feels to Play in International Tennis Tournament.

New York, Nov. 22.—The enormous demand for seats at the big inter-variety football games in all parts of the country this autumn presents new problems for the undergraduate and graduate managers, which they are having great difficulty in solving. "No college stadium has yet been built that afforded ample seating accommodations for the most important game of the season. It is always necessary to curtail the allotment of coupons and in many cases to return hundreds of applications because of the impossibility of seating the thousands who are willing to pay from two dollars to three dollars for tickets, and spend from fifteen dollars to fifty dollars additional for transportation and hotel accommodations previous to the game. In no case has the increased seating capacity of new stadiums kept pace with the interest in football and the demand for tickets. The task of handling the applications outgrew the undergraduate football manager years ago and at present a corps of stenographers and a large clerical force is necessary to open, file and reply to these requests for seats. This situation applies, of course, only to the most important and closing games of the season, but the work and detail required in systematically caring for thousands of applications and the accompanying checks and postal orders covers several months. In the case of the Yale-Harvard, Army-Navy, Princeton-Yale and games of similar type, the mail arrives by basketful in every delivery. It remains for the management to apportion tickets representing less than 50 per cent of the total application in such a way that undergraduates and alumni may have first call on the coupons. The chance of the average outsider may be gleaned when it is stated that with 45,000 seats available for the Army-Navy game, there were 75,000 applications. The Harvard game is played today, holds, with temporary additions, about 40,000 spectators. According to Graduate Treasurer I. W. Moore, of the Harvard Athletic Association, 150,000 seats would be needed to fully supply the demand. In writing of the rules governing the distribution of the tickets and the problem in general, Mr. Moore says:

For Fair Distribution. "The whole object of all these rules, however, is to distribute an utterly inadequate supply of seats in the fairest possible way among Harvard men. They are the result of the experience of all the men who have been connected for the past twenty years with the handling of our great game. Since then our graduate list has been growing at the rate of nearly a thousand a year, and the proportion of the younger graduates who wish to attend the games is much greater than in the older classes, because they have been brought up on football in school and college and naturally have more real interest in the game itself.

"The whole trouble in a nutshell is that we need a hundred and fifty thousand seats and we have less than forty thousand. Even at New Haven, where the price of tickets is only a small part of the cost of attending the game for most of the spectators, the management is building a colosseum to accommodate nearly seventy thousand people. With the game at Cambridge, where the tickets represent practically the whole expense to the great majority of those who attend, I am convinced that an unrestricted sale to graduates and undergraduates only, for the use of themselves and their

Norris Williams On Series.

How it feels to play in the challenge round of the Davis cup, emblematic of the world's tennis championship, is vividly described by Richard Norris Williams, second, who with McLoughlin, Hackett and Johnson, formed the United States team that regained the famous trophy in England this season. His story as printed in a publication at Harvard university, where he is a sophomore, is in part as follows:

"We were now in the challenge round with the hardest task before us. Six or seven previous American teams had reached just this point in the last eight years, but none had been able to lift the cup. On the Saturday after we played Canada, we went down to Folkestone, and there spent a couple of quiet days, not talking or even thinking of tennis. The rest did us a lot of good, but the strain was gradually telling. No one could imagine the mental strain under which we were playing. After two long months of play, a little sleep, an 'off' day, an injury to a member of the team, might mean the loss of the Davis cup. We all fully realized this, but we went in to the matches with confidence. We were determined to do our best, which was all that America could ask. "The draw for the challenge round was made on the Wednesday before the matches were started. McLoughlin was to play against Parke at 2:30 and I was to follow against C. P. Dixon after the first match was over. On Friday morning we took things fairly easy. 'Mac' had his lunch about 12:30 and left in the car for Wimbledon at about 1:30. I had my lunch when McLoughlin left and then took things quietly until 2:15, when I followed him to Wimbledon.

"Miserable Half Hour. "When I reached the court I was told that things were not going our way. I then spent the worst hour and a half one could possibly imagine. I was, of course, not allowed to watch the match, as it is trying on the eyes; so I lay down in the dressing room while the attendant came to tell me now and then how things stood. At about 5 o'clock the sound of shouting and applause announced McLoughlin's defeat. It was a bad beginning, for everybody had expected that 'Mac' would win. Later I managed to pull the tide our way a bit by beating Dixon. "On Saturday the public certainly got their money's worth out of the doubles. It was without doubt the most exciting doubles match I have ever watched, especially as I was rather interested in the outcome. I remember when the score stood 2 sets to 1, 3 to 4 and 20-40 (McLoughlin serving) for England, R. D. Wrenn, the president of our association, was chewing his straw hat, and W. Johnson, the fourth member of the American team, was absolutely unable to light a cigarette. What was I doing? Well—I really don't know.

"We spent Sunday quietly in the country and on Monday started on our last lap. McLoughlin again played first, and this time when I arrived at Wimbledon 'Mac' was two sets up and had a long lead in the third. The playing was slightly less exciting than on the previous Friday. A few minutes later the cup was won. After ten years it was to come home again. I finished out my match against Parke, although the outcome would not have altered the fate of the cup. As a matter of interest, I lost in five sets."

STRIKEBREAKERS DIE RICH.

Many Other Queer Callings That Make Their Followers Wealthy. (Boston Transcript.)

Farley, the strikebreaker, is dead, and has left behind him a fortune well over $1,000,000.

Two hundred thousand pounds—all made by fighting trade unions, and all within a dozen years, for Farley was only 36 years old when consumption killed him.

Farley kept a paid army of 1,000 strikebreakers ready to go anywhere or do anything. He had a reserve of 20,000 more. He boasted that he could break any strike within a fortnight, and he never broke his word. His fees were enormous. He once was paid the lump sum of 10,000 pounds by a federation of Boston employers.

There are many ways of making a living, but few of gaining wealth. For example, only a few weeks ago a chimney-sweep who had pursued his calling in a south coast water place left by will the sum of 6,000 pounds. This is just the same amount as was bequeathed to his wife by an out-purter at Bolton railway station, who died in January, 1911.

Jacob King, bathing-machine proprietor at Bexhill, who died in March, 1910, left a fortune of nearly 12,000 pounds, while an American "sand artist" named Murrell is said to have saved more than double that amount in the course of twenty-seven years work on the beaches.

One of the most amazing of such cases is the Sheffield scissor grinder who, by hard work and thrifty habits, became a wealthy man and died in November, 1911, worth more than 20,000 pounds.

Every one has heard of the professional applauder or "claqueur" who used to be employed in all French theaters, especially on a first night. Some seven or eight years ago M. Jules Ledoux, a claque-organizer, died leaving more than 10,000 pounds.

MODERN FRENCH HERMIT.

Police at Loss How to Act in Queer Paris Case. (Paris Correspondence in the London Telegraph.)

M. Paul Lefebvre, of 106 Boulevard de Jourdan, is "un type" only thinkable in Paris, where "types" flourish. For several days now he has been keeping neighbors in that outlying quarter in a state of pleasant ferment. He is a Parisian hermit—a St. Simon Stylites de nos jours. His hermitage is a wooden hut built with his own hands, and his pillow a ladder some 15 feet high, from which he surveys, silent and solitary, the battling crowd beneath. Immobile, he perches there for hours, answering not a word to questions and jeers.

Of course, the police would like to do something, but what can they do? M. Paul Lefebvre is within his rights in taking his case where he pleases, and in his own property, for which he has paid over $15,000. For the "savage" as they call him in the Boulevard de Jourdan, it is rumored, a millionaire—at all events, a man of wealth and standing. Does not his mother drive up every day in a great motorcar, "with a footman," as with bated breath they informed me when I visited the hermitage this afternoon? In spite of a downpour there was a tolerable crowd in front of No. 106. The building is a mere hut, some 10 feet high, with a frontage almost entirely of glass, reminding one of a photographer's studio.

An imitation of the famous Travertine marble, from which the palaces of the Roman emperors were built, is being used to make the statuary and the covering of the exhibit palaces at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The composition is a gypsum, rainproof and of unfading color; in tint it is a faint ivory yellow and is as smooth and hard as marble. The exhibition sculptors and their assistants have formed a social club, called the "Travertine Club," since they are the first sculptors to use the material for this purpose.

There will be several kinds of inter-mural transportation for carrying visitors to any part of the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. In addition to motor busses, which will take passengers to any point for 10 cents, there will be a double-track miniature railroad, which will give a four-mile ride for 10 cents; electric jitneys, push chairs and bicycle chairs, the charges for which will be moderate.

Woodrow Wilson Invited Here by Huaco Golfers

Woodrow Wilson has been invited to spend the New Year's holidays in Waco and be a guest of the Huaco Country club and to play on the golf course of that club.

It was announced in the dispatches yesterday that President Wilson would spend the several days at some place in the south playing golf. The Huaco club links are among the best in the south, and there are almost 100 enthusiastic players.

Invitation is Forwarded. As soon as it was known, members of the club got together, and under the enthusiasm brought about by the suggestion of Clint Padgett, the invitation was forwarded as follows:

"Hon. Woodrow Wilson, White House, Washington: 'We understand that you will visit some city in the south for the holidays. I extend you an invitation on behalf of the members of the Huaco Golf club to be their guest and we will see that your visit will be very pleasant. Hoping that you will be in a position to accept. Respectfully, J. W. HALE, President.

DUSTIN FARNUM IS INJURED

Actor and Wife Run Down by Automobile in New York.

New York, Nov. 22.—Dustin Farnum, the actor, and his wife were run down by an automobile after leaving the house at Madison Square garden late tonight. A front wheel of the machine passed over Mrs. Farnum's left wrist, which was crushed, and over the right leg of Mr. Farnum, who was not seriously injured. The driver fled after the accident, but was caught by Mr. Farnum, who gave chase in a passing automobile.

FRANK J. BETTIS IS DEAD

Prominent Business Man of Beaumont Succumbs to Blood Poisoning.

Beaumont, Nov. 22.—Frank J. Bettis, aged 43 years, died at midnight after a brief illness brought about by a slight affection in the nose which developed into blood poisoning. He was prominent in business and was president of the Bettis Manufacturing concern. He leaves a wife and two children, a brother, Col. W. D. Bettis of Orange, and another brother, W. I. Bettis, in Los Angeles. The funeral will be Monday.

DIRECT ELECTION OF SENATORS

Temporary Laws Endorsed by Senate Election Committee—Controversies From Lack of Explicit Laws.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Temporary laws for direct election of senators were endorsed today by the senate elections committee. Senator Poinsett's bill providing that senators shall be elected under present laws governing the selection of representatives at large or governors until each state has made provision for election under the constitutional amendment was recommended for passage.

Controversies now pending over the selection of senators from Alabama and Maryland have resulted from the lack of explicit laws.

WILL ASK FOR CONFIRMATION

Democratic Senators Will Work in Interest of Henry M. Pindell Appointment.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Democratic senators friendly to the appointment of Henry M. Pindell, the Peoria publisher, as ambassador to Russia, let it be known today that they will make an extreme effort to secure the confirmation of his nomination before the end of next week. Should the senate fail to act before the special session ends December 1, the nomination would fall and President Wilson would have to make it again to the regular session.

The foreign relations committee will take up the Pindell case Wednesday. Several members of congress have served notice that they will ask for an investigation of correspondence between Mr. Pindell and an Illinois representative involving an alleged discussion of postoffice appointments. These members probably will ask that the nomination be referred to a subcommittee.

Republicans behind the request for an investigation would not indicate today how they would go in opposing Pindell should a fight develop on the floor of the senate.

JUDGE CHANGES MIND.

Supreme Court Must Pass on Legal-ity.

Washington, Nov. 22.—The powers of a judge to change his mind and increase in the sentence of a prisoner after he has been sent to prison will be one of the problems the supreme court must solve shortly.

A jury in Trego county, Kansas, sentenced Henry Meyer to jail for three months and to pay a fine of $100 for contempt in liquor violation. Twelve hours later in the day the judge recalled Meyer from jail and made his sentence six months.

The legal minds of Kansas have been figuring since what happened to Meyer. The supreme court of Kansas held that the trial judge of Kansas was powerless to set aside the first sentence and that this must be served. Meyer claims that the judge set aside the first sentence, but was without power to impose a second sentence, so that he is a free man.

Must Have Plenty of Stamps. Washington, Nov. 22.—Issuing the forecast that the "coming holiday season" will be the first one in which postal post will witness the heaviest postal business that the service ever experienced," the postoffice department today called postmasters throughout the country to see to it that they did not run out of postage stamps.

At the same time, while postmasters were warned not to let their stocks run out, they likewise were cautioned not to order too many stamps. The department endorsed its postmasters with powers of prophecy.

Dr. Toomim Home Again. Dr. E. Toomim returned home last night from an extensive tour of the middle western cities, after having attended the annual convention of the Association for the Prevention of Infant Mortality, which was held in Washington a week ago. He was accompanied from Chicago by his niece, Miss Bessie Toomim.

Not Exactly. (Philadelphia Public Ledger.) A lady teacher in a South London council school was recently giving a natural history lesson to a junior class.

One of the many "signs" which influenced him, Lincoln had just been elected to the presidency. He was lying on a couch taking a nap. Suddenly he awoke and looking into a mirror, beheld two distinct views of his face—the one a life-tinted and healthful outline, the other a worn, pale and faded face, says the Chicago Tribune. He related this vision to many, and several times while in the white house attempted with the same mirror to get the same result, but failed. To friends he interpreted this vision as follows:

"Well, I believe it means that the healthy face stands for my first term as president—I will succeed and save the union. But the pale face means that I will be elected to a second term, but will not live to see its end, for I will be assassinated."

Napoleon admitted he was superstitious and he was constantly getting some definition from every flower, bird and creature in his path of blood.

GREAT MEN SUPERSTITIOUS.

Lincoln, Napoleon and Wagner Had Odd Beliefs. (Philadelphia Ledger.)

Are you superstitious? Most people are, whether or not they will confess it. And superstition has loomed large in the lives of many great men. Strangely enough, the facts have often justified those superstitions. For instance:

Richard Wagner declared "13" was his lucky number. He was born in 1813, had 13 letters in his name and took up music at 13. His favorite opera, "Meistersinger," had 13 letters in its name. He once wrote, "I have this 13th day of April completed 'Tannhauser.'" This great opera went on the stage on March 12. Wagner died the 13th of February, and there have been 13 biographies written of him.

Lincoln was tremendously superstitious. Perhaps because he was brought up in the backwoods, where superstition ran rampant, here is one of the many "signs" which influenced him: Lincoln had just been elected to the presidency. He was lying on a couch taking a nap. Suddenly he awoke and looking into a mirror, beheld two distinct views of his face—the one a life-tinted and healthful outline, the other a worn, pale and faded face, says the Chicago Tribune. He related this vision to many, and several times while in the white house attempted with the same mirror to get the same result, but failed. To friends he interpreted this vision as follows:

"Well, I believe it means that the healthy face stands for my first term as president—I will succeed and save the union. But the pale face means that I will be elected to a second term, but will not live to see its end, for I will be assassinated."

Napoleon admitted he was superstitious and he was constantly getting some definition from every flower, bird and creature in his path of blood.

NEW HAPPINESS CULT.

Cleveland Philosopher Says "Talosophy" Only True Path to Joy. (Cleveland (Ohio) Dispatch to N. Y. Herald.)

A wealthy Cleveland philosopher believes he has found the only true path to happiness and the secret of making people tread the path. It is appreciation and showing people that courtesy and consequent happiness pays in dollars and cents.

Incorporation papers have been filed for the Appreciation League of the United States by William Vernon Backus, founder of the new cult, talosophy, which he believes is to become world popular.

"Talosophy: The Art of Making Happiness Epidemic" is the title of a little book published by Mr. Backus, setting forth the philosophy of talosophy, which is to have every "Tal" re-ported employee in any vocation for courtesy instead of discourtesy.

Every member of the Appreciation League is to be provided with cards blanked to permit filling in the name and business address of a clerk, conductor, postman, collector—any one at all. Then there are spaces in which to place a cross after any one or all of the words, "Attentive, Cheerful, Sympathetic, Helpful, Courteous and Polite."

The idea is to have all of our members make out and mail these cards whenever they find an employee or other person who shows them courtesies," explained Mr. Backus. "We then notify the employer of this report and keep a complete filing record of the name of every man commended. 'When an employee has received three 'courtesy reports' he is entitled to a special letter from the league secretary to his employer and a badge of merit bestowed by the league."

Enoch, the Egg King.

(Lippincott's.)

A tall, gaunt young man entered the office of the Globe Museum and Family theatre and asked for the manager.

"What can I do for you?" inquired a pudgy young man in a checked suit. "I want an engagement as a freak in the curio hall."

"Who are you?" "I am Enoch, the egg king."

"What is your specialty?" "I eat three dozen hen eggs, two dozen duck eggs, and one dozen goose eggs at a single sitting."

"I suppose you know our policy?" "What's that?"

"We give four shows every day."

"I understand that."

"And do you think you can do it?" "I know I can."

"On Saturdays we often give as many as six shows."

"All right."

"And on some holidays we give a performance every hour."

"In that case," he finally said, "I must have one thing understood before I sign a contract."

"What's that?" asked the manager.

"No matter how rushing business is at the museum," the egg king replied, "you gotta gimme time enough to eat my regular meals at the hotel."

Woman's Skin to Bind Books.

Books bound in woman's skin are reported to be greatly sought after by French bibliophiles and collectors of artistic curiosities.

In a great Chermay library, recently sold at auction in Paris, there were two books bound in this choice material. One was a work, entitled "Good Things That Have Been Said of Women," by Emile Deschanel.

The flyleaf bears an inscription in Latin which, translated, reads as follows: "This book concerning women was bound in a woman's skin, that it might be more agreeable. Witnesses: Edmond Crozet, F. Raymond, A. Michaud."

Another book in the same collection

was described in the catalogue as follows:

"Poems of Anacron, published by Jonast, Paris, 1885. 12mo. Special copy on china paper, bound in skin of a negress."

The publication which reports these facts say that it has been unable to find who were the women who furnished the binding or under what circumstances they supplied it.

It is stated that the skin if taken from a young woman makes an exquisite binding, very smooth and agreeable to the touch. The skin of Mlle. Creuze, Nelly Marbyl or any of the noted Parisian beauties of the day would be greatly sought after by collectors if it could be obtained in its present state.

RADIUM A CANCER CURE.

Series of Extraordinary Healings Reported from London Hospital.

The Daily Mail's medical correspondent describes a series of most remarkable improvements in cancer cases treated by radium at the Middlesex hospital in the last six months.

In an interview one of the surgical staff accentuated the necessity of using the word "improvement" instead of "cure." He said:

"We do not maintain that we have cured these cases by radium. What we have done is to cause growths proved microscopically to be cancerous to disappear in a really astounding way under radium rays."

A man was admitted on August 26 with a large sarcomatous growth blocking up the back of the nose and throat. He had not all sense of smell, was unable to breathe through his nose, and was deaf in his right ear.

A platinum tube containing 32 milligrams of radium was embedded in the tumor and left in position for twelve hours. Five days later the growth had shrunk perceptibly and the sense of smell and ability to breathe through the nose were regained.

On September 12 no trace of the growth was found, the patient had regained his hearing completely and he was discharged, apparently cured.

A woman was admitted suffering from large abdominal carcinoma. Twelve days ago an incision was made down to the growth and a platinum tube containing

14 milligrams of radium—all that the hospital possessed—was embedded in the tumor and left there for twenty-five hours.

On her admission the patient weighed seventy pounds and one ounce. Yesterday her weight had risen to eighty-four pounds and ten ounces. The tumor had shrunk to half its former size.

A man suffering from epithelioma of the tongue was admitted on July 21. He had been told that the disease was so far advanced that he could not be operated on. Eighty-two milligrams of radium in a platinum tube was embedded in the center of the growth at the base of the tongue.

Three weeks later no sign of the tongue growth could be observed, and the patient was discharged, apparently cured, except for the presence of two or three secondarily involved glands about the collarbone, which can be surgically removed later if necessary.—London Correspondence in New York Times.

More Rights of Women.

(Chicago Journal.)

President Wilson has been petitioned by an American woman for a permit to dress as a man on the ground that in male attire she can earn $15 a week, or more than twice as much as when hampered by skirts. In France such permits are granted by the local police without any great difficulty, provided a substantial reason is shown for the application. Mrs. Bonheur used to dress as a man, and so did a well known writer, Mme. de Montifray, who died last year, while Mme. Dieulafoy, the explorer, grew to like male attire as well when on her travels.

According to a French law passed in the eighteenth century, any young woman growing a beard has, ipso facto, the right to dress like a man.

Accustomed to It.

(Washington Star.)

"Did you give this man the third degree?" asked the police officer.

"Yes. We bruised and badgered him with every question we could think of."

"What did he do?" "He dozed off and merely murmured now and then. 'Yes, my dear. You're perfectly right!'"

ALARM FOR TAIL LIGHTS.

Indicates Extinction of Rear Lamp By Sounding Buzzer.

The motorist who has been annoyed by being held up because the tail light on his machine has gone out will welcome a new attachment which has just made its appearance. It indicates any mishap to the dash board. Of course the alarm can only be used in connection with electric lamps. As soon as the light goes out through the breaking of the filament, or from any other cause, a strident alarm warns the driver.

The device not only serves to protect the driver against infraction of the traffic laws regarding tail lights, but serves to prevent the danger of being run down when the rear light is out of commission. Hereafter, the motorist has had to depend on the reflection from plate glass windows for information regarding his rear lamp, but country roads and residential streets in the cities do not provide the convenient reflectors, and the new device should prove popular.

The alarm is operated so simply that many motorists will undoubtedly fit them to their cars themselves. The device takes the form of a small round box of hard rubber, provided with three terminals. The box contains an electro-magnetic switch and a buzzer. One of the terminals is connected direct to the battery, and the other two are connected across the lamp terminals. As soon as the lamp goes out because of the breaking of the filament, or the opening of the switch, the circuit immediately starts the buzzer, thus notifying the driver. It consumes no current save when the buzzer is sounding, and its effect, placed in the lamp circuit, is simply to lengthen the wiring to the lamp.

MORE AMERICAN CARS ABROAD.

Paris Auto Salon and Exports Indicate Popularity of Cars Made Here.

The Paris automobile salon, which is now in progress, offers a striking illustration of the progress being made by American automobile manufacturers in their efforts to compete in Europe with the foreign cars. The United States occupies a big place in the Paris show, among the American cars exhibited being the Buick, Ford, Hupmobile, Mitchell and Hudson. The government statistics of exports for August give further evidence of the popularity of American cars abroad. There were 441 American automobiles ### shipped to Great Britain in August of this year, as compared with 112 to the United Kingdom in August, 1912. Exports of motor cars to Germany, South America, the West Indies, Asia, and Australia were also greater than a year ago. In all, there were 442 more cars exported in August of this year than in August, 1912. The United States supplied the rest of the world with 12,124 automobiles during the first eight months of this year, as compared with 10,985 cars in the same period during 1912 and 16,516 during the first eight months of 1912.

MOTORS HAUL ARTILLERY.

French Army Tests Have Proved Successful.

(From the Philadelphia Ledger.) The French gunners' method of handling in action heavy artillery drawn by motor traction was the chief point of interest for foreign observers of the recent grand maneuvers of the French army. The wheels of the motor are broad, with their outside tires composed of jointed steel, and it has been found that the guns can be taken by this means across freshly plowed fields and over ditches and minor obstructions. When the heavy ordnance came into action the motor tires were detached and spread out behind the cannon, forming rails upon which the pieces recoiled after firing without sinking into the soil.

More than 100,000 men and a large fleet of aeroplanes operating in two armies opposed each other over a wide range of country stretching from Hantzban to Agen on the north, and from Auch to Toulouse on the south.

The Northern, or Blue army, was commanded by Gen. Paul Pau, and the Southern, or Red army, by Gen. Nicolas Chomier. Col. Samuel W. Miller, U. S. A., witnessed the maneuvers. He was full of admiration for the endurance and marching powers of the French soldiers. Only 47 men fell out of the ranks to be cared for by the ambulances out of 60,000 composing the Southern army during the three days of hard field work.

Plenty Time Yet.

(Pittsburg Post.)

"Better go home, Jimmy. Your mother is looking for you."

"Has she got the hairbrush with her?"

"No."

"Then I guess I'll play a little while longer."

No Agents or Solicitors

Any Person Claiming to Represent This Firm is a Fraud and Impostor.

Dr. W. B. Georgia & Co. have no agents or solicitors and any person claiming to be a representative of the firm is a fraud and impostor. Nearly every day Dr. Georgia is approached by people who claim they have purchased glasses from a man representing himself to be an agent of his company. In most cases these persons representing themselves to be employed by Dr. W. B. Georgia & Co. have charged the victims exorbitant prices and have given guarantees which are absolutely worthless.

Dr. W. B. Georgia & Co. invite clean, legitimate competition, but they do not invite fakers and charlatans to invade their field, who, like the wolf, goes around in sheep's clothing devouring the unsuspecting lambs, at the expense of this firm's reputation.

If you want to employ the services of Dr. W. B. Georgia you must go direct to the office, 324 Austin street, at the big electric spectacle sign, ground floor—Opposite Sanger Bros.

FORT WORTH'S STOCK SHOW

Thousands of People Crowd Streets. Governor Colquitt Personally Opens.

Fort Worth, Nov. 22.—Thousands of people crowded the streets today in advance of the opening of the eighteenth annual exhibition of the National Feeders and Breeders' Show. Thavlu's International Band and Russian dancers entertained the pre-opening crowds that swarmed into the coliseum this morning in greater numbers than any previous exhibition.

Exchange avenue, Main and Houston streets were congested with foot traffic all morning and thousands proceeded to the coliseum ahead of the civic parade.

Governor O. B. Colquitt officially opened the Fat Stock Show at 2:30 p. m. in an address at the coliseum. This came immediately after the civic parade. The governor paid a high compliment to the management of the National Feeders and Breeders' Show for its work in bringing about better feeding and breeding among the cattlemen of the state.

From the head of Houston street at the court house, the civic parade consisted of mounted police, bands, militia, Governor Colquitt, his staff and Mayor Milam, North Side and stock yard cowboys, Chamber of Commerce officials, Automobile Club members, business floats and city departments, including equipment from the fire department, proceeded south to Haynes Triangle, crossing to Main and continuing north on Main to Weatherford street. All of the North Side participants and the Automobile Club division continued to Exchange avenue, crossing the river on Twelfth street.

Jumping Horses Arrive. The coliseum and the barns tributary were the scene of exceptional activity all this morning. The Fort Sam Houston jumping horses, headed by Lieut. Brice P. Disque's famous jumper, Frederick the Great, arrived early in the morning along with the polo and jumpers belonging to J. H. Lapham of San Antonio.

Lapham and the army officers did not arrive and will not be in Fort Worth until Sunday morning on account of a polo contest at Fort Sam Houston between soldiers and civilians.

Decorators placed 5,000 chrysanthemums in artificially arranged beds about the tan bark arena of the coliseum Saturday morning. An equal number of red roses were arranged in beds and the throne and throne chamber were crowded with ferns and palms. Green and white streamers were used in bedding down the arena. The water was turned into a spouting fountain, which occupies a prominent place in the queen's garden and the last detail for the horse show pageant was arranged.

Announcer Arrives.

H. E. Culter, station master of the Santa Fe station at Galveston, is in the city ready to do the official announcing at the pageant. For fourteen years Culter called trains in the Santa Fe station at Dallas; he then came to Fort Worth, where he acted as station master for the Santa Fe seven years and last June he was transferred to Galveston to become station master of the big Santa Fe passenger station then under construction.

He was sent to Fort Worth through the courtesy of F. G. Pettibone, vice president and general manager of the Santa Fe. Culter announced that W. C. Maxon, general superintendent, and a party of Galveston people will come to Fort Worth Tuesday to attend the fat stock show.

No Bad Boys in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 22.—Jack Robins of Chicago, president of the Glenwood National Fellowship Boys club, who came here yesterday to inspect boys, examined forty-five of them and found there was not a "real bad boy" in Pittsburg. The captain of the club has for its purpose the rounding up of the twelve "worst" boys available, placing them on a western tour, educating and trying to make them useful citizens.

IGNORANCE OF MOTHERS.

They Know Very Little of the Men Their Daughters Finally Marry.

A contributor to the subject of marriage writes, in part, as follows: "How much do most mothers know of the men their daughters finally marry? And how much real friendship and trust is there, usually, between young men and their mothers of the girls the young men choose to marry? Yet I do not see as a general rule count this to be a fault of the young men. The mothers are older and wiser—should be wiser, at least, in all such matters—yet they are generally slow to speak of their share in them, whether from shyness, or jealousy, or inability to express themselves, or a forgetfulness of the years when they, too, were young."

"The mother who does not think herself wiser in small matters than her daughter is rare to find; yet there are not so many mothers who are consciously helping—fitting would be the better word—their daughters to make a wise and rational choice. Perhaps most mothers have a hope that when the time comes they may be allowed to choose for those daughters of theirs; and they fail to realize that almost their whole duty lies in fitting them to choose for themselves."

Exhibitors at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition may have their exhibits delivered right on the grounds from car or ship. The exposition has its own freight ferry slip, which may be entered by car floats bearing the cars with exhibits. The exhibits may then be taken to the desired building over the rails of the exposition's standard gauge railway system. The exposition has also its own harbor and docks, where vessels from all parts of the world may moor and discharge cargoes. No trans-shipment will be necessary from time of first loading on car or ship.

NEW ORLEANS EXPOSITION

Commercial and Business Interests Announce Plans for 1914 Celebration of Panama Opening.

New Orleans, Nov. 22.—After conferences of commercial and business interests it was announced tonight that plans had been outlined for the southern states pan-American exposition to be opened in New Orleans in November, 1914, celebrating the opening of the Panama canal. Committees have been named to solicit subscriptions to a $5,000,000 fund to defray expenses. An exposition expert has outlined plans along original lines. A big prize will be offered for an aeroplane race from New York to New Orleans, open to aeronauts from all countries. A prize of $10,000 is to be offered for the best idea, invention or discovery submitted to an international committee and open to the world.

It is planned to have buildings for "pure food," "advertising," "efficiency" and "construction."

A feature will be battle of New Orleans, January 8, 1915, being the 100th anniversary. The entertainment will be located on the "street of all nations."

BRYAN CONDEMNNS.

Says Statements Concerning Warships False and Injurious.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Secretary Bryan today issued this statement relative to Mexico City dispatches about the movement of British warships to Mexico: "The statement published this morning to the effect that the state department protested against the action of Great Britain in sending war vessels to Mexican waters is absolutely false. And in denying the statement I desire to add a condemnation of the publication of statements of that kind without taking time to inquire into their truth or falsity."

"A denial cannot reach all who read the statement, nor can it prevent the discussion and editorial comment that are predicated on the false statement. Surely in international affairs there ought to be a patriotic desire to promote friendly relations and these cannot be promoted by the reckless publication of false statements in regard to the acts of government officials."

In Meeting at San Antonio Decide Not to Ask for Railroad Rate Reduction. Members of the local branch of the Travelers' Protective Association were related last night when news was received here from San Antonio of the decision of the state directors of the association to hold their next meeting in this city in February, 1914.

The San Antonio convention also authorized Houston to fix a date for the national convention of the association, which will be held in that city next year. It is probable that some day in June will be selected. The next state convention of the association will be held in Beaumont in May, 1914; the exact date yet to be decided upon.

DIES OF WOUNDS.

J. S. McGierkin Succumbs at Dallas.

Dallas, Nov. 22.—After living for nearly two weeks with two bullet wounds in his head and his throat slashed, J. S. McGierkin of Texarkana, died at St. Paul's sanitarium last night.

The wounds of the deceased and his subsequent death were caused by himself, from all accounts. He came to Dallas three weeks ago and stopped at the Southland hotel. It was supposed that his mind became unsettled because of business troubles, and on Monday, November 19, at 1 o'clock in the morning the attendants of the hotel heard two pistol shots in the building, which were traced to his room. He was found standing by his bed with the pistol in his hand, and would allow no one to come near him. He then took his razor and cut his throat, holding the hotel servants away with his revolver.

For Independence of Philippines.

New York, Nov. 22.—The independence of the Philippines is the object of El Club Progreso Filipino (the Filipino progressive party) organized in Brooklyn tonight by Filipino students and graduates of Columbia and Fordham universities and Pratt Institute and Filipinos serving in the U. S. army.

Accidentally Kills Bride.

New Orleans, Nov. 22.—Playing with an old and rusty revolver, James J. McKee tonight accidentally shot and instantly killed his pretty 15-year-old bride. The bullet passed through her head. They were married yesterday. McKee surrendered to the police, but it is believed he will be released.

HEAD STUFFED? GOT A COLD? TRY PAPE'S

"PAPE'S COLD COMPOUND" ENDS COLDS AND GRIPPE IN A FEW HOURS.

Take "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until you have taken three doses, then all gripe misery goes and your cold will be broken. It promptly opens your clogged-up nostrils and the air passages of the head; stops nasty discharge or nose running; relieves the headache, dizziness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling. Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.—Advertisement.

MEXICAN HELD FOR THEFT.

Manuel Ramon Charged With Shoplifting at the Famous.

Because he made a bolt from the Famous Department store last night with a bolt of dress goods under his coat, and Special Detective Frank W. Blair with Policeman Nimrod Sheppard made a bolt after him, two other bolts were closed upon Manuel Ramon, a Mexican, and he is now in the county jail with a charge of theft registered against him.

The Mexican was taken to the police station by the officers who captured him, and was subsequently transferred to the county jail. He will be given a preliminary hearing in the justice court tomorrow.

Notice.

Yard Clerk Killed.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 22.—H. C. Fred, a Southern Pacific yard clerk, was killed here this morning when he stumbled and fell across the track in front of a switch engine. His body was cut in two. He was a son of Rev. M. K. Fred, a Methodist minister at Honda, Texas, and leaves a wife.

Fire at Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 22.—Fire here today did damage to two floors of the Snowden building and adjoining structures, corner Washington avenue and Main street, estimated at $75,000. The two floors of the Snowden building were occupied by Reed's hotel and an armory used by several companies of the national guard of Tennessee.

Mexican Boy Killed.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 22.—Pablo Andrade, a Mexican boy, was fatally wounded here this evening while removing a target rifle from a wagon. This makes five violent deaths in Victoria within as many days.

Notice.

Will sell, Monday and Tuesday, corn and oats at 25 cents per bushel. Damaged by fire.

H. H. CROUCH GRAIN CO., East Waco, Old Phone 868.

New Plan to Trap Criminals.

At the recent meeting of the British Medical Association attention was directed to "parascopy," a method of criminal and statistical registration of mankind which will no doubt at once be the source of a new crop of detective stories. Dr. Locard of Lyons, France, stands sponsor for the new scheme of measurements because he is personally convinced that it is the equal—and much easier of application—of the finger print method of Karl Pearson and M. Bertillon.

Dr. James H. Scott of Brighton Beach, England, describes parascopy as the science of the study and tabulation of the openings, orifices and canals of the sweat ducts of the finger tip. Instead of the lines and ridges in the finger print. He says the holes in skin's trousers cannot altogether be considered without reference to the slender remains of the cloth, but the sweat openings in the fingers can be recorded with no regard to the finger prints.

The sweat pores are caught as identification marks upon smoked glass, grease stains, mud, chalk, putty or even a moist shiny surface. The dirt and perspiration alone are enough to obtain the pressed dots and rings. Dr. Locard reports a wonderful series of criminal detection due to the ingenious scheme of obtaining the stamp of the sweat canal. He even goes so far as to say that he can identify any one by simply examining the sweat band of the person's hat.

The Matter With the Two.

(Chicago Record-Herald.)

"At a card party which I attended one afternoon last week, all but two of the ladies present had been divorced."

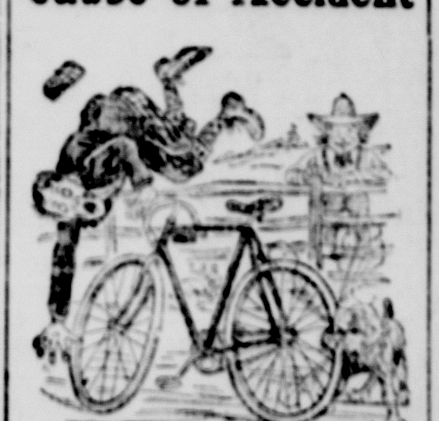

"What was the matter with the two?"

"They were old maids."

That lightning flashes appear to zig-zag is an optical illusion, according to a German scientist, who says the effect is produced by the eyes twitching when flashes occur.

Sanger Storeitorial

Our policy, "The Public Be Pleased." A glitche insurance policy, assuring you of the best and insuring you against that which is not best.

In this modern day one can be insured for almost any conceivable purpose or against any form of accident or burglary.

For forty years Sanger Brothers have conducted an insurance business; forty years ago we issued an insurance policy—just one policy—in the language of the business it was a blanket policy. Not issued to any one person, but to every customer and covering every purchase made in the Sanger Store, whether for five cents or for five hundred dollars or more, insuring, 1, prompt, courteous attention; 2, large, new stocks to choose from; 3, lowest prices for which thoroughly reliable merchandise can be sold; 4, a modern store with the best service that human effort can produce; 5, the return of your money should your purchase prove unsatisfactory; 6, the making right of any wrong occurring here and made known to us.

And the policy also insures our customers against importunities to buy; misrepresentation of statements, either spoken or printed; prices marked up in order to mark them down; unworthy merchandise.

The policy as laid down in 1873 and issued with the first transaction that marked the beginning of our dealings with the trading public is the same today. It is a plain unembellished old-fashioned, "square deal policy," without any technicalities and we live up to it in acting to the full extent of their meaning these four words, "The public be pleased." Forty years of earnest business endeavor is the bank behind this insurance policy.
